Reena And Other Stories:

Reena and Other Stories Paule Marshall, 1983 This collection of Paule Marshall's short works illustrates the growth of a remarkable writer For the first time these stories long out of print or difficult to obtain appear together in a single volume Introducing the volume is Marshall's much acclaimed autobiographical essay From the Poets in the Kitchen from the New York Times Book Review's series called The Making of a Writer This collection included newly written autobiographical headnotes to each story and Merle a novella excerpted from Marshall's 1969 novel The Chosen Place The Timeless People and extensively reshaped and rewritten for this collection It stands as an independent story about one of the most memorable women in contemporary fiction

Telling Stories Jacqueline Bardolph, André Viola, Jean-Pierre Durix, 2001 The present volume is a highly comprehensive assessment of the postcolonial short story since the thirty six contributions cover most geographical areas concerned Another important feature is that it deals not only with exclusive practitioners of the genre Mansfield Munro but also with well known novelists Achebe Armah Atwood Carey Rushdie so that stimulating comparisons are suggested between shorter and longer works by the same authors In addition the volume is of interest for the study of aspects of orality dialect dance rhythms circularity and trickster figure for instance and of the more or less conflictual relationships between the individual character or implied author and the community Furthermore the marginalized status of women emerges as another major theme both as regards the past for white women settlers or the present for urbanized characters primarily in Africa and India The reader will also have the rare pleasure of discovering Janice Kulik Keefer's Fox her version of what she calls in her commentary displaced autobiography or creative non fiction Lastly an extensive bibliography on the postcolonial short story opens up further possibilities for research

Native Tongue Suzette Haden Elgin,2013-08-15 First published in 1984 Native Tongue earned wide critical praise and cult status as well Set in the twenty second century after the repeal of the Nineteenth Amendment the novel reveals a world where women are once again property denied civil rights and banned from public life In this world Earth's wealth relies on interplanetary commerce for which the population depends on linguists a small clannish group of families whose women breed and become perfect translators of all the galaxies languages The linguists wield power but live in isolated compounds hated by the population and in fear of class warfare But a group of women is destined to challenge the power of men and linguists Nazareth the most talented linguist of her family is exhausted by her constant work translating for the government supervising the children's language education in the Alien in Residence interface chambers running the compound and caring for the elderly men She longs to retire to the Barren House where women past childbearing age knit chat and wait to die What Nazareth does not yet know is that a clandestine revolution is going on in the Barren Houses there word by word women are creating a language of their own to free them of men's domination Their secret must above all be kept until the language is ready for use The women's language L adan is only one of the brilliant creations found in this stunningly original novel which combines a page turning plot with challenging meditations on the tensions between freedom and control individuals and communities thought and action A complete work in itself it is also the first volume in Elgin's acclaimed Native Tongue trilogy

Umbertina Helen Barolini, 1998-01-01 The panoramic descriptive and solidly crafted historical novel of immigration womanhood and the feminist ideals of self reliance and self confidence Publishers Weekly This sweeping multi generational novel begins in southern Italy's Calabria region in the late 1800s as Umbertina the wife of a simple farmer persuades her husband to emigrate to the United States to pursue its promise of hope and freedom for their three children Through years of struggle on New York City's Lower East Side and then in a growing upstate New York town it is Umbertina's determination ingenuity and business sense that propel the family into financial success and security leaving her daughters and granddaughters free to sort out their identities both as Italian Americans and as women Through a dazzling interplay of American and Italian characters in both countries Helen Barolini delineates the major concerns of all thinking American ethnics This is no less true today as this republication restores Umbertina to a reading public newly attuned to the complexities of cultural inheritance and identity The Philadelphia Inquirer

Daughter of the Hills Myra Page, 1986 This novel offers a powerful account of family life and labor conflicts told through the eyes of a tough resilient Appalachian woman who is according to Richard Wright one of the most impressive proletarian characters in our literature Daughter of the Hills exposes the economic conditions of the working class and the scarcity of opportunities for working class women but also tells the story of a loving marriage that endures despite severe hardships service of healing deep global wounds      New York and Toronto Novels after Postmodernism Caroline Rosenthal, 2011

 Cities are material and symbolic spaces through which nations define their cultural identities The great cities that have arisen on the North American continent have stimulated the imaginations of the United States and Canada in very different ways This first comparative study of North American urban fiction starts out by delineating the sociohistorical and literary contexts in which cities grew into diverging symbolic spaces in American and Canadian culture After an overview of recent developments in the cultural conception of urban space the book takes New York and Toronto fiction as exemplary for exploring representations of the urban after postmodernism It analyzes four twenty first century novels two set in New York Siri Hustvedt's What I Loved and Paule Marshall's The Fisher King and two set in Toronto Carol Shields's Unless and Dionne Brand's What We All Long For While these texts continue to echo the specific traditions of nation building and canon formation in the United States and Canada they also share certain features All of them investigate the affective crossroads of the city while returning to a more realistic mode of representation Caroline Rosenthal is Professor of American Literature at the Friedrich Schiller University in Jena Germany      The Blackademic Life Lavelle Porter, 2019-10-15 The Blackademic Life critically examines academic fiction produced by black writers Lavelle Porter evaluates the depiction of academic and campus life in literature as a space for black writers to produce counternarratives that celebrate black intelligence and argue for the importance of higher education particularly in the humanistic tradition Beginning with an examination of W E B Du Bois's creative writing as the source of the first black academic novels Porter looks at the fictional representations of black intellectual life and the expectations that are placed on faculty and students to be racial representatives and spokespersons whether or not they ever intended to be The final chapter examines blackacademics on stage and screen including in the 2014 film Dear White People and the groundbreaking television series A Different World      Mercy, Mercy Me James C. Hall, 2001-10-19 Using an interdisciplinary approach this book argues that American artistry in the 1960s can be understood as one of the most vital and compelling interrogations of modernity James C Hall finds that the legacy of slavery and the resistance to it have by necessity made African Americans among the most incisive critics and celebrants of the Enlightenment inheritance Focusing on the work of six individuals Robert Hayden William Demby Paule Marshall John Coltrane Romare Bearden and W E B DuBois Mercy Mercy Me seeks to recover an American tradition of evaluating the dialectic of the Enlightenment      The Cambridge History of African American Literature Maryemma Graham, Jerry Washington Ward, 2011-02-03 A major new history of the literary traditions oral and print of African descended peoples in the United States
