Gödel, Putnam, and Functionalism Jeff Buechner, 2007-09-21 The first systematic examination of Hilary Putnam's arguments against computational functionalism challenges each of Putnam's main arguments With mind brain identity theories no longer dominant in philosophy of mind in the late 1950s scientific materialists turned to functionalism the view that the identity of any mental state depends on its function in the cognitive system of which it is a part The philosopher Hilary Putnam was one of the primary architects of functionalism and was the first to propose computational functionalism which views the human mind as a computer or an information processor But in the early 1970s Putnam began to have doubts about functionalism and in his masterwork

Representation and Reality MIT Press 1988 he advanced four powerful arguments against his own doctrine of computational functionalism In G del Putnam and Functionalism Jeff Buechner systematically examines Putnam s arguments against functionalism and contends that they are unsuccessful Putnam s first argument uses G del s incompleteness theorem to refute the view that there is a computational description of human reasoning and rationality his second the triviality argument demonstrates that any computational description can be attributed to any physical system his third the multirealization argument shows that there are infinitely many computational realizations of an arbitrary intentional state his fourth argument buttresses this assertion by showing that there cannot be local computational reductions because there is no computable partitioning of the infinity of computational realizations of an arbitrary intentional state into a single package or small set of packages equivalence classes Buechner analyzes these arguments and the important inferential connections among them for example the use of both the G del and triviality arguments in the argument against local computational reductions and argues that none of Putnam s four arguments succeeds in refuting functionalism G del Putnam and Functionalism will inspire renewed discussion of Putnam s influential book and will confirm Representation and Reality as a major work by a major philosopher

Metaphysics of Consciousness Ramesh Chandra Pradhan, 2020-09-03 This book explores the transition from the mind to the Supermind within the scope of an evolutionary metaphysics The idea of Supermind has not been discussed so far in the mainstream philosophy of mind and consciousness This book will give a new approach to the study of consciousness from the Indian vedantic perspective which has introduced the idea of Supermind especially in the works of Sri Aurobindo The book also undertakes a sustained critique of the contemporary theories of mind which have promoted mostly a mechanistic and naturalistic theory of mind and consciousness The book is meant for the researchers who are engaged in the study of consciousness and for those who are interested in the philosophy of mind in general This book will serve the purpose of the much needed counter perspective to the contemporary theories of mind working broadly within the materialist traditions

Mind Ascribed Bruno Mölder, 2010-08-18 This book provides a thoroughly worked out and systematic presentation of an interpretivist position in the philosophy of mind of the view that having mental properties is a matter of interpretation Bruno Mölder elaborates and defends a particular version of interpretivism the ascription theory which explicates the possession of mental states with contents in terms of their canonical ascribability and shows how it can withstand various philosophical challenges Apart from a defence of the ascription theory from the objections commonly directed against interpretivism the book provides a critical analysis of major alternative accounts of mental state possession as well as the interpretivist ideas originating from Donald Davidson and Daniel Dennett The viability of the approach is demonstrated by showing how one can treat mental causation as well as the faculties closely connected with consciousness perception and the awareness of one's own mental states in the interpretivist framework Series A
