in 2001 intervention in overseas conflicts and the role of the Church The first section concentrates on the ways in which the West has interfered in conflicts around the world from the Vietnam War to Bosnia Afghanistan and Iraq and explains why intervention worked in former Yugoslavia but not in countries such as Vietnam Afghanistan or Libya The second section focuses on arms control and disarmament how they were linked to intervention particularly through the fear of terrorism and how and why some arms control measures succeeded and some did not Intervention and Disarmament In a Culturally Diverse World is useful for postgraduates and scholars interested in international affairs and warfare in the modern world

Bernard Brodie and the Foundations of American Nuclear Strategy Barry Howard Steiner,1991 Steiner analyzes how and why Brodie s understanding of weapons of unparalleled explosive force led him to posit the need for revolutionary strategic thinking in broadminded analytic method and in the focus upon cities as nuclear targets He shows the tremendous effect Brodie s work had on the intellectual climate in which policy is determined particularly in his frequent combatting of conventional wisdom The Means to Kill Gerrit Dworok, Frank Jacob,2015-11-12 Throughout human history technological innovation has functioned as a driver of civilization and inspired many people s belief in progress When it comes to warfare where technology is applied with a cruel and deadly logic a nuanced view is needed From siege engines to drones innovation has often served a less enlightened aim elimination of the enemy This collection of new essays from specialists in military history examines the interdependence between war and technology from a number of regional perspectives Patrick Blackett Peter Hore,2004-08-02 This edited volume comprises a series of essays about Patrick Maynard Stewart Blackett one of the greatest scientists of the 20th century as well as a prominent figure in the Royal Navy and British politics A Guide to the Study and Use of Military History John E. Jessup (Jr.), John E. Jessup, Robert W. Coakley,1979 This Guide to the Study and Use of Military History is designed to foster an appreciation of the value of military history and explain its uses and the resources available for its study It is not a work to be read and lightly tossed aside but one the career soldier should read again or use as a reference at those times during his career when necessity or leisure turns him to the contemplation of the military past Science and Technology in the Global Cold War Naomi Oreskes, John Krige,2014-11-07 Investigations of how the global Cold War shaped national scientific and technological practices in fields from biomedicine to rocket science The Cold War period saw a dramatic expansion of state funded science and technology research Government and military patronage shaped Cold War technoscientific practices imposing methods that were project oriented team based and subject to national security restrictions These changes affected not just the arms race and the space race but also research in agriculture biomedicine computer science ecology meteorology and other fields This volume examines science and technology in the context of the Cold War considering whether the new institutions and institutional arrangements that emerged globally constrained technoscientific inquiry or offered greater opportunities for it The contributors find that whatever the particular science and whatever the political system in which that science was operating the knowledge that was produced bore some relation to the goals of the nation state These goals varied from nation to nation weapons research was emphasized in the United States and the Soviet Union for example but in France and China scientific independence and self reliance dominated The contributors also consider to what extent the changes to science and technology practices in this era were produced by the specific politics anxieties and aspirations of the Cold War Contributors Elena Aronova Erik M Conway Angela N H Creager David Kaiser John Krige Naomi Oreskes George Reisch Sigrid Schmalzer Sonja D Schmid Matthew Shindell Asif A Siddiqi Zuoyue Wang Benjamin Wilson

National Military Establishments and the Advancement of Science and Technology P. Forman, José M. Sánchez-Ron, 2001-11-30 To some philosophers seeking to understand the human condition technology is a necessary guide But to think through the complex human phenomenon of technology we must tackle philosophy of science philosophy of culture moral issues comparative civilizational studies and the economics of specific industrial and military technologies in their historical contexts The philosopher wants to grasp the technological factor in this troubled world even as we see it is only one factor and that it does not speak openly for itself Put directly our human troubles to a considerable extent have been transformed exaggerated distorted even degraded perhaps transcended by what engineers and scientists entrepreneurs and politicians have wrought But our problems are ancient problems of dominations struggles survival values in conflict greed and insane sadisms To get some conceptual light on the social reality which seems immediately to be so complicated a philosopher will need to learn from the historians of technology A few years ago the philosopher Elisabeth Straker concluded that a historical philosophy of technology is required since history and history alone provides all those concepts that form part of the repertoire of the philosophical analysis of technology And she added that this goes far beyond the triviality that like other cultural achievements technology has its historical development Now historical comprehension is no substitute for a logical methodology in the analysis of technological problems
