Counterfeit Crime R.T. Naylor, 2014-05-01 In Counterfeit Crime economist historian and criminologist R T Naylor dissects the costs economic social and political of the seemingly never ending wars on the grossly exaggerated menaces of Crime and Terror and how most things politicians do to combat them make matters worse for the public and the public good He explains how the post World War II welfare state with its commitment to building public infrastructure maintaining social security and providing accessible education gave way to the modern executive state with its focus on guaranteeing corporate welfare dropping bombs on countries too weak to fight back and manipulating the thoughts and actions of populations kept in line by the carrot of glitzy toys and the stick of ever heavier legal sanctions He dissects how the canons of free market fundamentalism backed by the cannons of state power paved the road toward a soft form of totalitarianism which march hand in hand with millennial Christianity and a military security industrial complex in search for new mostly imaginary enemies Counterfeit Crime is savage in its critique of the political and judicial status quo and outraged at an economy rife with corruption ThirdWay, 1988-01 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture Secular, Sacred, More Sacred Stuart Brooking, Paul Branch, Federico G.

Metaphors of Ministry David W. Bennett,2004-01-28 Down through the centuries church leaders have studied the Gospels to discover patterns of leadership development that can be applied to their own context Yet the word leader does not appear in the Gospels Could it be that leadership has more to do with learning to follow than learning to command supervise or manage On right attitudes than on mastery of certain skills Many of the insights we need are embedded in the images which Jesus used to describe his followers So David W Bennett introduces his stimulating and scholarly study previously published under the title Biblical Images for Leaders and Followers He examines the many images and metaphors in the Gospels relating to how disciples follow Jesus and in turn influence others Then he moves on to survey much of the evidence to be found in the images of the rest of the New Testament Finally he draws some judicious conclusions for an understanding of Christian leadership in our own day The author has considerable cross cultural experience having taught church leaders in Japan India the Philippines Papua New Guinea Malaysia India Nepal Tanzania and Kenya in addition to pastoring churches in California Oregon and Massachusetts

He has also traveled and done research among church leaders in Malawi South Africa Brazil Argentina Cambodia Vietnam China Korea Thailand Russia and the Czech Republic His aim is to stimulate thought on these questions in churches all over the world not just in the west
