Refugees South Of The Sahara:

Refugees South of the Sahara St. John's University (New York, N.Y.),1970 The State of the World's Refugees, 2000 Mark Cutts,Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees,2000 Includes statistics Refugees, the State and the Politics of Asylum in Africa J. Milner,2009-11-06 How do African states respond to the mass arrival and prolonged presence of refugees This book answers this question by drawing on recent case studies and examining the politics behind refugee policy in Africa The implications of this approach are important not only for the study of asylum in Africa but also for the future of refugee protection World Hunger, Health, and Refugee Problems: Famine in Africa United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee to Investigate Problems Connected with Refugees and Escapees,1973 An Ethic of Hospitality Emily Jeptepkeny Choge,2020-07-30 In our increasingly xenophobic world countries are turning away refugees and immigrants Based on the situation in Kenya this book offers a countercultural ethic of hospitality and welcome to the stranger an ethic fraught with dangers and yet filled with great opportunities for transforming our world Drawing on the scriptural pilgrim motif and specifically on the book of Hebrews this study paints a picture of refugees not only as needy strangers to be herded into camps but as brothers and sisters who bring with them treasures and talents that can enrich our understanding of our Christian identity and mission as pilgrims in the world The hospitality practice seen in Hebrews offers hope and promise not only for refugees themselves but also for the pilgrim church Like the ancient heroes of faith portrayed in Hebrews we too live as pilgrims and aliens who await with hope the city whose architect and founder is God Refugees in fact teach us how to live our pilgrim identity they become teachers not only for the church in Kenya but also for the body of Christ worldwide Losing Place Johnathan Bascom,1998 Refugee flight settlement and repatriation are not static self contained or singular events Instead they are three stages of an ongoing process made and mirrored in the lives of real people For that reason there is an evident need for historical and longitudinal studies of refugee populations that rise above description and trace the process of social transformation during the full circle of flight resettlement and return home This book probes the economic forces and social processes responsible for shaping the everyday existence for refugees as they move through exile The Regional Law of Refugee Protection in Africa Marina Sharpe,2018-07-18 This book analyses the legal framework for refugee protection in Africa including both refugee and human rights law as well as treaty and institutional elements The regime is addressed in two parts Part One analyses the relevant treaties the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees the 1969 Organization of African Unity Convention Governing the Specific Aspects of Refugee Problems in Africa and the 1981 African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights The latter two regional instruments are examined in depth This includes the first fulsome account of the African Refugee Conventions drafting an interpretation of its unique refugee definition and original analysis of the relationships between the three treaties Significant attention is devoted to the systemic relationship between the international and the regional refugee

treaties and to the discrete relationships of conflict and complementary relationships between the two refugee instruments as well as to the relationships between the African Refugee Convention and African Charter Part Two focuses on the institutional architecture supporting the treaty framework The Organization of African Unity is addressed in a historical sense and the contemporary roles of the African Union the African Commission on Human and Peoples Rights and the current and contemplated African human rights courts are examined This book is the first devoted to the legal framework for refugee protection in Africa Protecting Civilians in Refugee Camps Maja Janmyr, 2013-11-28 Rather than serving as civilian and humanitarian safe havens refugee camps are notorious for their insecurity Due to the host state's inability or unwillingness to provide protection camps are often administered by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees UNHCR and its implementing partners When a violation occurs in these situations to which actors shall responsibility be allocated Through an analysis of the International Law Commission's work on international responsibility Maja Janmyr argues that the primary responsibility of states does not exclude the responsibilities of other actors Using the example of Uganda Janmyr questions the general assumption that unable and unwilling is the same as unable or unwilling and argues for the necessity of distinguishing between these two scenarios Doing so leads to different conclusions in terms of responsibility for the state and therefore for UNHCR and its implementing partners World Hunger, Health, and Refugee Problems United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee to Investigate Problems Connected with Refugees and Escapees, 1973 Refugees in a Chess Game Medard Rwelamira, 1990 Covers the period 1967-1980s

