Writing Acadia Hans R. Runte, 2023-10-09 The phenomenal development of writing and literary creation among the francophone communities of eastern Canada has gone largely unnoticed and unprobed outside the fragmented land of Acadia Writing Acadia attempts for the first time to observe from a distance the invention of literature in oral Acadia and to interpret assess and order the manifold manifestations of the transition from epic story telling to writing as a means of nation building Having begun to write modern Acadia has truly re written herself into existence an existence now threatened by postmodern unwriting of literature Destined not only for specialists but also and especially for readers with a general interest in literature including students of all levels Writing Acadia presents generous samples of Acadian poetry drama and prose with accompanying English translations From Cohen to Carson Ian Rae, 2008-03-26 From Cohen to Carson provides the first book length analysis of one of Canada's most distinctive fields of literary production Ian Rae argues that Canadian poets have turned to the novel because of the limitations of the lyric but have used lyric methods puns symbolism repetition juxtaposition to create a mode of narrative that contrasts sharply with the descriptive conventions of realist and plot driven novels Yale French Studies, Number 137/138 Thomas C. Connolly, 2021-02-23 Number 137 138 in Yale French Studies this collection of essays examines poetry in French by authors from across the Maghreb Although in recent years Maghrebi literature written in French has enjoyed increased critical attention less attention has been paid specifically to the genre of poetry The sixteen essays collected in this special issue of Yale French Studies show how the poem provides a uniquely privileged perspective from which to examine questions relating to aesthetics linguistics philosophy history autobiography gender the visual arts colonial and postcolonial society and politics and issues relating to the post Arab Spring The Nature of Canada Colin M. Coates, Graeme Wynn, 2019-05-01 Intended to delight and provoke these short beautifully crafted essays enlivened with photos and illustrations explore how humans have engaged with the Canadian environment and what those interactions say about the nature of Canada Tracing a path from the Ice Age to the Anthropocene some of the foremost stars in the field of environmental history reflect on how we as a nation have idolized and found inspiration in nature even as fishers fur traders farmers foresters miners and city planners have commodified it or tried to tame it They also travel lesser known routes revealing how Indigenous people listened to glaciers and what they have to tell us and how even the nature we can't see the smallest of pathogens has served the interests of some while threatening the very existence of others The Nature of Canada will make you think differently not only about Canada and its past but quite possibly about Canada and its future Its insights are just what we need as Canada attempts to reconcile the opposing goals of prosperity and preservation

The Postcolonial Subject in Transit Delphine Fongang, 2018-01-19 The Postcolonial Subject in Transit presents in depth analyses of the complex transitional migratory identities evident in emerging African diasporic writings It provides insights into the hybridity of the migrant experience where the migrant struggles to negotiate new cultural spaces It shows that while some migrants successfully adapt and integrate into new Western locales others exist at the margins unable to fully negotiate cultural difference The diaspora becomes a space for opportunities and economic mobility as well as alienation and uncertainties This illuminates the heterogeneity of the African diasporic narrative expanding the dialogue of the diaspora from one of simply loss and melancholia to self realization and empowerment The Santa Fe Fiesta, Reinvented Sarah Bronwen Horton,2010-06 The Santa Fe Fiesta Reinvented adds a new perspective on the controversial identity formation of New Mexico s Hispanos Through close readings of canonical texts by New Mexican historian Fray Ang lico Ch vez about La Conquistadora a fifteenth century Marian icon to whom legend credits Don Diego De Vargas s peaceful resettlement and through careful attention to the symbolic action of the event this book explores the tropes of gender time genealogy and sexuality through which this form of cultural nationalism is imagined Interviews and archival research reveal that even as Hispanos were increasingly minoritized in the former homeland site of Santa Fe Hispano elites progressively invented and re created the four cultural organizations that organize the Fiesta to lay claim to this disappearing homeland Such organizations not only Hispanicized the Fiesta s content and key roles usurping the role of De Vargas from Anglos but sacralized their claims through foregrounding the role of Hispanos sacred mother La Conquistadora With narratives of Fiesta organizers and colorful vignettes of life in contemporary Santa Fe this book documents Hispanos veiled protest of Anglo imperialism and the transformation of this city into what has been called an Adobe Disneyland October ,1988

Democratisation in Britain John Garrard, 2017-05-01 Democratisation in Britain is a novel reinterpretation of British social and political history since 1800 in light of the continuing debate about democratisation. As such, the book goes far beyond standard histories of political reform. In common with the politics in Northern Europe, North America and Australasia, Britain's democratisation began early and in highly favourable circumstances. The process took place in stages, only half consciously and in the context of a generally benign economic cycle. The country possessed a vibrant civil society at most levels of its adult population along with a flexible, competitive and opportunistic set of political elites. Partly as a result, the popular expectations and demands released by democratisation were modest and untroublesome. Countries undergoing democratisation since 1918 have been far less fortunate and the process is thereby much more difficult. Thus, this book may be seen as portraying an ideal type against which to compare and contrast these later experiences. Democratisation in Britain combines the disciplines of political science and history and will be of interest to scholars and students in both fields.

Minorities, Modernity and the Emerging Nation G. van Klinken, 2021-09-13 This book examines the development of Indonesian nationalism from the viewpoint of a minority, the urban Christian elite. Placed between the Indonesian nationalist promise of freedom and the equally Christian Dutch colonial promise of modernity, their experience of late colonialism was filled with dilemma and ambiguity. Rather than describe dry institutions, this study traces the lives of five politically active Indonesian Christians, both Catholic and Protestant, spanning the late colonial, Japanese occupation and early independence periods: Amir Sjarifoeddin, Bishop Soegijapranata, Kasimo Moelia and Ratu Langie. For most of them, the main problem was not so much the protest against colonialism but the transition to more modern forms of political community. Their status as a religious minority and as urban middle class migrants out of their traditional communities made them more aware that achieving moral consensus was problematic. This book should be of interest to students of Indonesian history as well as those studying the history of Third World nationalism and the history of Christian missions. Out, 1999-01 Out is a fashion style

Money - The New Rules of the Game Christian Felber, 2017-10-25

This book advocates a holistic reform of the current monetary and financial system dealing with the issues of money creation central banks loans stock markets tax justice pension security and the international monetary system Bretton Woods II Its innovative approach presents several alternatives for each cornerstone in addition to introducing a participatory democratic process whereby sovereign citizens can themselves determine the rules governing the new financial and monetary system With democratic money conventions in each municipality where the elements of this new money system are discussed and decided on in a participatory manner and a federal money covenant which then elaborates a template for a referendum about the future money constitution a true sovereign could progressively convert money from a financial weapon into a democratic tool The envisaged democratic monetary system by providing equal opportunities for every member of society to participate in the development of the new rules of the game turns money progressively into a public good which increases the freedom for all The new system furthermore drives the enhancement of constitutional and relational values such as human dignity solidarity justice sustainability or democracy Money should serve life and should serve the common good The Bank for the Common Good Project which was initiated in Austria by the author Christian Felber represents a practical example of his proposals
