Petr,2012-12-06 One of the major river systems of our country the Purari River finds its outlet to the sea in the Gulf of Papua on the southern coast of Papua New Guinea All highlands provinces contribute to this mighty river the Erave of the Southern Highlands Province joins with the Kaugel and Wahgi Rivers Western High lands the Tua River Simbu and Asaro and Aure Rivers of the Eastern High lands Province to make the Purari the third largest river in P N G Unlike its rivals the Fly and the Sepik the distance between its escape from the mountains and its entrance to the sea is short After winding its way mostly through deep gorges flanked by high mountains the river leaves the foothills of the southern slopes of the central cordillera barely eighty kilometers from the sea The energy potential of such a river is enormous Could the waters be utilised in any way to the advantage of the nation Twelve years ago the Electricity Com mission of Papua New Guinea proposed an answer to this question the building of a dam across the river in the Wabo area of the Gulf Province The generation of vast quantities of hydro electric power could be fed into a national distribu tion grid and heavy industries could be established in the Gulf Province and other suitable localities to benefit from this power

Smallholders and Stockbreeders P. Boomgaard,David E.F. Henley,2021-11-15 Historians of Southeast Asia have traditionally preferred to write about politics and culture rather than economics and ecology and where they have looked at the history of agriculture they have most often concentrated on cash crops like sugar coffee and rubber which figure prominently in colonial records Smallholders and stockbreeders by contrast provides a rare survey of the history of foodcrop farming and a unique look at the history of animal husbandry in the Southeast Asian region Thirteen contributions by an international selection of expert authors cover topics ranging from the agricultural economy of precolonial Java to the growth of rice production in the Mekong Delta since 1950 and from the breeding of horses on the northern borderlands of mainland Southeast Asia to the production and consumption of beef in the Philippines New light is shed on old questions regarding the directions in which Southeast Asian agriculture has evolved over the centuries and new questions raised regarding the cultural demographic economic and political determinants of farming practices While the geographical and chronological scales of analysis vary most chapters deal with relatively large areas and with developments over periods of 100 years or more Besides production for subsistence commercial aspects of livestock and foodcrop farming are also given due attention and prove to have been important in many parts of the region from very early periods Smallholders and stockbreeders is essential reading for anyone interested in the agricultural history of Southeast Asia whether for its own sake or in connection with other aspects of regional history or for purposes of comparison with other parts of the world

Tropical Forests in Prehistory, History, and Modernity Patrick Roberts, 2019-01-03 In popular discourse tropical forests are synonymous with nature and wilderness battlegrounds between apparently pristine floral faunal and human communities and the unrelenting industrial and urban powers of the modern world It is rarely publicly understood that the extent of human adaptation to and alteration of tropical forest environments extends across archaeological historical and anthropological timescales This book is the first attempt to bring together evidence for the nature of human interactions with tropical forests on a global scale from the emergence of hominins in the tropical forests of Africa to modern conservation issues Following a review of the natural history and variability of tropical forest ecosystems this book takes a tour of human and human ancestor occupation and use of tropical forest environments through time Far from being pristine primordial ecosystems this book illustrates how our species has inhabited and modified tropical forests from the earliest stages of its evolution While agricultural strategies and vast urban networks emerged in tropical forests long prior to the arrival of European colonial powers and later industrialization this should not be taken as justification for the massive deforestation and biodiversity threats imposed on tropical forest ecosystems in the 21st century Rather such a long term perspective highlights the ongoing challenges of sustainability faced by forager agricultural and urban societies in these environments setting the stage for more integrated approaches to conservation and policy making and the protection of millennia of ecological and cultural heritage bound up in these habitats

