Reframing Deforestation Global Analyses And Local Realities With Studies In West Africa:

Reframing Deforestation James Fairhead, Melissa Leach, 2003-09-02 This study reviews how West African deforestation is represented and the evidence which informs deforestation orthodoxy On a country by country basis covering Sierra Leone Liberia Cote D Ivoire Ghana Togo and Benin and using historical and social anthropological evidence the authors evaluate this orthodox critically Reframing Deforestation suggests that the scale of deforestation wrought by West African farmers during the twentieth century has been vastly exaggerated The authors argue that global analyses have unfairly stigmatised West Africa and obscured its more sustainable even landscape enriching practices Stressing that dominant policy approaches in forestry and conservation require major rethinking worldwide Reframing Deforestation illustrates that more realistic assessments of forest cover change and more respectful attention to local knowledge and practices are necessary bases for effective and appropriate environmental policies

A Companion to Global Environmental History J. R. McNeill, Erin Stewart Mauldin, 2015-05-04 The Companion to Global Environmental History offers multiple points of entry into the history and historiography of this dynamic and fast growing field to provide an essential road map to past developments current controversies and future developments for specialists and newcomers alike Combines temporal geographic thematic and contextual approaches from prehistory to the present day Explores environmental thought and action around the world to give readers a cultural intellectual and political context for engagement with the environment in modern times Brings together environmental historians from around the world including scholars from South Africa Brazil Germany and China

The Long-Term Perspective of Human Impact on Landscape for Environmental Change and Sustainability Anna Maria Mercuri, Assunta Florenzano, 2019-11-19 The research studies included in this Special Issue highlight the fundamental contribution of the knowledge of environmental history to conscious and efficient environment conservation and management The long term perspective of the dynamics that govern the human climate ecosystem is becoming one of the main focuses of interest in biological and earth system sciences Multidisciplinary bio geo archaeo investigations into the underlying processes of human impact on the landscape are crucial to envisage possible future scenarios of biosphere responses to global warming and biodiversity losses This Special Issue seeks to engage an interdisciplinary dialog on the dynamic interactions between nature and society focusing on long term environmental data as an essential tool for better informed landscape management decisions to achieve an equilibrium between conservation and sustainable resource exploitation

Contesting Forestry in West Africa Reginald Cline-Cole, Clare Madge, 2017-11-30 This title was first published in 2000 This study looks at the contestation of forestry in West Africa taking into account historical considerations cultural negotiations and environmental issues

Against the Grain Bradley B. Walters, 2008-01-17 Against the Grain gathers scholars from across disciplines to explore the work of ecological anthropologist Andrew P Vayda and the future of the study of human ecology Delivering Development Edward R. Carr, 2011-02-01 In Delivering Development author Edward Carr calls into question the very universal unquestioned assumptions about globalization development and environmental change that undergird much of development and economic policy Here he demonstrates how commonly held beliefs about globalization and development have failed the global poor Over his 13 years of working along what he calls globalization's shoreline a world region buffeted by the economic political and environmental decisions of those living in wealthier places Carr has concluded that most experts misunderstand what they are trying to fix and cannot tell if they are fixing it Delivering Development is an eye opening you are there book that compels the reader to question conventional wisdom redefines what assistance to the developing world really means and explores alternative ways of achieving meaningful enduring improvements to human well being One Health Kevin Bardosh, 2016-02-12 Zoonotic diseases pathogens transmitted from animals to people offer particularly challenging problems for global health institutions and actors given the complex social ecological dynamics at play New forms of risk caused by unprecedented global connectivity and rapid social and environmental change demand new approaches One Health highlights the need for collaboration across sectors and disciplines to tackle zoonotic diseases However there has been little exploration of how social political and economic contexts influence efforts to do One Health This book fills this gap by offering a much needed political economy analysis of zoonosis research and policy Through ethnographic qualitative and quantitative data the book draws together a diverse number of case studies These include chapters exploring global narratives about One Health operationalization and prevailing institutional bottlenecks the evolution of research networks over time and the histories and politics behind conflicting disease control approaches The themes from these chapters are further contextualized and expanded upon through country specific case studies from Kenya Zambia Nigeria Ghana and Sierra Leone exploring the translation of One Health research and policy into the African context This book is a valuable resource for academic researchers students and policy practitioners in the areas of global health agriculture and development Forest People Interfaces Bas Arts, Séverine van Bommel, Mirjam Ros-Tonen, Gerard Verschoor, 2012-05-22 This book aims at both academics and professionals in the field of forest people interfaces It takes the reader on a journey through four major themes that have emerged since the initiation of social forestry in the 1970s non timber forest products and agroforestry community based natural resource management biocultural diversity and forest governance In so doing the book offers a comprehensive and current review on social issues related to forests that other more specialized publications lack It is also theory rich offering both mainstream and critical perspectives and presents up to date empirical materials Reviewing these four major research themes the main conclusion of the book is that naïve optimism associated with forest people interfaces should be tempered The chapters show that economic development political empowerment and environmental aims are not easily integrated Hence local landscapes and communities are not as malleable as is often assumed Events that take place on other scales might intervene local communities might not implement policies locally and governance practices might empower governments more than communities This all shows that we should go beyond community based ideas and ideals and look at practices on the ground

Forests Are Gold Pamela D. McElwee, 2016-04-01 Forests Are Gold examines the management of Vietnam's forests in the tumultuous twentieth century from French colonialism to the recent transition to market oriented economics as the country united prospered and transformed people and landscapes Forest policy has rarely been about ecology or conservation for nature's sake but about managing citizens and society a process Pamela McElwee terms environmental rule Untangling and understanding these practices and networks of rule illuminates not just thorny issues of environmental change but also the birth of Vietnam itself

Adopting the Tune of Expression: An Emotional Symphony within Reframing Deforestation Global Analyses And Local Realities With Studies In West Africa

In some sort of consumed by displays and the ceaseless chatter of instant communication, the melodic splendor and emotional symphony created by the written word frequently fade into the back ground, eclipsed by the relentless noise and disturbances that permeate our lives. However, situated within the pages of Reframing Deforestation Global Analyses And Local Realities With Studies In West Africa a charming literary treasure overflowing with natural feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by a masterful composer of language, this charming masterpiece conducts visitors on a mental trip, skillfully unraveling the hidden tunes and profound influence resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths of this touching assessment, we shall discover the book is central harmonies, analyze its enthralling writing model, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
