Last Team Standing Matthew Algeo, 2013-09-01 During World War II the National Football League faced a crisis unimaginable today a shortage of players By 1943 so many players were in the armed forces that the league was forced to fold one team and merge two others the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles the Steagles Its roster that included military draft rejects aging stars lured out of retirement and even a couple of active servicemen who managed to get leave for the games The team's center was deaf in one ear its wide receiver was blind in one eye and its halfback had bleeding ulcers One player was so old he'd never played football with a helmet Yet somehow this motley bunch managed to post a winning record the first for the Eagles and just the second for the Steelers But Last Team Standing isn't just about football It's also about life in the United States during World War II a time of fear and hope of sacrifice and momentous change It's about rationing racism and Rosie the Riveter It's about draft boards bond drives and movie stars Above all it's about the men and women of the Greatest Generation who couldn't fight but helped win the war in immeasurable ways

Classic Steelers David Finoli, 2014-04-15 When it came to football in the 1930s the college sport was king But in 1933 former boxer and minor league baseball player Art Rooney who had quarterbacked the squad at Duquesne University purchased a team for Pittsburgh for $2,500 Thus began the legacy we know as Steeler Nation At the time no one could have imagined that the Pirates as they were originally named would become a treasured possession for Pittsburghers For the first 40 years the franchise was a national joke With only one playoff performance a 21-0 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Eagles for the eastern division title in 1947 highlights were minimal for a team that regularly found itself at the bottom of the standings Then in 1969 Art Rooney's son Dan hired Chuck Noll from the Baltimore Colts to coach his team Noll replaced undisciplined players with future hall of famers By 1974 the team won its first world championship and went on to capture four Super Bowl titles in six years Noll's legacy for excellence continued with four more Super Bowl appearances and two championships in 2005 and 2008 garnering the franchise a league record of six Super Bowl wins Classic Steelers includes these six championship tilts and takes citizens of the Steeler Nation on a play by play tour of the
