The shortcomings of Piaget's theory of intellectual development are well known. Less clear is what sort of theory should be devised to replace it. This volume describes the current main contenders including neo-Piagetian, neo-connectionist, neo-innatist and sociocultural models. Its contributors conclude that none of these models are adequate because each one implies a view of the human mind which is either too general, too particular or too modular. A collaborative program of research, seven years in the making, is then described which gives support to a newly emerging synthesis of these various positions. Cultivating Curious and Creative Minds Cheryl J.
