collection establishes the grounds for a new kind of poetics that considers the poetry book itself the concept and the material fact as an object of interpretation The authors argue that the decisions poets make about the presentation of their works play a meaningful role in the poetic process and therefore should figure as part of the reading experience The common practice of approaching poems chronologically as they are presented in anthologies or in posthumous editions has been fostered by the long prevailing tendency of the New Criticism to treat each poem as self contained This volume urges the reader to reconsider the most fundamental ways that one reads teaches and interprets poetry Moving from classical to contemporary poetry these essays develop a literary history and theory for such a poetics at the same time providing a generous set of models for a related practical criticism At the heart of this collection are such issues as order arrangement and intertextuality Reading poems in their place helps to return them to their historical contexts because the book itself has had a particular place in its own culture and society Originally published in 1987 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value
