meaningfully addressed by industrialized nations half a world away could produce rising sea levels capable of engulfing several states of Oceania and partially submerging portions of many other inhabited islands Australia Oceania and Antarctica tackles the difficult issues tough problems and political controversies surrounding these lands of extremes Biotechnology and Agriculture in 2020 Anthony J. Cavalieri, 2005-04-21 GMO China Cong Cao, 2018-10-02 In China as elsewhere the debate over genetically modified organisms has become polarized into anti and pro GMO camps Given the size of China's population and market much is at stake in conflicts over regulation for domestic as well as international actors In this book Cong Cao provides an even handed analysis that illuminates the tensions that have shaped China's policy toward agricultural biotechnology in a global perspective Cao presents a comprehensive and systematic analysis of how China's policy toward research and commercialization of genetically modified crops has shifted that explains how China's changing GMO stances reflect its evolving position on the world stage While China's scientific community has set the agenda it has encountered resistance rooted in concerns over food safety and consumers rights as well as issues of intellectual property rights and food sovereignty Although Chinese leaders at first sought to take advantage of the biotech revolution by promoting GMO crop consumption Cao demonstrates that policy has since become precautionary as seen in new laws and regulations grounded in concerns over safety and the deferral of commercialization of GM rice He presents China's policies in light of changing global attitudes toward GM crops As shifts in China have closely followed global trends so has domestic activism Drawing on government and scientific documents as well as interviews with scientists officials policy analysts activists and journalists GMO China is an important book for China studies science and technology studies policy analysts and professionals interested in the Chinese biotechnology market India's Economy Raj Kapila, Uma Kapila, 2006 Featuring 20 articles from leading economic development experts this collection provides rare insight into the challenges facing India following the country's entry into the world economy From growth poverty and reform to globalization and sectoral developments the essays address potential problems but coalesce to form an optimistic picture of India's future A potential root of the nation's current problems tardy or incomplete policy implementation is also discussed The Regulation of Agricultural Biotechnology Robert E. Evenson, V. Santaniello, 2004-03-29 The regulatory systems in place prior to the development and expansion of agricultural biotechnology are still responding to this new form of technology Such systems include trade law intellectual property law contract law environmental regulations and biosafety regulations This book reviews these regulatory changes and consists of 24 chapters developed from papers presented at a conference of the International Consortium on Agricultural Biotechnology Research held in Italy in July 2002 It primarily considers the relationship between these changes and innovation market development and international trade Making Better Policies for Food Systems OECD, 2021-01-11 Food systems around the world face a triple challenge providing food security and nutrition for a growing global population supporting livelihoods for those working along the food supply chain and contributing to environmental sustainability Better policies hold tremendous promise for making progress in these domains The New Famines Stephen Devereux, 2006-11-22 The recent occurrences of famine in Ethiopia and Southern Africa have propelled this key issue back into the public arena for the first time since 1984 as once again it becomes a priority not only for lesser developed countries but also for the international community Exploring the paradox that is the persistence of famine in the contemporary world this book looks at the way the nature of famine is changing in the face of globalization and shifting geo political forces The book challenges perceived wisdom about the causes of famine and analyzes the worst cases of recent years including close analysis of food scarcity in North Korea Ethiopia Sudan and Malawi and less well known cases in Madagascar Iraq and Bosnia With fresh conceptual frameworks and analytical tools major theoretical constructs which have previously been applied to analyze famines such as the democracy ends famine argument Sen s entitlement approach and the complex political emergency framework are confronted This volume assembles an international team of contributors including Marcus Noland Alex de Waal and Dan Maxwell an impressive roster which helps make this book an important resource for those in the fields of development studies and political economics Food Policy for the Poor Joachim Von Braun, Rajul Pandya-Lorch, 2005-01-01 Latin America & the Caribbean Kevin Hillstrom, Laurie Collier Hillstrom, 2003-12-02 A concise yet thorough overview of the environmental issues problems and controversies facing Latin America and the Caribbean from the tip of South America to the Windward Islands Home to Earth s longest mountain range largest river and greatest rainforest no region boasts greater geographic extremes faces greater environmental dangers and enjoys more economic potential from its biodiversity than Latin America and the Caribbean What are the political and economic factors affecting the Amazon s rapidly disappearing rainforest What is being done to harvest life saving drugs from the plants of the Orinoco And what lies behind the mysterious disappearance of Central America s frogs The work includes essays tables and figures and an appendix titled International Environmental and Developmental Agencies Organizations and Programs on the World Wide Web Latin America the Caribbean examines a region waking up to its environmental problems and possibilities

