Ishizaka,1979 Tumor Models in Cancer Research Beverly A. Teicher,2001-11-07 Beverly A Teicher and a panel of leading experts comprehensively describe for the first time in many years the state of the art in animal tumor model research The wide array of models detailed form the basis for the selection of compounds and treatments that go into clinical testing of patients and include syngeneic models human tumor xenograft models orthotopic models metastatic models transgenic models and gene knockout models Synthesizing many years experience with all the major in vivo models currently available for the study of malignant disease Tumor Models in Cancer Research provides preclinical and clinical cancer researchers alike with a comprehensive guide to the selection of these models their effective use and the optimal interpretation of their results Patient-Derived Mouse Models of Cancer Robert M. Hoffman,2017-08-01 This text highlights seminal discoveries and also provides comprehensive and state of the art approach to mouse models of human patient tumors These areas include training basic techniques as well as general troubleshooting Subsequent chapters focus on the different mouse models of patient tumors including the various strains of immunodeficient mice currently available and the transplantation techniques that can be used as well as state of the art imaging techniques Practical applications of the models from drug discovery genome analysis to personalized treatment are also covered Written by experts in that field each of these sections address these critical issues A brief review of the existing literature addressing the particular topic follows in each section Presently there is no single source to provide information on technique and uses of mouse models of human patient tumors Patient Derived Mouse Models of Cancer will satisfy this need for cancer researchers oncologists pharmaceutical and biotechnology industry scientists as well as molecular biologists studying in vivo systems Design of Cancer Chemotherapy E.
