Making Blood White Historical Transformations In Early Modern Makassar:

Making Blood White William Cummings, 2002-01-01 Central to his argument is the notion that histories are not just records or representations of the past but are themselves forces or agents capable of transforming the worlds in which humans live Not simply structured by the prevailing social cultural and ideological contexts in which they are made they also shape these contexts BOOK JACKET Making Blood White William Cummings, 2002-03-31 In this study of early modern Makassar in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries William Cummings traces the social cultural and political significance of the transition from oral to literate culture in one region of Indonesia He examines history making the ways in which the past is perceived interpreted and used at a crucial moment in early modern Makassar when conceptions of history are being transformed by the advent of literacy Central to his argument is the notion that histories are not just records or representations of the past but are themselves forces or agents capable of transforming the worlds in which humans live Not simply structured by the prevailing social cultural and ideological contexts in which they are made they also shape these contexts Making Blood White bears in important ways on the historiography of Southeast Asia in general and will be read by students of the region s history and anthropology as well as by those interested in the relationships of history literacy and politics in premodern Asia A Chain of Kings William P. Cummings, 2007-01-01 The chronicles of Gowa and Talloq are the most important historical sources for the study of pre colonial Makassar They have provided the basic framework and much of the information that we possess about the origins growth and expansion of Gowa during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries During this period Gowa and its close ally Talloq became the most powerful force in the eastern Indonesian archipelago and historians have relied heavily on the chronicles to chart the developments of this period Available for the first time in English translation the two texts will offer historians and other scholars an invaluable foundation on which to base interpretations of this crucial place and time in Indonesian history This volume is required reading for scholars of pre modern Southeast Asia including historians linguists anthropologists and others The Makassar Annals William Cummings, 2013-04-09 Beginning in the 1630s a series of annalists at the main courts of Makassar began keeping records with dated entries that recorded a wide variety of specific historical information about a wide variety of topics including the births and deaths of notable individuals the actions of rulers the spread of Islam trade and diplomacy the built environment ritual activity warfare internal political struggles social and kinship relations eclipses and comets and more These Lontaraq bilang were a clear departure in form and function from the genealogically structured chronicles being composed about the ruling families of Gowa and Talloq in the same era By the end of 1751 nearly 2400 entries had been completed These records are a rich lode of information for scholars interested in virtually any aspect of life in premodern Makassar and are a rare and precious resource for scholars of Southeast Asia This is the first English translation and annotation of the annals

Intertidal History in Island Southeast Asia Jennifer L. Gaynor, 2016-06-15 Intertidal History in Island Southeast Asia

shows the vital part maritime Southeast Asians played in struggles against domination of the seventeenth century spice trade by local and European rivals Looking beyond the narrative of competing mercantile empires it draws on European and Southeast Asian sources to illustrate Sama sea people's alliances and intermarriage with the sultanate of Makassar and the Bugis realm of Bon Contrasting with later portrayals of the Sama as stateless pirates and sea gypsies this history of shifting political and interethnic ties among the people of Sulawesi's littorals and its land based realms along with their shared interests on distant coasts exemplifies how regional maritime dynamics interacted with social and political worlds above the high water mark

The Wheel-Turner and His House Geok Goh, 2014-11-30 The recorded history of precolonial Burmese empire and the modern state of Myanmar starts with the kingdom of Bagan in the eleventh century The oldest surviving written records and structures are from the reign of King Anawrahta 1044 1077 Anawrahta converted to Theravada Buddhism and created a vibrant Buddhist state in the Irrawaddy River basin Anawrahta is a folk hero to this day in Myanmar and is widely credited as a charismatic and pious leader who consolidated various ethnic groups throughout the region into a single nation The Wheel Turner and His House traces the archaeological and historical record of Anawrahta and his seminal position in forming modern Myanmar based on the few sources that have been recovered The Great Chronicle an important history of the country written by the 18th century Burmese nobleman U Kala forms the basis for much of the knowledge we have about Anawrahta today Geok Yian Goh examines U Kala's work in light of the context of U Kala's own time and points out the bias of his royal court as well as the scribe's personal views from the elaborate narratives he produced She looks at other sources as well including unpublished palm leaf manuscripts to disentangle earlier knowledge about Anawrahta and eleventh century Bagan Placing the overall study of Burmese historical tradition within the larger manuscript culture of Asia Goh presents a critique of theoretical issues in history especially the relationship between the past and memory In order to analyze the expansion of Anawrahta's historical image that formed the development of a Buddhist ecumene in the eleventh and twelfth centuries Goh utilizes published and unpublished texts in

Burmese and classical Chinese along with northern Thai and Sri Lankan texts many of which Goh makes available for the first time in English

