Secularism And The Arab World:

Secularism in the Arab World Aziz al-Azmeh, 2020-03-18 This book is a translation of Aziz al-Azmeh's seminal work Al Ilmaniya min mandhur mukhtalif that was first published in Beirut in 1992. Both celebrated and criticised for its reflections on Arab secularisation and secularism in the modern history of the Arab World, it is the only study to date to approach its subject as a set of historical changes which affected the regulation of the social, political and cultural order and which permeated the concrete workings of society rather than as an ideological discussion framed from the outset by the assumed opposition between Islam and secularism. The author takes a comprehensive analytical perspective to show that an almost imperceptible yet real multi-faceted and objective secularising process has been underway in the Arab world since the 1850s. The early onset was the result of adapting to systemic novelties introduced at the time and a reaction to the perceived European advance and local retardation. The need for meaningful reform and the actions taken in order to put in place a new organisation of state and society based on modern organisational and educational criteria rather than older religious traditions stemmed from the perceived weakness of Arab polities and from an internal drive to overcome this situation. The book follows these themes into the close of the 20th century marked with the rise of Islamism. A preface to the English translation takes a retrospective look at the theme from the vantage point of social, political and intellectual issues of relevance today.

Islam and Secularism in the Middle East Azzam Tamimi, John L. Esposito, 2000-10 Western civilization tends to view secularism as a positive achievement. From this perspective, benefits of secularizing trends include the separation of church and state, the rule of law and freedom from organized religion. In the Arab Middle East, however, Islamist intellectuals increasingly cite Western inspired secularism as the source of the region's social dislocation and political instability. While secularism in the West led to the spread of democratic values in the Muslim world it has been associated with dictatorship, the violation of human rights and the abrogation of civil liberties. Islam and Secularism in the Middle East examines the origins and growth of the movement to abolish the secularizing reforms of the past century by creating a political order guided by Shariah law. Contributors explain the Islamic rejection of secularism as a failed Western Christian ideal and also discuss how secularization was pioneered by those who thought Muslims could only advance politically by emulating Western practices including the renunciation of religion.

Secularism and the Arab World Nāzik Sābā Yārid, 2002. This illustrates how writers both Christian and Muslim took a secular stand not only in their writings on the nature of government, nationalism and the socio-economic system but also when addressing issues such as morality and religion in relation to society, education, women's rights, language and literature, science and freedom of thought and expression.
