Ambassadors from Earth Jay Gallentine, 2021-11-02 Rewind to the 1950s and ponder was America's first satellite really built by a college student How did a small band of underappreciated Russian engineers get pictures of the moon's far side using stolen American film As the 1960s progressed consider how the heck did people learn to steer a spacecraft using nothing but gravity And just how were humans able to goose a spaceship through a thirty year journey to the literal edge of our solar system Ambassadors from Earth relates the story of the first unmanned space probes and planetary explorers from the Sputnik and Explorer satellites launched in the late 1950s to the thrilling interstellar Voyager missions of the 70s that yielded some of the most celebrated successes and spectacular failures of the space age Keep in mind that our first mad scrambles to reach orbit the moon and the planets were littered with enough histrionics and cliffhanging turmoil to rival the most far out sci fi film Utilizing original interviews with key players bolstered by never before seen photographs journal excerpts and primary source documents Jay Gallentine delivers a quirky and unforgettable look at the lives and legacy of the Americans and Soviets who conceived built and guided those unmanned missions to the planets and beyond Of special note is his in depth interview with James Van Allen the discoverer of the rings of planetary radiation that now bear his name Ambassadors from Earth is an engaging bumper car ride through a fog of head banging uncertainty bleeding edge technology personality clashes organizational frustrations brutal schedules and the occasional bright spot Confessed one participant We were making it up as we went along Voyager Stephen J. Pyne, 2010-07-22 A brilliant new account of the Voyager space program its history scientific impact and cultural legacy Launched in 1977 the two unmanned Voyager spacecraft have completed their Grand Tour to the four outer planets and they are now on course to become the first man made objects to exit our solar system To many this remarkable achievement is the culmination of a golden age of American planetary exploration begun in the wake of the 1957 Sputnik launch More than this Voyager may be one of the purest expressions of exploration in human history For more than five hundred years the West has been powered by the impulse to explore to push into a wider world In this highly original book Stephen Pyne recasts Voyager in the tradition of Magellan Columbus Cook Lewis and Clark and other landmark explorers The Renaissance and Enlightenment the First and Second Ages of Discovery sent humans across continents and oceans to find new worlds In the Third Age expeditions have penetrated the Antarctic ice reached the floors of the oceans and traveled to the planets by new means most spectacularly via semi autonomous robot Voyager probes how the themes of motive and reward are stunningly parallel through all three ages Voyager which gave us the first breathtaking images of Jupiter and Saturn changed our sense of our own place in the universe

From Blue Moons To Black Holes Melanie Melton Knocke, 2011-10-28 As this engrossing popular astronomy book makes clear readers don't need a degree in astrophysics to explore the vast reaches of outer space This generously illustrated volume includes a color insert containing among other pictures beautiful images of Saturn from the Cassini

American an Innovator Matthew Wisnioski,2025-05-13 A landmark cultural history that reveals how the relentless pursuit of innovation has transformed our society our institutions and our inner selves For half a century innovation served as a universal good in an age of fracture That consensus is cracking While the imperative to innovate for a better future continues to fuel systemic change around the world critics now assail innovation culture as an engine of inequality or accuse its do gooders of woke groupthink What happened Drawing on a decade of research Every American an Innovator by Matthew Wisnioski investigates how innovation a once obscure academic term became ingrained in our institutions our education and our beliefs about ourselves Wisnioski argues that innovation culture did not spring from the digital revolution nor can it be boiled down to heroic entrepreneurs or villainous capitalists Instead he reveals the central role of a new class of experts in spreading toolkits and mindsets from the cornfields of 1940s Iowa to Silicon Valley tech giants today This group of engineers philosophers bureaucrats and business leaders posited that innovators were society s most important change agents and remade the nation in their image The innovation culture they built transcended partisan divisions and made strange bedfellows Wisnioski shows how Kennedy era policymakers inspired President Nixon's dream of a Nobel Prize for innovators how anti military professors built the first university incubators for entrepreneurs how radical feminists became millionaire consultants how demands for a rust belt manufacturing renaissance inspired theories of a global creative class how programs that encouraged girls and minority children to pursue innovative lives changed the nature of childhood play and why the innovation consensus is now in dispute

From the Laboratory to the Moon David H. DeVorkin, 2025-05-20 The reserved genius and celebrated Black scientist who built the first astronomical observatory on the moon and worked to inspire underserved students to pursue science and engineering In April 1972 as George Carruthers closely monitored the operation from the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston astronauts conducting the Apollo 16 mission positioned a gold plated far ultraviolet electrographic camera on the moon The camera Carruthers's invention was the first astronomical observatory on the lunar surface where it stands to this day While Carruthers's achievements earned many accolades including the President's Medal for Technology and Invention surprisingly little is known about this remarkable man In From the Laboratory to the Moon David DeVorkin explores Carruthers's life and work for the first time telling the full story of how a deeply reserved African American farm boy rose to become one of our most celebrated aerospace scientists DeVorkin follows Carruthers from his childhood in Ohio and then Chicago to his career at the US Naval Research Laboratory in Washington DC In the highly competitive world of space science in the 1960s and 1970s Carruthers's genius for experimentation and exploration transcended the racial stereotyping and discrimination of his day and he achieved world class recognition for his studies of the Earth and deep space A leading expert in the history of astronomy and space science DeVorkin gives a deft account of these achievements and of how Carruthers used the fame they brought him along with his notoriety as a Black man in science to become a tireless advocate for underserved young people in science and engineering