Beyond Feminism and Islamism Doris H. Gray, 2012-11-08 Are women in North Africa and the Middle East feminist Or is being a Muslim incompatible with feminism Is there such a thing as Islamic feminism Through interviews with Moroccan activists and jurists both male and female and by situating these interviews within their socio-political and economic contexts Doris Gray addresses these questions By doing so she attempts to move beyond the simple bifurcation of feminist and Islamist to look at the many facets of internal gender discourse within one Muslim country allowing for a more nuanced understanding of the discussion on women's rights in the Muslim world in general By marking out a third way that looks beyond feminism and Islamism Gray presents religion and faith not as blocking gender equality but as a source of inspiration to explore new ways of conceiving modernity While Western models are taken into consideration within Morocco the men and women involved in this third way of understanding gender and equality inevitably negotiate internal tensions between what has been dubbed tradition and modernity thus incorporating national and cultural identity post-colonialism and religious principles into their gender discourse Examining issues such as gender equality gender justice abortion and gay rights Gray explores the nexus of gender religion and democracy in modern Morocco and the ways in which different groups understand these ideas Many of the world's pressing twenty-first century problems are embodied within Morocco's borders tensions between the West and the Muslim world minority rights migration the role of religion in a modern society and the issue this book is chiefly concerned with women's rights. The status and the role of women is one of the most hotly debated topics throughout the Middle East and North Africa and this is particularly visible through this discussion of what it means to engage with and promote feminist thought and actions in the region. The Ideal Refugees Elena

Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, 2014-02-11 Refugee camps are typically perceived as militarized and patriarchal spaces and yet the Sahrawi refugee camps and their inhabitants have consistently been represented as ideal in nature uniquely secular and democratic spaces and characterized by gender equality. Drawing on extensive research with and about Sahrawi refugees in Algeria, Cuba, Spain, South Africa and Syria, Fiddian-Qasmiyeh explores how, why and to what effect such idealized depictions have been projected onto the international arena. Documentation List University of Delhi. Library, 1971 Escape from Violence Aristide R. Zolberg, Astri Suhrke, Sergio Aguayo, 1989-08-10 The magnitude of refugees' movements in the Third World widely perceived as an unprecedented crisis has generated widespread concern in the West. This concern reveals itself as an ambiguous mixture of heartfelt compassion for the plight of the unfortunates cast adrift and a diffuse fear that they will come pouring in. In this comprehensive study the authors examine the refugee flows originating in Latin America, Africa and Asia and suggest how a better understanding of this phenomenon can be used by the international community to assist those in greatest need. Reviewing the history of refugee movements in the West, they show how their formation and the fate of endangered populations have also been shaped by the partisan objectives of receiving countries. They survey the kinds of social conflicts characteristic of different regions of the Third World and the ways refugees and refugee policy are made to serve broader political purposes. Refugee and Labour Movements in Sub-Saharan Africa Jonathan Baker, Roger Zetter, 1995 This report is the second of a series on emergencies and disaster relief published by the Swedish International Development Authority and the Nordic Africa Institute. It contains two papers that focus on some longer term impacts of refugee and migrant worker flows which have implications for the way humanitarian relief is conceptualised and planned. The first is an overview of migrant worker and refugee flows in Sub-Saharan Africa. It suggests that the negative impact of exporting male workers from rural households has been overemphasised. While there is psychological stress from family separations and the spread of Aids is associated with labour migration, such movements can also be viewed as a capital accumulation strategy which financially benefits the sending households without necessarily leading to a drop in their agricultural production and as vital foreign exchange for the sending country through incoming remittances. It also suggests that the presence of refugees is not necessarily an economic burden for the host country. Refugees may, as a labour source and as consumers, contribute to development. The second paper reviews the literature on shelter and settlement strategies for refugees. It advocates a conceptual approach which is developmental rather than relief oriented, an approach which integrates refugees and hosts' needs and puts emphasis on tackling the long term consequences of mass forced migration. Current practice is critically appraised to draw out the lessons of best practice and find alternatives to encampment style.

shelter The author does not believe that the integrated planning and durable housing which he advocates would dissuade refugees from repatriating The Oxford Handbook of the African Sahel Leonardo A. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee to Investigate Problems Connected with Refugees and Escapees, 1973 Re-Defining Legitimate Statehood Obiora Chinedu Okafor, 2021-10-18 The purpose of this volume is dual The first is to provide information about the question of the role that doctrines and practices of international law have played in the emergence and persistence of the phenomenon of socio cultural fragmentation and therefore of inter group conflict within African states The second is to provide original thought about the ways in which prompted by the emergent turn in our time to minority and group rights international law and multilateral African states have begun the long journey toward modifying those doctrines and practices that have led to such unfortunate results and have thereby begun to make very valuable contributions to the effort to prevent and or reduce the incidence of inter group strife in specific African contexts The book is not however limited in scope by its utilisation of Africa as a case study The book's core is based on analysis of traditional and contemporary international legal doctrines and practices their effects in specific contexts as well as on the role of multilateral institutions in the prevention of internecine conflict within established states It is hoped that with the use
