United in Discontent Julia Suzanne Torrie, 2010

The early twentieth century advent of aerial bombing made successful evacuations essential to any war effort but ordinary people resented them deeply Based on extensive archival research in Germany and France this is the first broad comparative study of civilian evacuations in Germany and France during World War II The evidence uncovered exposes the complexities of an assumed monolithic and all powerful Nazi state by showing that citizens objections to evacuations which were rooted in family concerns forced changes in policy Drawing attention to the interaction between the Germans and French throughout World War II this book shows how policies in each country were shaped by events in the other A truly cross national comparison in a field dominated by accounts of one country or the other this book provides a unique historical context for addressing current concerns about the impact of air raids and military occupations on civilians Page 4 of cover Sedimentology James L. Best, C. R. Fielding, Ian Jarvis, Peter Mozley, 2009-05-11 Sedimentology has seen many significant advances and changes over the past 40 years ranging from facies modelling to sequence stratigraphy chemostratigraphy to basin analysis and the integration of studies of physical chemical and increasingly biological processes in the interpretation and prediction of sedimentary environments and products The subject is becoming ever more interdisciplinary and applied and now has far more links to other physical sciences Research and debate are continuing afresh as we move into this new interdisciplinary phase and promise many developments and increased uses of our subject Now seemed a good time to publish a series of review papers concerning some key current areas of research We hope that these papers will provide comprehensive starting points for those wishing to become acquainted with an area act as stimuli for debate and provide awareness and ideas for future research avenues No issue of this sort can of course ever be truly comprehensive in its coverage these reviews concern only selected snippets from the wide scope of sedimentology and each has of necessity been selective in its own area

Becoming Sinners Joel Robbins,2004-04-12 In a world of swift and sweeping cultural transformations few have seen changes as rapid and dramatic as those experienced by the Urapmin of Papua New Guinea in the last four decades A remote people never directly missionized the Urapmin began in the 1960s to send young men to study with Baptist missionaries living among neighboring communities By the late 1970s the Urapmin had undergone a charismatic revival abandoning their traditional religion for a Christianity intensely focused on human sinfulness and driven by a constant sense of millennial expectation Exploring the Christian culture of the Urapmin Joel Robbins shows how its preoccupations provide keys to understanding the nature of cultural change more generally In so doing he offers one of the richest available anthropological accounts of Christianity as a lived religion Theoretically ambitious and engagingly written his book opens a unique perspective on a Melanesian society religious experience and the very nature of rapid cultural change

Exchanging the Past Bruce M. Knaft,2002-08 Twenty years ago the Gebusi of the lowland Papua New Guinea rainforest had one of the highest homicide rates in the world Bruce M Knaft found then that the killings stemmed from violent scapegoating of suspected sorcerers But by the time he returned in 1998 homicide rates had plummeted and Gebusi had largely disavowed vengeance against sorcerers in favor of modern schools discos markets and Christianity In this book Knaft explores the Gebusi s encounter with modern institutions and highlights what their experience tells us more generally about the interaction between local peoples and global forces As desire for material goods grew among Gebusi Knaft shows that they became more accepting of and subordinated by Christian churches community schools and government officials in their attempt to benefit from them a process Knaft terms recessive agency But the Gebusi also respond actively to modernity creating new forms of feasting performance and music that meld traditional practices with Western ones all of which Knaft documents in this fascinating study coordinates multi disciplinary research on the Bird s Head Peninsula Within this framework study of the peninsula has reached a peak with research being conducted in the area by scientists from different disciplines anthropology archaeology ethno botany demography development administration geology and linguistics The diverse perspectives of these disciplines are subject to constant internal debate Through ISIR and other research initiatives there is a growing body of data on and insights into the various disciplines concerned with this fascinating area with each discipline developing its own specific perspectives on the Bird s Head These perspectives were presented during the First International Conference Perspectives on the Bird s Head of Irian Jaya Indonesia organized by ISIR in cooperation with the Indonesian Institute of Sciences LIPI Jakarta and the International Institute for Asian Studies ILAS Leiden and held at Leiden University 13 17 October 1997 Researchers were informed on current perspectives in many disciplines to facilitate integration of findings into wider interdisciplinary frameworks and to stimulate international debate within and between disciplines As a result of the Conference the forty two contributions in these Proceedings present a wealth of recent developments from various disciplines in New Guinea Studies

Teaching Ritual Catherine Bell, 2007-05-11 There is a great deal of interest in bringing a better appreciation of ritual into religious studies classes but many teachers are uncertain how to go about doing this Religious studies faculty know how to teach texts but they are often unprepared to teach something for which the meaning lies in the doing How much doing should a class do How does the teacher talk about religious concepts that exist in practical relationships not textual descriptions These practical issues also give rise to theoretical questions Giving more attention to ritual effectively suggests a reinterpretation of religion itself less focused on what people have thought and written and more focused on how they order their universe Much of the useful analysis of ritual derives from anthropological and sociological premises which are often foreign to religious studies faculty and are seen by some as theologically problematic This is the first resource to address the issues specific to teaching this subject A stellar cast of contributors who teach ritual in a wide variety of courses and settings explain what has worked for them in the classroom what hasn t and what they ve learned from experience Their voices range from personal to formal and their topics from Japanese theatre to using field trips The result is a thoughtful guide for teachers who are new to the subject as well as experienced ones looking for fresh angles and approaches Expressive Genres and Historical Change Andrew Strathern, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays edited by leading scholars in the field focuses on how expressive genres such as music dance and poetry are of enduring significance to social organization Research from New Guinea Indonesia and Taiwan is used to assess how historical changes modify these forms of expression to adjust to the social and political needs of the moment The volume is unique in exploring the significance of expressive genres for the social processes of coping with and adjusting to change either from outside forces or from internal ones The contributions detail first hand fieldwork often conducted over a period of many years and with each contributor bringing their experience to bear on both the aesthetic and the analytical aspects of their materials Comparative in scope the volume covers Austronesian and non Austronesian speakers in the wider Indo Pacific region Ageism in Youth Studies Gayle Kimball, 2017-05-11 Ageism is prevalent in a great deal of current scholarship in the social sciences as scholars fault youth for being delinquent or politically apathetic Researchers ignore young people s actual voices despite their leadership in recent global uprisings some of which unseated entrenched dictators Neoliberalism must be exposed in its focus on youth sub cultures and styles rather than economic barriers caused by growing inequality and rising youth unemployment rates Ageism in Youth Studies also discusses the debate about Generation We or Me and if Millennials are narcissistic Resources about global youth studies are included along with the results of the author s surveys and interviews with over 4 000 young people from 88 countries
