Minding Their Own Business: Zambia's Struggle Against Western Control Antony Martin, 1972 Study of the evolution of industrial policy in Zambia and the functions and role of the national industrial development corporation with particular reference to the policy decisions leading up to the indigenization and nationalization of the copper mining industry public enterprise considers some of the economic policy implications of African nationalism and covers economic growth trends the political leadership of kuanda etc Map references and statistical tables Politics in Zambia William Tordoff, 2023-04-28 This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1974 Copper King in Central Africa Hyden Munene, 2022-01-31 Copper King in Central Africa offers a detailed account of the corporate history of the Rhokana Rokana Corporation and its Nkana mine Thematically and chronologically organised it explores the discovery of viable ores on the Northern Rhodesian Zambian Copperbelt in the late 1920s which attracted foreign capital from South Africa Britain and the USA prompting the development of the Nkana mine and the formation of the Rhokana Corporation in the early 1930s It follows through the evolution of the copper mining industry up to the re privatisation of the Zambian mining sector in 1991 The book ties into a single narrative the disparate themes of corporate organisation labour relations and profitability of Rhokana demonstrating how the firm was for a time the most important mining entity in the Northern Rhodesian Zambian mining industry Rhokana was both an investment firm on the Copperbelt and a mining company through Nkana mine Thus the Corporation was central to the development and profitability of the copper industry in Zambia Its corporate and labour policies influenced the Copperbelt as a whole Employing the largest labour force in the mining sector Rhokana spearheaded the labour movement on the Copperbelt Its Nkana mine was also the largest producer of copper in the Northern Rhodesian mining industry between 1940 and 1953 and contributed hugely to the war economies of Britain and the USA Throughout its history Nkana was also a major source of cobalt After nationalisation of the mining sector in 1970 Rhokana surrendered its investments in the wider copper industry but remained central to the Copperbelt's smelting and refining operations owning the biggest metallurgical facilities in the industry Trade and Industrial Development in Africa Moyo, Theresa, 2015-03-02 This book revisits the perennial challenge that scholars economists and politicians have been grappling with since the 1960s Development in this book has been defined in a context that projects it as a multidimensional and complex process which seeks to enhance the human social economic and cultural welfare of the people This book calls for a rethinking of trade and industry for Africa's development It uses data drawn from national development plans and strategies and trade and industry issues have been prioritized at the continental level in key policy documents On the whole Africa's industry and trade performance have been poor in spite of national regional and continental plans The contributors to this volume propose some alternative strategies and policies which are necessary for trade and industry to grow and to contribute to the well being of Africa s people It calls for a developmental trade and industry policy which fundamentally must be people centred African states should invest time energy and resources to develop policies which will take into consideration African realities The different contributors are aware that Africa has experienced strong economic growth in the recent past but this growth has largely been due to a strong demand for Africa s primary commodity exports It has also been a result of increases in productivity and domestic investment and remittances from Africans living in the Diaspora It is important to note that despite this unprecedented growth performance the impact of trade and industry on development has been limited The book argues that a structural transformation of Africa s economies is inevitable if Africa is to achieve the shift from the dominant paradigm of production and export of primary goods The various contributors to this book agree that there is need to rethink policy and strategy in order to achieve industrial development in Africa There is no unique solution or answer that can fit all situations as African countries are not the same While Africa can draw lessons from other regions which have successfully industrialized this book argues that policies and strategies will have to be adapted to country specific situations and circumstances Policy

Signals and Market Responses Stuart John Barton,2016-01-26 The study presents archival evidence to show how President Kaunda raised political and economic exclusivity in Zambia in the early years of Zambia s independence and how this retarded capital investment Despite formal reforms and a new government this institutional mechanism still dominates and constrains Zambia s political economy today Zambia Andrew Sardanis,2014-08-13 On 24 October 1964 the Republic of Zambia was formed replacing the territory which had formerly been known as Northern Rhodesia Fifty years on Andrew Sardanis provides a sympathetic but critical insider s account of Zambia from independence to the present He paints a stark picture of Northern Rhodesia at decolonisation and the problems of the incoming government presented with an immense uphill task of rebuilding the infrastructure of government and administration civil service law local government and economic development As a friend and colleague of many of the most prominent names in post independence Zambia from the presidencies of founding leader Kenneth Kaunda to the incumbent Michael Sata Sardanis uses his unique eyewitness experience to provide an inside view of a country in transition Imposing Standards Martin Hearson,2021-06-15 In