Asian Expansions Geoff Wade, 2014-10-17 Asia as we know it today is the product of a wide range of polity expansions over time Recognising the territorial expansions of Asian polities large and small through the last several millennia helps rectify the fallacy long held and deeply entrenched that Asian polities have been interested only in the control of populations not in expanding their command of territory In countering this misapprehension this book suggests that Asian polities have indeed been concerned with territorial control and expansion over time whether for political or strategic advantage trade purposes defence needs agricultural expansion or increased income through taxation The book explores the historical experiences of a set of polity expansions within Asia specifically in East and Southeast Asia and by examining the motivations mechanisms processes validations and limitations of these Asian territorial expansions reveals the diverse avenues by which Asian polities have grown The chapters draw on these historical examples to highlight the connections between Asian polity expansion and centralised political structures and this aids in a broader and more comprehensive understanding of Asian political practice both past and present Through these chapter studies and the integrative introduction the book interrogates key concepts such as imperialism and colonialism and the applicability and relevance of such terminology in Asian contexts both historical and contemporary Comparisons and contrasts with European historical expansions are also suggested This book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Asian history as well as by those with an interest in Asian interactions international relations polity expansion Asia Europe historical comparisons and globalisation Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Environment, Trade and Society in Southeast Asia, 2015-03-20 In Environment Trade and Society in Southeast Asia A Longue Durée Perspective eleven historians bring their knowledge and insights to bear on the long Braudelian sweep of Southeast Asian history In doing so they seek both to debunk simplistic assumptions about fragile traditions and transformational modernities and to identify real repeating patterns in Southeast Asia's past clientelistic political structures periodic tectonic and climatic disasters ethnic occupational specializations long cycles of economic globalization and deglobalization Their contributions range across many centuries from the Austronesian expansion to the Aceh tsunami and from the Sanskrit cosmopolis to the Asian financial crisis The book is inspired by and dedicated to Peter Boomgaard a scholar whose work has embodied the Braudelian spirit in Southeast Asian historiography This title is available online in its entirety in Open Access

Michael Noble Rachel Parikh Liana Saif Maria Subtelny Farouk Yahya and Travis Zadeh Connectivity in Motion
 Burkhard Schnepel, Edward A. Alpers, 2017-10-30 This original collection brings islands to the fore in a growing body of scholarship on the Indian Ocean examining them as hubs or points of convergence and divergence in a world of maritime movements and exchanges Straddling history and anthropology and grounded in the framework of connectivity the book tackles central themes such as smallness translocality and the island factor It moves to the farthest reaches of the region with a rich variety of case studies on the Swahili Comorian world the Maldives Indonesia and more With remarkable breadth and cohesion these essays capture the circulations of people goods rituals sociocultural practices and ideas that constitute the Indian Ocean world Together they take up islandness as an explicit empirical and methodological issue as few have done before

History Without Borders Geoffrey C. Gunn, 2011-08-01 Astride the historical maritime silk routes linking India to China premodern East and Southeast Asia can be viewed as a global region in the making over a long period Intense Asian commerce in spices silks and ceramics placed the region in the forefront of global economic history prior to the age of imperialism Alongside the correlated silver trade among Japanese Europeans Muslims and others China's age old tributary trade networks provided the essential stability and continuity enabling a brilliant age of commerce Though national perspectives stubbornly dominate the writing of Asian history even powerful state centric narratives have to be re examined with respect to shifting identities and contested boundaries This book situates itself in a new genre of writing on borderland zones between nations especially prior to the emergence of the modern nation state It highlights the role of civilization that developed along with global trade in rare and everyday Asian commodities raising a range of questions regarding unequal development intraregional knowledge advances the origins of globalization and the emergence of new Asian hybridities beyond and within the conventional boundaries of the nation state Chapters range over the intra Asian trade in silver and ceramics the Chinese junk trade the rise of European trading companies as well as diasporic communities including the historic Japan towns of Southeast Asia and many types of technology exchanges While some readers will be drawn to thematic elements this book can be read as the narrative history of the making of a coherent East Southeast Asian world long before the modern period

Historical Dictionary of Indonesia R. B. Cribb, Audrey Kahin, 2004 Indonesia is Asia's third largest country in both population and area a sprawling tropical archipelago of some 180 million people from hundreds of ethnic groups with a complex and turbulent history One of Asia's newly industrializing countries it is already a major economic powerhouse In over 800 clear and succinct entries the dictionary covers people places and organizations as well as economics culture and political thought from Indonesia's ancient history up until the recent past Includes a comprehensive bibliography maps chronology list of abbreviations and appendix of election results and major office holders This second edition has been thoroughly updated and expanded to cover the events that have occurred in Indonesia's history in the past fifteen years

A Grammar of Makasar Anthony Jukes, 2019-12-02 The book is a grammar of the Makasar language

spoken by about 2 million people in South Sulawesi Indonesia Makasarese is a head marking language which marks arguments on the predicate with a system of pronominal clitics following an ergative absolutive pattern Full noun phrases are relatively free in order while pre predicate focus position which is widely used The phonology is notable for the large number of geminate and pre glottalised consonant sequences while the morphology is characterised by highly productive affixation and pervasive encliticisation of pronominal and aspectual elements The work draws heavily on literary sources reaching back more than three centuries this tradition includes two Indic based scripts a system based on Arabic and various Romanised conventions Asian Translation Traditions Eva Tsoi Hung Hung, Judy Wakabayashi, 2014-07-16 Translation Studies one of the fastest developing fields in the humanities since the early 1980s has so far been Euro centric both in its theoretical explorations and in its historical grounding One of the major reasons for this is the unavailability of reliable data and systematic analysis of translation activities in non European cultures While a number of scholars in the Western tradition of translation studies have become increasingly aware of this bias and its problems practically indicates that the burden of addressing such deficiencies and imbalances should be on the shoulders of scholars who are conversant with the non Western translation traditions and capable of engaging in much needed basic research This book brings together eleven scholars with expertise in different Asian translation traditions who highlight language and cultural environments as well as perceptions and modes of operation often different from those in the Western tradition Their contributions enhance our understanding of the various elements that influence the transfer of knowledge across cultures and provide invaluable data for the study of translation as a force for cultural development and cultural planning Contributors include Eva Hung Judy Wakabayashi Lawrence Wong Yoshihiro Osawa Teresa Hyun Keith Taylor Rita Kothari Doris Jedamski Raniela Barbaza and Bill Cummings
