Native American Art In The Twentieth Century Makers Meanings And Histories:

Native American Art in the Twentieth Century W. Jackson Rushing, 1999 This anthology assembles anthropologists art historians curators critics and artists to discuss pottery painting sculpture printmaking photography and performance art Key issues are addressed as well as the importance of tradition Native Moderns Bill Anthes, 2006-11-03 This lavishly illustrated art history situates the work of pioneering mid twentieth century Native American artists within the broader canon of American modernism Native American Art in the Twentieth Century W. Jackson Rushing III, 2013-09-27 This illuminating and provocative book is the first anthology devoted to Twentieth Century Native American and First Nation art Native American Art brings together anthropologists art historians curators critics and distinguished Native artists to discuss pottery painting sculpture printmaking photography and performance art by some of the most celebrated Native American and Canadian First Nation artists of our time The contributors use new theoretical and critical approaches to address key issues for Native American art including symbolism and spirituality the role of patronage and museum practices the politics of art criticism and the aesthetic power of indigenous knowledge The artist contributors who represent several Native nations including Cherokee Lakota Plains Cree and those of the Plateau country emphasise the importance of traditional stories mythologies and ceremonies in the production of contemporary art Within great poignancy they write about recent art in terms of home homeland and aboriginal sovereignty Tracing the continued resistance of Native artists to dominant orthodoxies of the art market and art history Native American Art in the Twentieth Century argues forcefully for Native art's place in modern art history A Companion to American Indian History Philip J. Deloria, Neal Salisbury, 2008-04-15 A Companion to American Indian History captures the thematic breadth of Native American history over the last forty years Twenty five original essays by leading scholars in the field both American Indian and non American Indian bring an exciting modern perspective to Native American histories that were at one time related exclusively by Euro American settlers Contains 25 original essays by leading experts in Native American history Covers the breadth of American Indian history including contacts with settlers religion family economy law education gender issues and culture Surveys and evaluates the best scholarship on every important era and topic Summarizes current debates and anticipates future concerns History of Design Bard Graduate Center, 2013-12-10 A survey of spectacular breadth covering the history of decorative arts and design worldwide over the past six hundred years Foundations of First Peoples' Sovereignty Ulrike Wiethaus, 2007 Foundations of First Peoples Sovereignty is an innovative collection of essays offering interdisciplinary perspectives on the topic of sovereignty for Indigenous nations Presenting contemporary initiatives and scholarship in the humanities on behalf of First Peoples the volume affirms and explores the dynamic interplay between tribal community action and reflection academic work and the commonalities shared by Indigenous nations globally A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran, 2022-08-16 As the Great Depression touched every corner of America the New Deal promoted indigenous arts and crafts as a means of bootstrapping Native American peoples But New Deal administrators romanticization of indigenous artists predisposed them to favor pre industrial forms rather than art that responded to contemporary markets In A New Deal for Native Art Jennifer McLerran reveals how positioning the native artist as a pre modern Other served the goals of New Deal programs and how this sometimes worked at cross purposes with promoting native self sufficiency She describes federal policies of the 1930s and early 1940s that sought to generate an upscale market for Native American arts and crafts And by unraveling the complex ways in which commodification was negotiated and the roles that producers consumers and New Deal administrators played in that process she sheds new light on native art s commodity status and the artist s position as colonial subject In this first book to address the ways in which New Deal Indian policy specifically advanced commodification and colonization McLerran reviews its multi pronged effort to improve the market for Indian art through the Indian Arts and Crafts Board arts and crafts cooperatives murals museum exhibits and Civilian Conservation Corps projects Presenting nationwide case studies that demonstrate transcultural dynamics of production and reception she argues for viewing Indian art as a commodity as part of the national economy and as part of national political trends and reform efforts McLerran marks the contributions of key individuals from John Collier and Rene d Harnoncourt to Navajo artist Gerald Nailor whose mural in the Navajo Nation Council House conveyed distinctly different messages to outsiders and tribal members Featuring dozens of illustrations A New Deal for Native Art offers a new look at the complexities of folk art revivals as it opens a new window on the Indian New Deal

Art for an Undivided Earth Jessica L. Horton, 2017-05-18 In Art for an Undivided Earth Jessica L Horton reveals how the spatial philosophies underlying the American Indian Movement AIM were refigured by a generation of artists searching for new places to stand. Upending the assumption that Jimmie Durham, James Luna, Kay WalkingStick, Robert Houle and others were primarily concerned with identity politics, she joins them in remapping the coordinates of a widely shared yet deeply contested modernity that is defined in great part by the colonization of the Americas. She follows their installations, performances and paintings across the ocean and back in time as they retrace the paths of Native diplomats, scholars, performers and objects in Europe after 1492. Along the way, Horton intervenes in a range of theories about global modernisms, Native American sovereignty, racial difference, archival logic, artistic itinerancy and new materialisms. Writing in creative dialogue with contemporary artists, she builds a picture of a spatially, temporally and materially interconnected world, an undivided earth.