Imposing Standards Martin Hearson shifts the focus of political rhetoric regarding international tax rules from tax havens and the Global North to the damaging impact of this regime on the Global South Even when not exploited by tax dodgers international tax standards place severe limits on the ability of developing countries to tax businesses denying the Global South access to much needed revenue The international rules that allow tax avoidance by multinational corporations have dominated political debate about international tax in the United States and Europe especially since the global financial crisis of 2007 2008 Hearson asks how developing countries willingly gave up their right to tax foreign companies charting their assimilation into an OECD led regime from the days of early independence to the present day Based on interviews with treaty negotiators policymakers and lobbyists as well as observation at intergovernmental meetings archival research and fieldwork in Africa and Asia Imposing Standards shows that capacity constraints and imperfect negotiation strategies in developing countries were exploited by capital exporting states shielding multinationals from taxation and depriving nations in the Global South of revenue they both need and deserve Thanks to generous funding from the Gates Foundation the ebook editions of this book are available as Open Access volumes from Cornell Open cornellpress.cornell.edu/cornell-open and other repositories

The Political Economy of Economic Growth in Africa, 1960-2000 B. J. Ndulu, 2008 Volume 2 of an analysis of the economic development of Sub Saharan Africa 1960 2000 Towards Negotiated Co-management of Natural Resources in Africa L. B. Venema, 1999 Within the field of management of natural resources this book focuses on the various approaches of policy formulation and implementation The question central to this book is how to co operate with people the various categories of residents as well as non residents in the rural areas in a top down a participatory or a contractual co management way On the basis of a comparative analysis of 12 case studies in the book these three approaches are thoroughly discussed and their internal and external constraints examined The book starts with an editorial chapter discussing the recent administrative and political developments in Africa as well as the new opportunities which they offer for policies in the field of environment and development The question is brought up whether the recent processes of decentralization democratization and empowerment of local organizations have indeed created new opportunities or that they have only superficially changed the political culture of the countries concerned In the concluding chapter of the book the approaches are contrasted to each other as logical models each with its own potentiality and limitations Conclusions are formulated why the top down approach must result in improvisation to escape from failure and why the participatory approach risks to end up into a mixed balance Special attention is given to the conditions and the prospects for the contractual or co management approach which has been introduced into Africa only recently Under certain conditions this approach seems rather promising

Keeping House in Lusaka Karen Tranberg Hansen, 1997 In April 1993 as part of the March on Washington for Lesbian Gay and Bi Equal Rights and Liberation hundreds of couples participated in the Wedding a symbolic commitment ceremony held in front of the Internal Revenue Service building Part protest and part affirmation of devotion the event was a reminder that marriage rights have become a major issue among lesbians and gay men who cannot marry legally and can only claim domestic partner rights in a few locations in the United States Yet despite official lack of recognition same sex wedding ceremonies have been increasing in frequency over the past decade Ellen Lewin who has consecrated her own lesbian relationship with a commitment ceremony decided to explore the myriad ways in which lesbians and gay men create meaningful ceremonies for themselves She offers the first comprehensive account of lesbian and gay weddings in modern America A series of richly detailed profiles the result of extensive interviews and participation in the planning and realization of many of these commitment rituals is woven together to show how new traditions and ultimately new families are emerging within contemporary America Just as the book is a moving portrait of same sex couples today it is also a significant political document on a new arena in the struggle for lesbian and gay rights In a larger sense Lewin s work is about the politics surrounding same sex marriages and the ramifications for central dimensions of American culture such as kinship community morality and love Lewin explores the ceremonies themselves which range from traditional church weddings to Wicca rituals in the countryside with portraits of the planning the joys and the anxieties that led up to the weddings She introduces Bob and Mark a leather fetishist couple who sanctified their love by legally changing their last names and exchanging vows in tuxedos leather bow ties and knee high police boots In an equally absorbing profile Lewin describes Khadija from a working class black family deeply suspicious of whites and especially Jews and Shulamith raised in a Zionist household She tells of how the two women struggled to reconcile their widely disparate upbringings and how they ultimately combined elements of African and Jewish traditions in their wedding These among many other stories make Recognizing Ourselves a vivid tapestry of lesbian and gay life in post Stonewall United States