Globalization and the Human Factor Joseph Mensah, 2018-01-18 Since the 1980s the world has experienced an unprecedented push towards economic political social cultural financial and technological integration This integration is a key element of the process of globalization Much of this revolves around the tensions and conflicts inherent in globalization with emphasis on political economy but at the expense of the human factor HF which places people at the centre of all discussions about globalization This volume brings the HF into the debate and examines to what extent this hitherto marginalized concept holds the key to providing a holistic understanding and contestation of globalization The volume develops a distinct concept or framework of the human factor examines the role and significance in global change from an interdisciplinary perspective analyzes the extent and significance in contemporary globalization discourse and provokes further debate about the unresolved disputes surrounding globalization The account will help readers navigate the minefields of the globalization debate Whatever Happened to Class? Rina Agarwala, Ronald J. Herring, 2018-10-24 Class explains much in the differentiation of life chances and political dynamics in South Asia scholarship from the region contributed much to class analysis Yet class has lost its previous centrality as a way of understanding the world and how it changes This outcome is puzzling new configurations of global economic forces and policy have widened gaps between classes and across sectors and regions altered people's relations to production and produced new state citizen relations Does market triumphalism or increased salience of identity politics render class irrelevant Has rapid growth in aggregate wealth obviated long standing questions of inequality and poverty Explanations for what happened to class vary from intellectual fads to global transformations of interests The authors ask what is lost in the move away from class and what South Asian experiences tell us about the limits of class analysis Empirical chapters examine formal and informal sector labor social movements against genetic engineering and politics of the new middle class A unifying analytical concern is specifying conditions under which interests of those disadvantaged by class systems are immobilized diffused coopted or autonomously recognized and acted upon politically the problematic transition of classes in themselves to classes for themselves

What's economics worth? Philip G. Pardey, Vincent H. Smith, 2004-01-01 In an era of limited research resources and limitless research needs demonstrating the worth of any research discipline to policymakers and administrators is a prerequisite for obtaining future funding and making an impact in policy matters Economists have worked diligently in developing both quantitative and qualitative indicators of the value of science and technology R D At the same time they have paid little or no attention to valuing their own work In What's Economics Worth Valuing Policy Research several expert economists take an important first step towards redressing this imbalance Anyone who wants to understand what economists do and how to think about valuing their work will find this book intriguing and worthwhile Contributors Jeffrey Alwang Connie Chan Kang John Freebairn Bruce Gardner Arnold Harberger Amir Heiman Anne Krueger Paul Krugman Bob Lindner George Norton Philip G Pardey James Ryan Vincent H Smith C Peter Timmer and David Zilberman Information and communication technologies for development and poverty reduction Maximo Torero, Joachim von Braun, 2006-01-01 The IT revolution made some glorious promises to the world's poor instant access to information and far flung markets political empowerment greater growth even the possibility that countries could leapfrog entire stages of development But when none of that happened in a hurry the hoopla gave way to concern that rather than closing the wealth gap IT was exacerbating it Yet for all the international debate and millions of words written about the digital divide very little systematic empirical research or studies over time have been done to confirm claims and counterclaims and to guide policymakers on how this technology actually affects the development of low income countries In this volume Maximo Torero and Joachim von Braun seek to address this omission with a collection of case studies exploring the relationship between information and communication technologies ICTs and development in Bangladesh China India Ghana Laos Peru and East Africa Their conclusion is that yes ICTs do have potential to serve and empower the poor by linking them to commercial and social networks cutting transaction costs and making the delivery of public goods like education and healthcare more efficient But these benefits can accrue only when the supporting infrastructure is in place and when ICT policies take into account not only questions of connectivity but also of capability how to help poor people use