

The background of the cover is an abstract composition of horizontal bands in shades of green, yellow, and blue. A central rectangular inset, slightly offset to the left, contains a darker, more textured image with horizontal streaks of blue, green, and yellow, resembling a close-up of water or a microscopic view. The title is centered over a solid green horizontal band.

The Neuroscience of Human Relationships 2e Louis J. Cozolino,2014-03-24 An exploration of human relationships as understood through basic concepts of interpersonal neurobiology this revised edition reflects the wealth of social neuroscience research just out including how mirror neurons the polyvagal theory and epigenetics affect the architecture and development of brain systems and in turn how we interact with others

Memory and Healing Soren R. Ekstrom,2018-05-01 This book addresses the current demand to apply findings in neuroscience to a broad spectrum of psychotherapy practices It offers clear formulations for what has long been missing in how psychotherapists present their work research based descriptions of specific memory functions and attention to the role that synaptic plasticity and neural integration play in making lasting psychological change possible The book provides a detailed perspective on how patients integrate into their own narratives what transpires in their treatment and how the clinician s memory guides the different phases of the process of healing Long neglected in psychotherapeutic formulations findings about memory in particular episodic and autobiographical memory have a direct bearing on what happens in treatments Whether the information is about the recent past such as what happened between sessions or about traumatic childhood experiences the patient s disclosures are in the service of a more complete narrative about self At the same time the therapist s ways of remembering what occurs in each therapeutic relationship will guide much of the healing process for the patient
