Reflections Frances Quashie-Idun Ademola, 1962 Literature and Language Teaching Gillian Lazar, 1993-01-28
Literature and Language Teaching is for teachers and trainers who want to incorporate literature into the language classroom. It is suitable for teacher trainers, teacher development groups or teachers working on their own. This book contains tasks and activities which encourage reflection on some of the issues and debates involved in using literature in the language classroom and explore different approaches to using literature with teenage and adult learners at all levels. It suggests criteria for selecting and evaluating materials for classroom use and identifies some of the distinctive features of novels, short stories, poems and plays so that these can be successfully exploited in the classroom. A wide range of practical ideas and activities for developing materials is provided. Tasks also encourage the observation and assessment of lessons using literacy texts and draw on English language material by a variety of authors from all over the world. Modern African Poetry and the African Predicament Romanus N. Egedu, 1978-10-12 Reflections; Nigerian Prose & Verse Frances Ademola (ed), Terranglia Joseph Jones, 1966 Poetry, Print, and the Making of Postcolonial Literature Nathan Suhr-Sytsma, 2017-07-10
Poetry, Print and the Making of Postcolonial Literature reveals an intriguing history of relationships among poets and editors from Ireland and Nigeria as well as Britain and the Caribbean during the mid twentieth century era of decolonization. The book explores what such leading anglophone poets as Seamus Heaney, Christopher Okigbo and Derek Walcott had in common: peripheral origins and a desire to address transnational publics without expatriating themselves. The book reconstructs how they gained the imprimatur of both local and London based cultural institutions. It shows furthermore how political crises challenged them to reconsider their poetry's publics. Making substantial use of unpublished archival material, Nathan Suhr-Sytsma examines poems in print, often the pages on which they first appeared, in order to chart the transformation of the anglophone literary world. He argues that these poets' achievements cannot be extricated from the transnational networks through which their poems circulated and which they in turn remade. A Poetry Course for K.C.S.E.
, A Selection of African Prose: Written prose Wilfred Howell Whiteley, 1964 Conversations with Wole Soyinka Wole Soyinka, 2001
Within these interviews Soyinka is forthright, clear and eloquent. He addresses many facets of his writing and plumbs pressing issues of culture, society and community. Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, L.W. Conolly, 2004-11-30
Post Colonial Literatures in English, together with English Literature and American Literature, form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world. Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect. In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories. In more than 1,600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars, it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide. Reflections, 1965

Obumselu on African Literature Isidore Diala, 2019-02-13 This compendium brings together in one volume for the first time Obumselu's highly celebrated work on African literature. With the dialectic of cultures as the presiding preoccupation of his work and appraising the place of African literature in the universal scheme of cultural interchange his critical speciality Obumselu espoused a scholarship with a necessarily indispensable comparative dimension as the articles anthologised in this volume as African literature reveal. The expertise with which he explores the oeuvres of many Western writers because of the light they shed on the creative endeavours of African writers is offset only by the rigour with which he explores the transformative impact of indigenous African literature on the craft of many distinguished African writers. Obumselu's discovery of a tradition of the African novel almost entirely rooted in the poetics of African folklore which began with Mofolo and Plaatje and blossomed in Camara Laye and Ben Okri is a highlight of his incisive scholarship and reverberates through many of the works here. The originality of his insights, his analytic rigour, the catholicity of his tastes and competences and the power and grace of his expression make this volume compelling.