the new tools and of content what is relevant and in what form All three c s are critical Without coherent strategies and the right regulatory policies there is the very real likelihood that scarce resources will be misallocated and that ICT induced growth will remain elusive Contributors Abdul Bayes Arjun Bedi Romeo Bertolini Shyamal K Chowdhury Virgilio Galdo K Lal Francis A S T Matambalya Maja Micevska Dietrich Mueller Falcke Gi Soon Song Maximo Torero Joachim von Braun Wensheng Wang and Susanna Wolfe Gi Soon Song Maximo Torero Joachim von Braun Wensheng Wang Susanna Wolf Mendel in the Kitchen Nancy Marie Brown, Nina V. Fedoroff, 2004-09-30 While European restaurants race to footnote menus reassuring concerned gourmands that no genetically modified ingredients were used in the preparation of their food starving populations around the world eagerly await the next harvest of scientifically improved crops Mendel in the Kitchen provides a clear and balanced picture of this tangled tricky and very timely topic Any farmer you talk to could tell you that we ve been playing with the genetic makeup of our food for millennia carefully coaxing nature to do our bidding The practice officially dates back to Gregor Mendel who was not a renowned scientist but a 19th century Augustinian monk Mendel spent many hours toiling in his garden testing and cultivating more than 28 000 pea plants selectively determining very specific characteristics of the peas that were produced ultimately giving birth to the idea of heredity and the now very common practice of artificially modifying our food But as science takes the helm steering common field practices into the laboratory the world is now keenly aware of how adept we have become at tinkering with nature which in turn has produced a variety of questions Are genetically modified foods really safe Will the foods ultimately make us sick perhaps in ways we can t even imagine Isn t it genuinely dangerous to change the nature of nature itself Nina Fedoroff a leading geneticist and recognized expert in biotechnology answers these questions and more Addressing the fear and mistrust that is rapidly spreading Fedoroff and her co author science writer Nancy Brown weave a narrative rich in history technology and science to dispel myths and misunderstandings In the end Fedoroff argues plant biotechnology can help us to become better stewards of the earth while permitting us to feed ourselves and generations of children to come Indeed this new approach to agriculture holds the promise of being the most environmentally conservative way to increase our food supply Lords Of The Harvest Dan Charles, 2008-08-04 Once confined to the research laboratory the genetic engineering of plants is now a big business that is changing the face of modern agriculture Giant corporations are creating designer crops with strange powers from cholesterol reducing soybeans to plants that act as miniature drug factories churning out everything from vaccines to insulin They promise great benefits better health for consumers more productive agriculture even an end to world hunger But the vision has a dark side one of profit driven tampering with life and the possible destruction of entire ecosystems In Lords of the Harvest Daniel Charles takes us deep inside research labs farm sheds and corporate boardrooms to reveal the hidden story behind this agricultural revolution He tells how a handful of scientists at Monsanto drove biotechnology from the lab into the field and how the company's opponents are fighting back with every tool available to them including the cynical manipulation of public fears A dramatic account of boundless ambition political intrigue and the quest for knowledge Lords of the Harvest is ultimately a story of idealism and of conflicting dreams about the shape of a better world

Reforming agricultural markets in Africa

Kherallah, Mylene, Delgado, Christopher L., Gabre-Madhin, Eleni Z., Minot, Nicholas, Johnson, Michael, 2002-01-01 The long term reduction of hunger and poverty in Sub Saharan Africa remains one of the great challenges for the international development community Eliminating hunger and promoting widespread growth in the region inevitably involves agriculture given its central role in the region's economies Over the past 20 years most African governments have carried out reforms to deregulate agricultural markets and reduce the role of state enterprises How much has the state actually withdrawn from agricultural markets Have well functioning private markets emerged How successful were these reforms in boosting agricultural production economic growth and the incomes of the rural poor What lessons can we learn from the reform process The authors of this book address these questions through an analysis based on an extensive review of experiences with reform focusing on three major agricultural markets fertilizer food crops and export crops They examine the historical rationales for intervention the factors contributing to reform the process of implementation and the impact of the reforms on farmers and consumers in Sub Saharan Africa The authors find that reforms have had many favorable results but that the impact has been muted by partial implementation and structural constraints They propose a new agenda for promoting the development of agricultural markets in Sub Saharan Africa identifying areas where governments can play a supportive role They argue that appropriate agricultural marketing policies and investments can improve livelihoods and the economic health of the region
