Estrangement Peter A. Dorsey,1993-07-01 Sacred Estrangement analyzes certain works by important American writers and thinkers in the context of the rhetoric of conversion Such analysis is especially valuable because it provides a reliable index of the relationship between the self and larger communities Traditionally conversion has served a socializing function signifying that one has come into alignment with certain linguistic behavioral and cultural expectations The socialization process is particularly apparent in the Christian conversion narratives of the seventeenth through nineteenth centuries by publicly testifying to a conversion experience believers became empowered members not only of God s elect community but also of a local population As modern autobiography developed in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the Christian pattern was secularized and individualized Conversion became a model for many kinds of psychological change With the coming of the twentieth century however the authors upon whom Peter Dorsey focuses including William and Henry James Henry Adams Edith Wharton Ellen Glasgow Zora Neale Hurston and Richard Wright radically revised conversion rhetoric If conversion had traditionally linked the search for illumination with the search for a defined social role these writers increasingly used conversion as an index of estrangement from mainstream America Dorsey documents this profound change in the way American intellectuals defined the self not in terms of personal orientation toward or away from a given community but as a resistance to such an orientation altogether as if social forces by their nature were a threat to personal identity

The Ferment of Realism Warner Berthoff,1981-07-31 This book traces the central developments in American literature between and 1919 It opens with an account of the consolidation of realism as the dominant standard of critical value and brings the reader forward to the moment at the end of World War I when American writers began to take a recognized place among the masters of literary modernism The ascendancy of the novel as the principal genre of the realists is presented against a broader cultural and historical background Professor Berthoff reviews and evaluates American fiction from the time when Howells Twain and Henry James were still under attack by old school idealizers to the emergence of a new critical and testamentary realism with

Crane Dreiser and Gertrude Stein He shows how the writers under discussion reacted to the work of their predecessors and contemporaries to foreign literary currents innovations in journalism contemporary events and to changing mores Using specific examples and direct quotations Professor Berthoff appraises the strengths and limitations of each All his discussions even of secondary writers are rounded out with a wide range of critical opinion This approach gives depth and objectivity to the examination of a turbulent and vigorously creative age in American letters During this period the writings of Henry Adams Henry George William James Thorstein Veblen and others though primarily concerned with disciplined reflective inquiry were part of the essential imaginative effort of realism The master works of this highly literate group of speculative thinkers had a profound effect on the literature of the era and on the era directly following Important figures discussed in the final chapters of this history include Willa Cather Edith Wharton Frank Norris Vachel Lindsay and Jack London Professor Berthoff notes that there is no manifesto or turning point in literature exactly comparable to the turning point in American art created by the Armory Show of 1913 But the emergence in a single generation of Robinson Frost Stevens Pound Anderson Stein O'Neill and Eliot was to have immense influence not only in America but throughout the Western world The thirty five years that this book spans are among the most important and interesting in the history of American letters The main currents traced are still vital and the principal writers of this period are as important now as they were then

Showman, 1974 Editions for 1954 and 1967 by O Handlin and others Fifty Famous Painters Henrietta Gerwig, 1926 Poetry, Word-Play, and Word-War in Wallace Stevens Eleanor Cook, 2014-07-14 In the first full length study of Wallace Stevens's word play Eleanor Cook focuses on Stevens's skillful play with grammar etymology allusion and other elements of poetry and suggests ways in which this play offers a method of approaching his work At the same time this book is a general study of Stevens's poetry moving from his earliest to his latest work and includes close readings of three of his remarkable long poems Esthetique du Mal Notes toward a Supreme Fiction and An Ordinary Evening in New Haven The chronological arrangement enables readers to follow Stevens's increasing skill and changing thought in three areas of his poetry of the earth the poetry of place the poetry of eros and the poetry of belief Poetry Word Play and Word War in Wallace Stevens shows how in setting words at play and in conflict Stevens could upset the usual relations of rhetoric grammar and dialectic and thus the book contributes to the current debate about logical and a logical uses of language Cook also places Stevens within the larger context of Western literature hearing how he speaks to Milton Keats and Wordsworth to such American forebears as Whitman Emerson and Dickinson and to T S Eliot his contemporary Originally published in 1988 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905      Anthology of American Literature: Realism to the present George McMichael, Frederick C. Crews, 1989 This leading two volume anthology represents America's literary heritage from the colonial times of William Bradford and Anne Bradstreet to the contemporary era of Saul Bellow and Alice Walker Volume II begins with Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson and moves through Toni Morrison It reflects a continued emphasis on cultural plurality and multiple selections by authors that enables readers to compare and contrast different works Numerous editions in their entirety include Twain's Adventures of Huckleberry Finn Crane's The Red Badge of Courage William's The Glass Menagerie Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun and Miller's Death of a Salesman Also featured are shorter works such as How to Tell a Story by Mark Twain Poems by Rita Dove short stories by Sandra Cisneros Louise Erdrich and Toni Morrison For modern scholars of America's literary history and readers who simply love to read especially the classics      The Promise of Pragmatism John Patrick Diggins, 1995-05-15 For much of our century pragmatism has enjoyed a charmed life holding the dominant point of view in American politics law education and social thought in general After suffering a brief eclipse in the post World War II period pragmatism has enjoyed a revival especially in literary theory and such areas as poststructuralism and deconstruction In this sweeping critique of pragmatism and neopragmatism one of our leading intellectual historians traces the attempts of thinkers from William James to Richard Rorty to find a response to the crisis of modernism John Patrick Diggins analyzes the limitations of pragmatism from a historical perspective and dares to ask whether America's one original contribution to the world of philosophy has actually fulfilled its promise In the late nineteenth century intellectuals felt themselves in the grips of a spiritual crisis This confrontation with the acids of modernity eroded older faiths and led to a sense that life would continue in the awareness of absences knowledge without truth power without authority society without spirit self without identity politics without virtue existence without purpose history without meaning In Europe Friedrich Nietzsche and Max Weber faced a world in which God was dead and society was succumbing to structures of power and domination In America Henry Adams resigned from Harvard when he realized there were no truths to be taught and when he could only conclude Experience ceases to educate To the American philosophers of pragmatism it was experience that provided the basis on which new methods of knowing could replace older ideas of truth Diggins examines how in different ways William James Charles Peirce John Dewey George H Mead and Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr demonstrated that modernism posed no obstacle in fields such as science education religion law politics and diplomacy Diggins also examines the work of the neopragmatists Jurgen Habermas and Richard Rorty and their attempt to resolve the crisis of postmodernism Using one author to interrogate another Diggins brilliantly allows the ideas to speak to our conditions as well as theirs Did the older philosophers succeed in fulfilling the promises of pragmatism Can the neopragmatists write their way out of what they have thought themselves into And does America need philosophers to tell us that we do not need foundational truths when the Founders already told us that the Constitution would be a machine that would depend more upon the counterpoise of power than on the claims of knowledge Diggins addresses these and other essential questions in this magisterial account of twentieth century intellectual life It should be read by everyone concerned about the roots of postmodernism and its links to pragmatism and about the forms of thought and action available for confronting a world after postmodernism Reader's Guide to Literature in
