Eternal Belief in Immortality & Worship of the Dead James George Frazer, 2021-05-07 The first volume of Frazer's book comprises the Gifford Lectures he gave at the University of St Andrews in the years 1911 and 1912 and deals with the belief in immortality and the worship of the dead as these are found among the aborigines of Australia the Torres Straits Islands New Guinea and Melanesia In the second volume the author describes the corresponding belief and worship among the Polynesians a people related to their neighbors the Melanesians by language if not by blood Contents The Savage Conception of Death Myths of the Origin of Death The Belief in Immortality among the Aborigines of Central Australia The Belief in Immortality among the other Aborigines of Australia The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of the Torres Straits Islands The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of British New Guinea The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of German New Guinea The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of German and Dutch New Guinea The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of Southern Melanesia New Caledonia The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of Central Melanesia The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of Northern and Eastern Melanesia The Belief in Immortality among the Natives of Eastern Melanesia Fiji The Belief in Immortality among the Maoris The Belief in Immortality among the Tongans The Belief in Immortality among the Samoans The Belief in Immortality among the Hervey Islanders The Belief in Immortality among the Society Islanders The Belief in Immortality among the Marquesans The Belief in Immortality among the Hawaiians     American Lumberman , 1919     The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes, 2014-11-07 Why the rise of redundant precision in architecture and the accompanying fear of error are key to understanding the discipline's needs anxieties and desires When architects draw even brick walls to six decimal places with software designed to cut lenses it is clear that the logic that once organized relations between precision and material error in construction has unraveled

Precision already a promiscuous term seems now to have been uncoupled from its contract with truthfulness. Meanwhile error and the always political space of its dissent has reconfigured itself. In The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes argues that behind the architect's acute fetishization of redundant precision lies a special fear of physical error. What if we were to consider the pivotal cultural and technological transformations of modernism to have been driven not so much by the causes its narratives declare she asks as by an unspoken horror of loss of control over error material life and everything that matter stands for. Hughes traces the rising intolerance of material vagaries from the removal of ornament to digitalized fabrication that produced the blind rejection of organic materials the proliferation of material testing and the rhetorical obstacles that blighted cybernetics. Why is it she asks that the more we cornered physical error the more we feared it. Hughes's analysis of redundant precision exposes an architecture of fear whose politics must be called into question. Proposing error as a new category for architectural thought Hughes draws on other disciplines and practices that have interrogated precision and failure citing the work of scientists Nancy Cartwright and Evelyn Fox Keller and visual artists Gordon Matta Clark Barbara Hepworth Rachel Whiteread and others. These non architect practitioners she argues show that error need not be excluded and precision can be made accountable. American Builder, 1923

The Belief in Immortality and the Worship of the Dead James George Frazer, 2023-12-15 In The Belief in Immortality and the Worship of the Dead James George Frazer explores the profound intersection of mortality belief and ritual across cultures. Through a meticulous analysis of ethnographic evidence Frazer articulates the diverse beliefs surrounding death and the afterlife framing them within a broader context of human psychology and social evolution. His literary style melds narrative clarity with critical scholarship making complex themes accessible to a broad audience. Frazer's inquiries reflect the burgeoning field of anthropology in the early 20th century positioning ritual and belief systems as crucial elements in understanding cultural development. James George Frazer a pioneering Scottish anthropologist and folklorist is best known for his landmark work The Golden Bough. His extensive studies of myth and religion were influenced by his academic background in classical studies which instilled in him a reverence for the interrelation of belief and culture. Frazer's fascination with the spiritual dimensions of life undoubtedly informed his exploration of how societies cope with the concept of mortality and the rituals enacted to honor the dead. This insightful work is essential for anyone intrigued by the intersections of anthropology psychology and religious studies. Frazer's analysis offers profound revelations into how humanity has historically sought to transcend mortality making this book a vital addition to the library of scholars and laypersons alike.

Aesthetic Femininity and Domestic Modernity in Late Victorian Advice Literature Shu-chuan Yan, 2025-09-30 Aesthetic Femininity and Domestic Modernity in Late Victorian Advice Literature considers how the domestic interior is constituted imagined contested and mediated in the public forum of advice literature. It interrogates the construction and negotiation of aesthetic femininity and domestic modernity within the larger contexts of the New Journalism the New Art Criticism a new girls culture and the emerging New Woman phenomenon.

in Britain This book presents extensive new search on women authored advice literature including domestic advice manuals home decoration books and periodicals for young girls and adult women within the discourse of household art Part One justifies girls presence in the cultivation of beauty and taste at home The practice of home decoration can be appropriated as a mode of agency and subjectivity for a girl to articulate her own voice and specific positioning as she grows toward womanhood Part Two uncovers the ways in which advice literature serves as a mediator of decorating practices to help foster the affinities between gentlewomen s domestic bodies and decorated interiors Aimed at an interdisciplinary audience this book adds to the growing body of scholarship on the studies of home cultures art and interior design nineteenth century studies and the social history of women Popular Science ,1931-11 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better The Belief in

Islands, New Guinea and Melanesia James George Frazer,1913 Annual Report of the Commissioner of Labor ,1911 Annual Report of the Commissioner of Labor United States. Bureau of Labor,1911 Industrial Education United States. Bureau of Labor,1911

Annual Report of the Commissioner of Labor United States. Dept. of Labor,1911 The Belief in Immortality and the Worship of the Dead (Complete) Sir James George Frazer,2006-01-01 The subject of these lectures is a branch of natural theology By natural theology I understand that reasoned knowledge of a God or gods which man may be supposed whether rightly or wrongly capable of attaining to by the exercise of his natural faculties alone Thus defined the subject may be treated in at least three different ways namely dogmatically philosophically and historically We may simply state the dogmas of natural theology which appear to us to be true that is the dogmatic method Or secondly we may examine the validity of the grounds on which these dogmas have been or may be maintained that is the philosophic method Or thirdly we may content ourselves with describing the various views which have been held on the subject and tracing their origin and evolution in history that is the historical method The first of these three methods assumes the truth of natural theology the second discusses it and the third neither assumes nor discusses but simply ignores it the historian as such is not concerned with the truth or falsehood of the beliefs he describes his business is merely to record them and to track them as far as possible to their sources Now that the subject of natural theology is ripe for a purely dogmatic treatment will hardly I think be maintained by any one to whatever school of thought he may belong accordingly that method of treatment need not occupy us further Far otherwise is it with the philosophic method which undertakes to enquire into the truth or falsehood of the belief in a God no method could be more appropriate at a time like the present when the opinions of educated and thoughtful men on that profound topic are so unsettled diverse and conflicting A philosophical treatment of the subject might comprise a discussion of such questions as whether a natural knowledge of God is possible to man and if possible by what means and through what faculties it is attainable what are the grounds for believing in the existence of a God and if this belief is justified what may be supposed to be his essential nature and attributes and what his relations to the world in general and to man in particular Now I desire to confess at once that an adequate discussion of these and kindred questions would far exceed both my capacity and my knowledge for he who would do justice to so arduous an enquiry should not only be endowed with a comprehensive and penetrating genius but should possess a wide and accurate acquaintance with the best accredited results of philosophic speculation and scientific research To such qualifications I can lay no claim and accordingly I must regard myself as unfitted for a purely philosophic treatment of natural theology To speak plainly the question of the existence of a God is too deep for me I dare neither affirm nor deny it I can only humbly confess my ignorance Accordingly if Lord Gifford had required of his lecturers either a dogmatic or a philosophical treatment of natural theology I could not have undertaken to deliver the lectures
