Pitfalls of Analysis and the Analysis of Pitfalls Giandomenico Majone, 1977 Analysing and Aiding Decision

Processes P. Humphreys, O. Svenson, A. Vári, 2000-04-01 This book contains an edited selection of papers presented at the Eighth Research Conference on Subjective Probability Utility and Decision Making held in Budapest Together they span a wide range of new developments in studies of decision making the practice of decision analysis and the development of decision aiding technology The volume is arranged in sections Societal Decision Making Organizational Decision Making Aiding the Structuring of Small Scale Decision Problems and Tracing Decision Processes The emphasis is on decision processes and structures and their applications rather than formal modelling in isolation thus reflecting current developments in research and practice which follow from the understanding of the nature and operation of decision theoretical models gained during the 1970 s The fifth section A Symposium on the Validity of Studies on Heuristics and Biases is of a different nature The papers take stock of the considerable volume of work investigation heuristics and biases in decision making over the past decade and their implication for theory and practice Risk Evaluation and Management V.T. Covello, Joshua Menkes, J.L. Mumpower, 2012-12-06 Public attention has focused in recent years on an array of technological risks to health safety and the environment At the same time responsibilities for technological risk assessment evaluation and management have grown in both the public and private sectors because of a perceived need to anticipate prevent or reduce the risks inherent in modern society In attempting to meet these responsibilities legislative judicial regulatory and private sector institutions have had to deal with the extraordinarily complex problems of assessing and balancing risks costs and benefits The need to help society cope with technological risks has given rise to a new intellectual endeavor the social and behavioral study of issues in risk evaluation and risk management The scope and complexity of these analyses require a high degree of cooperative effort on the part of specialists from many fields Analyzing social and behavioral issues requires the efforts of political scientists sociologists decision analysts management scientists economists psychologists philosophers and policy analysts among others Evidence, Argument, and Persuasion in the Policy Process Giandomenico Majone, 1989-01-01 In modern industrial democracies the making of public policy is dependent on policy analysis the generation discussion and evaluation of policy alternatives Policy analysis is often characterized especially by economists as a technical nonpartisan objective enterprise separate from the constraints of the political environment however says the eminent political scientist Giandomenico Majone this characterization of policy analysis is seriously flawed According to Majone policy analysts do not engage in a purely technical analysis of alternatives open to policymakers but instead produce policy arguments that are based on value judgments and are used in the course of public debate In this book Majone offers his own definition of policy analysis and examines all aspects of it from problem formulation and the choice of policy instruments to program development and policy evaluation He argues that rhetorical skills are crucial for policy analysts when they set the norms that determine when certain conditions are to be regarded as policy problems when they advise on technical issues and when they evaluate policy Policy analysts can improve the quality of public deliberation by refining the standards of appraisal of public programs and facilitating a wide ranging dialogue among advocates of different criteria In fact says Majone the essential need today is not to develop objective measures of outcomes the traditional aim of evaluation research but to improve the methods and conditions of public discourse at all levels and stages of policy making

Planning in the Public Domain John Friedmann,1987-10-21 John Friedmann addresses a central question of Western political theory how and to what extent history can be guided by reason In this comprehensive treatment of the relation of knowledge to action which he calls planning he traces the major intellectual traditions of planning thought and practice Three of these social reform policy analysis and social learning are primarily concerned with public management The fourth social mobilization draws on utopianism anarchism historical materialism and other radical thought and looks to the structural transformation of society from below After developing a basic vocabulary in Part One the author proceeds in Part Two to a critical history of each of the four planning traditions The story begins with the prophetic visions of Saint Simon and assesses the contributions of such diverse thinkers as Comte Marx Dewey Mannheim Tugwell Mumford Simon and Habermas It is carried forward in Part Three by Friedmann s own nontechnocratic dialectical approach to planning as a method for recovering political community

Project and Policy Evaluation in Transport Liana Giorgi,Alan Pearman,Annuradha Tandon,Dimitrios Tsamboulas,2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002 There is a multitude of assessment methods available for analyzing and reporting on the impacts of policies all with different underlying assumptions and a wide range of criteria Since the 1950s much research has gone into creating guidelines for policy analysis yet only a small percentage of evaluation has been carried out on transport policy and none by political scientists or social policy specialists The editors of this volume recognize that European integration has seen a drive to bring policy evaluation on to the transport agenda and has increased demands for strategic assessments It has become apparent that to gain a fuller understanding of the success of a transport programme a much more complex combination of analytical methods must be used and a set of guidelines specifically for the field of transport must be developed This book achieves this by bringing together a multidisciplinary team of analysts from throughout the EU to discuss in a much broader way the various types of assessment methods and how they can best be used to evaluate transport programmes and systems both individually and in combination
