Seeking Effective Schools For African American Children:

Seeking Effective Schools for African American Children Bunyan I. Bryant, Alan H. Jones, 1993-01-01 Resources in Education, 1998 Improving Educational Outcomes of Vulnerable Children Lloyd D. Beachum, Festus E. Obiakor, 2017-10

Improving Educational Outcomes of Vulnerable Children seeks to examine the plight of vulnerable students in America's educational system. Scholars and practitioners will benefit from this in-depth and unique resource for working with diverse populations of students. The term vulnerable is the current construct used to address students who are at risk of dropping out of school or of being mislabeled because of myriad social, economic, structural, educational, cultural, racial, linguistic, and societal burdens that impinge upon their learning and survival in school environments. These populations can include students in urban areas, students with special needs, and/or at-risk students who are disenfranchised, disadvantaged, and disillusioned. While the term vulnerable is used most often, authors also address students who are oppressed. In such cases, the authors explore power relations, contexts, and situations that place students in positions of powerlessness. A few of the topics discussed include students with special needs, the scholar identity of black males, parent perspectives, teacher preparation, and using technology in the classroom. A diverse group of contributors offer their expertise in this distinctive text. Authors include scholars and practitioners from fields such as educational leadership, special education, teacher education, educational technology, and educational psychology.

Key Features: Explores the diversity of students in today's classrooms; culturally, linguistically, and racially different students; students in urban areas; students with special needs; and/or at-risk students who are disenfranchised, disadvantaged, and disillusioned. Details multiple strategies for teacher preparation and mentoring. Discusses methods for effective parent-teacher collaboration.

Leadership Matters in the Education of Students with Special Needs in the 21st Century Festus E. Obiakor, Tachelle Banks, Anthony F. Rotatori, Cheryl Utley, 2017-09-01

This book provides a practical focus and framework for establishing insightful leadership that will enhance the learning of students with exceptionalities in the 21st century by discussing critical leadership dimensions and topics by leading academics. Topics discussed include the following: shifting leadership paradigms for all students in general and special education; district leadership strategies for implementing individualized academic and behavioral student interventions; preparing leaders to work with students with diverse learning needs; critical leadership roles for regular classroom teachers in educating learners with special needs; innovative leadership to increase school completion and graduation of general and special education learners; why psychologists need to be a part of the school leadership team; the importance of culturally responsive leadership in general and special education; the role of school leaders in helping learners with physical and health impairments; school leadership for all students in rural schools; the use of technology by leaders to improve special education services; an international example model of leadership in general and special education; and future perspectives of leadership in special education.

Leadership Matters in the Education of Students with Special Needs in the 21st Century is a critically needed addition to the successful education of students with exceptionalities as it provides much needed and innovative leadership perspectives for effective instructional practices for today's students with special needs. The book can be a model for best practices for school district leadership teams challenged by the multifaceted needs of students with exceptionalities.

Critical Issues in Preparing Effective Early Childhood Special Education Teachers for the 21 Century Classroom Festus E. Obiakor, Alicja Rieger, Anthony F. Rotatori, 2015-09-01 The purpose of this book is to provide a forum for an interdisciplinary scholarly dialogue with regard to preparing teachers for early childhood special education. In addition, it is aimed at examining and making available relevant and most recent scholarship to practitioners and at addressing critical issues and perspectives around preparing effective educators for the 21st century classroom and the future. This book intends to illuminate a complex and challenging task of preparing effective educators through the lenses of several educational disciplines including but not limited to teacher education, general education, special education, early childhood education, and urban education. The information in this work will focus on several educational disciplines that have the most immediate implications for teacher preparation and practice. The overall educational knowledge base will be enhanced due to the educational interdisciplinary approach. This has additional implications for teacher education, special education, educational leadership, curriculum and instruction, educational policy, and urban education, to name a few. The multidimensional nature of the book gives it the freedom to highlight multiple and diverse voices while at the same time providing a forum for different and sometimes divergent methodologies, philosophies, and ideologies.

School Leadership in a Diverse Society Carlos R. McCray, Floyd D. Beachum, 2014-01-01 The purpose of this work is to broaden the scholarly dialogue in educational leadership and to address the changing role of the American school principal in the twenty-first century with regard to increasing diversity in the United States. This book seeks to provide theoretical and practical insight into the role of school principals dealing with an ever-increasing multicultural student population. We cover an array of issues that we believe are critical in order for the twenty-first century school principal to be effective and relevant. A primary inquiry that needs to be made is: Are school leaders taking seriously the increasing social and cultural diversity in their schools? It is the school principal who sets the tone for the school culture and who provides the vision as to the direction of the organization. We endeavor to help scholars and practitioners have a better understanding of the importance of the diversity of their students and to give them the tools to appropriately lead schools in ways that ensure all students, regardless of their life circumstances and status, are provided a school climate that promotes high academic achievement and a sense of belonging.