Shaping the American Interior Paula Lupkin, Penny Sparke, 2018-05-11 Bringing together 12 original essays, Shaping the American Interior maps out for the first time the development and definition of the field of interiors in the United States in the period from 1870 until 1960. Its interdisciplinary approach encompasses a broad range of people, contexts and practices, revealing the design of the interior as a collaborative, modern enterprise comprising art, design, manufacture, commerce and identity construction. Rooted in the expansion of mass production and consumption in the last years of the nineteenth century, new and diverse structures came to define the field and provide formal and informal contexts for design work. Intertwined with, but distinct from, architecture and merchandising, interiors encompassed a diffuse range of individuals, institutions and organizations engaged in the definition of identity, the development of expertise and the promotion of consumption. This volume investigates the fluid pre-history of the American profession of interior design, charting attempts to commoditize taste, shape modern conceptions of gender and professionalism, define expertise and authority through principles and standards, marry art with industry and commerce and shape mass culture in the United States.

Crafting an Indigenous Nation Jenny Tone-Pah-Hote, 2019-01-10 In this in-depth interdisciplinary study Jenny Tone-Pah-Hote reveals how Kiowa people drew on the tribe's rich history of expressive culture to assert its identity at a time of profound challenge Examining traditional forms such as beadwork metalwork painting and dance Tone-Pah-Hote argues that their creation and exchange were as significant to the expression of Indigenous identity and sovereignty as formal political engagement and policymaking These cultural forms she argues were sites of contestation as well as affirmation as Kiowa people used them to confront external pressures express national identity and wrestle with changing gender roles and representations Combatting a tendency to view Indigenous cultural production primarily in terms of resistance to settler colonialism Tone-Pah-Hote expands existing work on Kiowa culture by focusing on acts of creation and material objects that mattered as much for the nation's internal and familial relationships as for relations with those outside the tribe In the end she finds that during a time of political struggle and cultural dislocation at the turn of the twentieth century the community's performative and expressive acts had much to do with the persistence survival and adaptation of the Kiowa nation

Art for a New Understanding Mindy N. Besaw, Candice Hopkins, Manuela Well-Off-Man, 2018-10-24 Art for a New Understanding an exhibition from Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art that opened in October 2018 seeks to radically expand and reposition the narrative of American art since 1950 by charting a history of the development of contemporary Indigenous art from the United States and Canada beginning when artists moved from more regionally based conversations and practices to national and international contemporary art contexts This fully illustrated volume includes essays by art historians and historians and reflections by the artists included in the collection Also included are key contemporary writings from the 1950s onward by artists scholars and critics investigating the themes of transculturalism and pan Indian identity traditional practices conducted in radically new ways displacement forced migration shadow histories the role of personal mythologies as a means to reimagine the future and much more As both a survey of the development of Indigenous art from the 1950s to the present and a consideration of Native artists within contemporary art more broadly Art for a New Understanding expands the definition of American art and sets the tone for future considerations of the subject It is an essential publication for any institution or individual with an interest in contemporary Native American art and an invaluable resource in ongoing scholarly considerations of the American contemporary art landscape at large The Grove

Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter, 2011 Arranged in alphabetical order these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries Encyclopedia of Native American Artists Deborah

Everett, Elayne L. Zorn, 2008-09-30 Indigenous North Americans have continuously made important contributions to the field of art in the U S and Canada yet have been severely under recognized and under represented Native artists work in diverse media some of which are considered art sculpture painting photography while others have been considered craft works on cloth basketry ceramics Some artists feel strongly about working from a position as a Native artist while others prefer to produce art not connected to a particular cultural tradition Art and migration Bénédicte Miyamoto, Marie

Ruiz, 2021-06-15 This collection offers a response to the view that migration disrupts national heritage Investigating the mediation provided by migrant art it asks how we can rethink art history in a way that uproots its reliance on space and place as stable definitions of style Beginning with an invaluable overview of migration studies terminology and concepts Art and migration opens dialogues between academics of art history and migrations studies through a series of essays and interviews It also re evaluates the cultural understanding of borders and revisits the contours of the art world a supposedly globalised community re assessed here as structurally bordered by art market dynamics career constraints gatekeeping and patronage networks "Craft, Community and the Material Culture of Place and Politics, 19th-20th Century " Janice

Helland, 2017-07-05 Craft practice has a rich history and remains vibrant sustaining communities while negotiating cultures within local or international contexts More than two centuries of industrialization have not extinguished handmade goods rather the broader force of industrialization has redefined and continues to define the context of creation deployment and use of craft objects With object study at the core this book brings together a collection of essays that address the past and present of craft production its use and meaning within a range of community settings from the Huron Wendat of colonial Quebec to the Girls Friendly Society of twentieth century England The making of handcrafted objects has and continues to flourish despite the powerful juggernaut of global industrialization whether inspired by a calculated refutation of industrial sameness an essential means to sustain a cultural community under threat or a rejection of the imposed definitions by a dominant culture The broader effects of urbanizing imperial and globalizing projects shape the multiple contexts of interaction and resistance that can define craft ventures through place and time By attending to the political histories of craft objects and their makers over the last few centuries these essays reveal the creative persistence of various hand mediums and the material debates they represented
