Feldman David Cline,2016-05-26 Morton Feldman is widely regarded as one of America s greatest composers His music is famously idiosyncratic but in many cases the way he presented it is also unusual because in the 1950s and 1960s he often composed in non standard musical notations including a groundbreaking variety on graph paper that facilitated deliberately imprecise specifications of pitch and at times other musical parameters Feldman used this notation intermittently over seventeen years producing numerous graph works that invite analysis as an evolving series Taking this approach David Cline marshals a wide range of source materials many previously unpublished in clarifying the ideology organisation and generative history of these graphs and their formative role in the chronicle of post war music This assists in pinpointing connections with Feldman s compositions in other formats works by other composers notably John Cage and contemporary currents in painting Performance practice is examined through analysis of Feldman s non notated preferences and David Tudor s celebrated interpretations The Best of Fiona Kidman's Short Stories

Sit on Our Hands, or Stand on Our Feet? Roger Philip Abbott,2013-01-07 The aim of Sit on Our Hands or Stand on Our Feet is not to present a theology that explains disasters In fact there is no such theology Nor is this work primarily for those who are responded to it is not part of the theological grab bag that Christian responders carry with them to use for the benefit of casualties It is more a part of the Christian s engaged practical theological apprenticeship prior to and during a response This book represents the role of the practical theologian who empowers the church community s legitimation and contribution in disaster response and who encourages individual Christians whose calling into particularly relevant professions whose natural skills and or professional training could find them placed in a major incident responding status paid or voluntary doing their work as unto the Lord It is a serious must read for any Christians who have hearts heavy with compassion but who are not sure what to do or why when disaster strikes You Don't Have to Be
