Michael Spector,2015-01-29 The SAGE Encyclopedia of Educational Technology examines information on leveraging the power of technology to support teaching and learning While using innovative technology to educate individuals is certainly not a new topic how it is approached adapted and used toward the services of achieving real gains in student performance is extremely pertinent This two volume encyclopedia explores such issues focusing on core topics and issues that will retain relevance in the face of perpetually evolving devices services and specific techniques As technology evolves and becomes even more low cost easy to use and more accessible the education sector will evolve alongside it For instance issues surrounding reasoning behind how one study has shown students retain information better in traditional print formats are a topic explored within the pages of this new encyclopedia Features A collection of 300 350 entries are organized in A to Z fashion in 2 volumes available in a choice of print or electronic formats Entries authored by key figures in the field conclude with cross references and further readings A detailed index the Reader s Guide themes and cross references combine for search and browse in the electronic version This reference encyclopedia is a reliable and precise source on educational technology and a must have reference for all academic libraries   Dialogic Education and Technology Rupert Wegerif,2007-10-13 Dialogic Education and Technology is about using new technology to draw people into the kind of dialogues which take them beyond themselves into learning thinking and creativity The program of research reported in this book reveals key characteristics of learning dialogues and demonstrates ways in which computers and networks can deepen enrich and expand such dialogues A dialogic perspective is developed drawing upon recent work in communications theory psychology computer science and philosophy This perspective foregrounds the creative space opened up by authentic dialogues Whereas studies of computer supported collaborative learning have tended to see dialogue as a means to the end of knowledge construction the dialogic perspective taken by this book sees dialogue as an end in itself in fact moving learners into the space of dialogue is described as the core aim of education The central argument of the book is that there is a convergence between this dialogic perspective in education and the affordances of new information and communications technology A genuinely dialogic perspective is relatively new to the field of educational technology and there is a considerable amount of interest in this topic amongst researchers who wish to see what extra insights if any a dialogical approach can offer them This is an exciting book that synthesizes clarifies and extends mounting discussions of dialogical thinking related to computer supported education It is not only a delightful personal statement but provokes thought on central issues of CSCL and enters into challenging dialog with the relevant alternative approaches As a result of reading this book I am convinced that we urgently need to open new online spaces for people to understandingly interact with different perspectives and creatively generate new insight and respect for difference Gerry Stahl Executive Editor of the International Journal of Computer Supported Collaborative Learning This book offers a set of lenses which give deep insight into education and the use of technologies for learning The moves between empirical studies theoretical reflections and discussion of the design of learning environments make the book very thought provoking Ideas are not just treated as ideas but they become transformed into principles for design Wegerif is convincing that the use of technology for the creation maintaining and development of dialogical spaces has the potential for transforming and expanding educational experiences in a way which offers a needed vision of learning for the future Sten Ludvigsen Director of the InterMedia
