Pipe Dreams Early Advertising Art From The Imperial Tobacco Company:

Pipe Dreams Michael W. Dempsey, 1982 Smoking in British Popular Culture 1800-2000 Matthew Hilton, 2000-09-02 This book is a concise history of smoking in British popular culture from the early 19th century to the present day It explores the culture of the pipe and the cigar in the 19th century the role of the cigarette in the mass market economy of the early 20th century and the politics of smoking and health since the 1950s Combining a wide range of historical sources with examples drawn from film and popular literature it provides a comprehensive social cultural and economic history of smoking The Emergence of Modern Retailing 1750-1950 Gary Akehurst, Nicholas Alexander, 2013-02-01 The history of retail business development is an under researched area This book considers the emergence and development of modern retailing from an historical and management perspective in the period 1750 1950 addressing the need for further research and providing examples of current research activity It considers the early emergence of retail forms in the late eighteenth century the evolution of retail forms in the nineteenth century and the late adaptation of retail management in the early twentieth century Paraphernalia! Victorian Objects Helen Kingstone, Kate Lister, 2018-01-17 The Victorian era is famous for the collecting hording and displaying of things for the mass production and consumption of things for the invention distribution and sale of things for those who had things and those who did not For many people the Victorian period is intrinsically associated with paraphernalia This collection of essays explores the Victorians through their materiality and asks how objects were part of being Victorian which objects defined them represented them were uniquely theirs and how reading the Victorians through their possessions can deepen our understanding of Victorian culture Miscellaneous and often auxiliary paraphernalia becomes the disjecta of everyday life deemed neither valuable enough for museums nor symbolic enough for purely literary study This interdisciplinary collection looks at the historical cultural and literary debris that makes up the background of Victorian life Valentine s cards fish tanks sugar plums china ornaments hair ribbons dresses and more Contributors also however consider how we use Victorian objects to construct the Victorian today museum spaces the relation of Victorian text to object and our reading or gazing at Victorian advertisements out of context on searchable online databases Responding to thing theory and modern scholarship on Victorian material culture this book addresses five key concerns of Victorian materiality collecting defining class in the home objects becoming things objects to texts objects in circulation through print culture A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain), 1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index Consuming Angels Lori Anne Loeb, 1994-10-13 Timid and retiring the Victorian housewife was an angel in the house or so says the stereotype But when this angel picked up a popular magazine The Lady for instance she saw in its advertisements images of Grecian goddesses women warriors queens actresses adventurers These arrestingly sexual and surprisingly powerful images are the subject of Consuming Angels a major examination of how Victorian ads shaped social values Stylishly written and featuring 73 reproductions this book shows how ads used the hedonistic aspects of Victorian culture to sell their wares glorified consumerism and mythologized the middle class life Images of aggressive women Loeb shows played well to both men and women And ultimately these ads helped usher in the twentieth century with the creation of a new community the community of consumers

A History of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund, 1902-1986 Joan Austoker, 1988 This book examines the spectacular progress that has been made in cancer research during the last 80 years describing the way discoveries have been made and asking questions about accountability decision making and the contribution of past achievement to policymaking The focus is on the experience of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund one of the leading international research centers and one of Britain's major medical charities The author takes a broad perspective and provides a comparative framework by discussing the changing relationship between the ICRF and the medical profession government and other charities notably the Cancer Research Campaign The resulting analysis of intellectual developments and scientific policies involves a unique overview of malignant disease management therapeutic and preventative strategies and the evolution of cancer services in Britain