SAGO W.R. Stanton, M. Flach, 2012-12-06 Top 100 Exotic Food Plants Ernest Small, 2011-08-23 Many edible plants considered exotic in the Western world are actually quite mainstream in other cultures While some of these plants are only encountered in ethnic food markets or during travels to foreign lands many are now finding their way onto supermarket shelves Top 100 Exotic Food Plants provides comprehensive coverage of tropical and semi Palm Sago,2003 Tropical Forests Of Oceania Joshua A. Bell,Paige West,Colin Filer,2015-08-31 The tropical forests of Oceania are an enduring source of concern for indigenous communities for the migrants who move to them for the states that encompass them within their borders for the multilateral institutions and aid agencies and for the non governmental organisations that focus on their conservation Grounded in the perspective of political ecology contributors to this volume approach forests as socially alive spaces produced by a confluence of local histories and global circulations In doing so they collectively explore the multiple ways in which these forests come into view and therefore into being Exploring the local dynamics within and around these forests provides an insight into regional issues that have global resonance Intertwined as they are with cosmological beliefs and livelihoods as sites of biodiversity and Western desire these forests have been and are still being transformed by the interaction of foreign and local entities Focusing on case studies from Papua New Guinea the Solomon Islands and the Gambier Islands this volume brings new perspectives on how Pacific Islanders continue to creatively engage with the various processes at play in and around their forests Agroforestry: Realities, Possibilities and Potentials H.L. Gholz,1987-08-31 The Gidra Toshio Kawabe,2014 First published in Japanese in 2010 by University of Tokyo Press as Human ecology of the tropical forest life traditional culture and natural environment of Gidra T p verso Palms and People in the Amazon Nigel Smith,2014-09-26 This book explores the degree to which landscapes have been enriched with palms by human activities and the importance of palms for the lives of people in the region today and historically Palms are a prominent feature of many landscapes in Amazonia and they are important culturally economically and for a variety of ecological roles they play Humans have been reorganizing the biological furniture in the region since the first hunters and gatherers arrived over 20 000 years ago Masculinity, Motherhood, and Mockery Eric Kline Silverman,2001 An important ethnographic analysis of motherhood in one Melanesian society Indonesian Agricultural Research & Development Journal,1987 South Coast New Guinea Cultures Bruce M. Knauft,1993-03-25 The communities of south coast New Guinea were the subject of classic ethnographies and fresh studies in recent decades have put these rich and complex cultures at the centre of anthropological debates Flamboyant sexual practices such as ritual homosexuality have attracted particular interest In the first general book on the region Dr Knauft reaches striking new comparative conclusions through a careful ethnographic analysis of sexuality the status of women ritual and cosmology political economy and violence among the region s seven major language culture areas The findings suggest new Melanesian regional contrasts and provide for a general critique of the way regional comparisons are constructed in anthropology Theories of practice and political economy as well as post modern insights are drawn upon to provide a generative theory of indigenous social and symbolic development Holistic Anthropology David Parkin,Stanley Ulijaszek,2011 Given the broad reach of anthropology as the science of humankind there are times when the subject fragments into specialisms and times when there is rapprochement Rather than just seeing them as reactions to each other it is perhaps better to say that both tendencies co exist and that it is very much a matter of perspective as to which is dominant at any moment The perspective adopted by the contributors to this volume is that some anthropologists have over the last decade or so been paying considerable attention to developments in the study of social and biological evolution and of material culture and that this has brought social material cultural and biological anthropologists closer to each other and closer to allied disciplines such as archaeology and psychology A more eclectic anthropology once characteristic of an earlier age is thus re emerging The new holism does not result from the merging of sharply distinguished disciplines but from among anthropologists themselves who see social organization as fundamentally a problem of human ecology and from that of material and mental creativity human biology and the co evolution of society and culture It is part of a wider interest beyond anthropology in the origins and rationale of human activities claims and beliefs and draws on inferential or speculative reasoning as well as hard evidence The book argues that while usefully borrowing from other subjects all such reasoning must be grounded in prolonged intensive and linguistically informed fieldwork and comparison

Violence and Warfare among Hunter-Gatherers Mark W Allen,Terry L Jones,2016-07-01 How did warfare originate Was it human genetics Social competition The rise of complexity Intensive study of the long term hunter gatherer past brings us closer to an answer The original chapters in this volume examine cultural areas on five continents where there is archaeological ethnographic and historical evidence for hunter gatherer conflict despite high degrees of mobility small populations and relatively egalitarian social structures Their controversial conclusions will elicit interest among anthropologists archaeologists and those in conflict studies

The Archaeology of Food and Warfare Amber M. VanDerwarker,Gregory D. Wilson,2015-08-03 The archaeologies of food and warfare have independently developed over the past several decades This volume aims to provide concrete linkages between these research topics through the examination of case studies worldwide Topics considered within the book include the impacts of warfare on the daily food quest warfare and nutritional health ritual foodways and violence the provisioning of warriors and armies status based changes in diet during times of war logistical constraints on military campaigns and violent competition over subsistence resources The diversity of perspectives included in this volume may be a product of new ways of conceptualizing violence not simply as an isolated component of a society nor as an attribute of a particular societal type but instead as a transformative process that is lived and irrevocably alters social economic and political organization and relationships This book highlights this transformative process by presenting a cross cultural perspective on the connection between war and food through the inclusion of case studies from several continents
