Milton Rogovin Milton Rogovin, David Isay, 2003      Milton Rogovin , 1985      Milton Rogovin - The Forgotten Ones , 1985      Milton Rogovin Milton Rogovin, Cheryl Brutvan, Albright-Knox Art Gallery (Buffalo, N.Y.), 1985      Milton Rogovin Milton Rogovin, Judith Keller, 2005 Born in New York in 1909 Milton Rogovin has been photographing coal miners since 1962 Men and women portrayed at a mine entrance covered in coal dust are barely recognizable in the accompanying photographs where they stand in their own homes This text presents more than 100 of these powerful images      The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin Christopher Fulton, 2019-07-09 Milton Rogovin 1909 2011 dedicated his photographic career to capturing the humanity of working class people around the world coal miners factory workers the urban poor the residents of Appalachia and other marginalized groups He worked to equalize the relationship between photographer and subject in the making of pictures and encouraged his subjects agency by photographing them on their own terms Rogovin s powerful insight and immense sympathy for his subjects distinguish him as one of the most original and important documentary photographers in American history Edited by Christopher Fulton The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin is a multi disciplinary study of the photographer s historical achievement and continuing relevance Inspired by a recent donation of his work to the University of Louisville this compilation of essays examines Rogovin s work through multiple lenses Contributors analyze his photographic career and political motivations as well as his relationship to economic history and current academic interests Most closely investigated are the Lower West Side series a photographic portrait of a particular neighborhood of Buffalo the Working People series documenting blue collar workers and their families over a span of years and the Family of Miners series a survey of mining communities in the United States and eight foreign countries A collaborative effort by prominent scholars The Social Documentary Photography of Milton Rogovin combines historical and biographical research with cultural and artistic criticism offering a unique perspective on Rogovin s work in Appalachia and beyond      Milton Rogovin Melanie Herzog, Milton Rogovin, University of Arizona. Center for Creative Photography, 2006 Milton Rogovin celebrates the non celebrated the ones who make the world go round These words spoken by prize winning author Studs Terkel are a fitting lens through which to view the work of Milton Rogovin optometrist political activist and photographer Milton Rogovin The Making of a Social Documentary Photographer chronicles the story behind that life and the man behind the acclaimed photographs that invite us to see for the first time or to see anew the tenacity profound dignity and resilience of people living in extremely difficult circumstances Born in New York in 1909 to a Russian Jewish immigrant family Rogovin was radicalized by the widespread deprivations he witnessed and experienced during the Depression and he dedicated himself to working for social and economic justice After military service in World War II he began an optometry practice in Buffalo and he and his wife became active politically engaging in union organizing and voter registration in Buffalo s African American community His activism led him to be called before the House Committee on Un American

Activities and after refusing to testify he was dubbed Buffalo's Number One Communist. Much of his optometry clientele vanished but as he would realize there was also a positive result to the attacks. His political voice silenced he turned to photography as a way to speak about social inequities. In the years that have followed Rogovin has devoted himself to chronicling the lives of people in New York Appalachia Scotland Cuba Zimbabwe Mexico France Czechoslovakia Spain Germany and China. Scholar Melanie Herzog locates Rogovin within a tradition of social documentary photography that began when nineteenth and early twentieth century sociologists took up the camera or more often enlisted the service of photographers to advocate for social reform through visual representations of the plight of the poor. But while Rogovin's work is undoubtedly political he does not romanticize his subjects or seek to portray them as victims or heroes he seeks simply to convey the effects of material reality on people and their agency to show how people live in relation to social conditions. This richly illustrated retrospective features Rogovin's own narrative of his development and life as a documentary photographer amplified by an account of the historical events and circumstances that shaped his politics and social consciousness. Milton Rogovin has dedicated his life's work as an optometrist an activist and a photographer to enabling people to see more clearly. His photographs demand witness and to witness is to see. A Cultural History of Work in the Modern Age Daniel J. Walkowitz, 2020-09-17 Winner of the 2020 PROSE Award for Multivolume Reference Humanities. Changes in production and consumption fundamentally transformed the culture of work in the industrial world during the century after World War I. In the aftermath of the war the drive to create new markets and rationalize work management engaged new strategies of advertising and scientific management deploying new workforces increasingly tied to consumption rather than production. These changes affected both the culture of the workplace and the home as the gendered family economy of the modern worker struggled with the vagaries of a changing gendered labour market and the inequalities that accompanied them. This volume draws on illustrative cases to highlight the uneven development of the modern culture of work over the course of the long 20th century. A Cultural History of Work in the Modern Age presents an overview of the period with essays on economies representations of work workplaces work cultures technology mobility society politics and leisure.
