Rosenwein, 2000 A new generation of historians today is borrowing from cultural anthropology post modern critical theory and gender studies to understand the social meanings of medieval religious movements practices figures and cults In this volume Sharon Farmer and Barbara H Rosenwein bring together essays all hitherto unpublished that combine some of the best of these new approaches with rigorous research and traditional scholarship Some of these essays re envision the professionals of religion the monks and nuns who carried out crucial social functions as mediators between living and dead repositories for social memory and loci of vicarious piety In their religious life these people embodied an image of the society that produced them Other contributions focus on social categories usually expressed as dichotomies male female insider outsider saint outcast Monks and Nuns Saints and Outcasts is the first book to show the interaction of seemingly antithetical groups of medieval people and the ways in which they were defined by as well as against each other All of the essays taken together form a tribute to Lester K Little pioneer in the study of religion in medieval society

Baeq, Sam Kim, 2022-05-24 The theme of prophets and prophecy is a central area of theological research and discussion in both Christianity and Islam While academic researches on the prophets of Islamic tradition do exist it is rare to find studies which compare them with the biblical accounts based on evangelical theology This book provides theological analysis of the biblical prophets which appear in the Qur'an and the Islamic literature The selection of prophets includes Adam Nuh Noah Ibrahim Abraham Yusuf Joseph Musa Moses Dawud David Ezekiel Dhul Kifl Zakariya Yahya John the Baptist and Mary the Mother of Jesus The contributors are a distinguished group of international scholars who combine impressive academic credentials with extensive ministry among Muslims Moreover the international nature of the contributors lends credibility to the work as an exercise in global theology This book lays a good foundation for the comparison of scriptural and theological traditions of two world major religions and for generating further discussions      Topographies of Power in the Early Middle Ages Mayke de Jong, Frans Theuws, 2001-06-28 The 19 papers presented in this volume by North American and European historians and archaeologists discuss how early medieval political and religious elites constructed places of power and how such places in turn created powerful people They also examine how the high level power exercised by elites was transformed in the post Roman kingdoms of Europe as Roman cities gave way as central stages for rituals of power to a multitude of places and spaces where political and religious power were represented Although the Frankish kingdoms receive a large share of attention contributions also focus on the changing topography of power in the old centres of the Roman world Rome and Constantinople to what centres of power may have meant in the steppes of Inner Asia Scandinavia or the lower Vistula where political power was even more mobile and decentralised than in the post Roman kingdoms as well as to monasteries and their integration into early medieval topographies of power      The Poverty of Riches Kenneth Baxter Wolf, 2005 Saint Francis of Assisi is arguably the most attractive saint ever produced by the Catholic Church Based on a reconsideration of the earliest biographies of the saint and Francis's own writings this title sheds light on the inherent ironies of poverty as a spiritual discipline and its relationship to poverty as a socio economic affliction      From Judgment to Passion Rachel Fulton, Rachel Fulton Brown, 2002 How and why did the images of the crucified Christ and his grieving mother achieve such prominence inspiring unparalleled religious creativity as well such imitative extremes as celibacy and self flagellation To answer this question Fulton ranges over developments in liturgical performance private prayer doctrine and art      The Ashgate Research Companion to the Counter-Reformation Alexandra Bamji, Geert H. Burning Bodies Michael D. Barbezat, 2018-12-15 Burning Bodies interrogates the ideas that the authors of historical and theological texts in the medieval West associated with the burning alive of Christian heretics Michael Barbezat traces these instances from the eleventh century until the advent of the internal crusades of the thirteenth century depicting the exclusionary fires of hell and judicial execution the purifying fire of post mortem purgation and the unifying fire of God's love that medieval authors used to describe processes of social inclusion and exclusion Burning Bodies analyses how the accounts of burning heretics alive referenced affirmed and elaborated upon wider discourses of community and eschatology Descriptions of burning supposed heretics alive were profoundly related to ideas of a redemptive Christian community based upon a divine unifying love and medieval understandings of what these burnings could have meant to contemporaries cannot be fully appreciated outside of this discourse of communal love For them human communities were bodies on fire Medieval theologians and academics often described the corporate identity of the Christian world as a body joined together by the love of God This love was like a fire melting individuals together into one whole Those who did not spiritually burn with God's love were destined to burn literally in the fires of Hell or Purgatory and the fires of execution were often described as an earthly extension of these fires Through this analysis Barbezat demonstrates how presentations of heresy and to some extent actual responses to perceived heretics were shaped by long standing images of biblical commentary and exegesis He finds that this imagery is more than a literary curiosity it is in fact a formative historical agent purity and impurity presented in the last decades have mostly concentrated on the ancient world or on modern developments this volume focusses the hitherto comparatively neglected period between ca 300 and 1600 c E The collection is innovative because it not only combines papers on both European and Asian cultures but also considers a wide variety of religions and confessions The articles are written by leading experts in the field and are presented in six systematic sections This analytical categorization facilitates understanding the functional spectrum that the binomial purity and impurity could cover in past societies The volume thus presents an in depth comparative analysis of a category of paramount importance for interfaith relations and processes of transfer Contributors are Aziz al Azmeh Matthias Bley Sven Bretfeld Miriam Czock Licia Di Giacinto Hans Werner Goetz Elisabeth Hollender Nikolas Jaspert Stefan K ck Stefan Leder Hanna Liss Christopher MacEvitt Hermann Josef R llicke Paolo Santangelo and Ephraim Shoham Steiner The Merovingians in Historiographical Tradition Yaniv Fox,2023-11-16 The Merovingian centuries were a foundational period in the historical consciousness of western Europe The memory of the first dynasty of Frankish kings their origin myths accomplishments and failures were used by generations of chroniclers propagandists and historians to justify a wide range of social and political agendas The process of curating and editing the source material gave rise to a recognizable Merovingian narrative with three distinct phases meteoric ascent stasis and decline Already in the seventh century Chronicle of Fredegar this tripartite model was invoked by a Merovingian queen to prophesy the fate of her descendants This expert commentary sets out to understand how the story of the Merovingians was shaped through a process of continuous historiographical adaptation It examines authors from across a millennium of historical writing and analyzes their influences and objectives charting the often unexpected ways in which their narratives were received and developed The Crowd in the Early Middle Ages Shane

Bobrycki,2024-11-19 The importance of collective behavior in early medieval Europe By the fifth and sixth centuries the bread and circuses and triumphal processions of the Roman Empire had given way to a quieter world And yet as Shane Bobrycki argues the influence and importance of the crowd did not disappear in early medieval Europe In The Crowd in the Early Middle Ages Bobrycki shows that although demographic change may have dispersed the urban multitudes of Greco

Roman civilization collective behavior retained its social importance even when crowds were scarce Most historians have seen early medieval Europe as a world without crowds In fact Bobrycki argues early medieval European sources are full of crowds although perhaps not the sort historians have trained themselves to look for Harvests markets festivals religious rites and political assemblies were among the gatherings used to regulate resources and demonstrate legitimacy Indeed the refusal to assemble and other forms of slantwise assembly became a weapon of the powerless Bobrycki investigates what happened when demographic realities shifted but culture religion and politics remained bound by the past The history of crowds during the five hundred years between the age of circuses and the age of crusades Bobrycki shows tells an important story one of systemic and scalar change in economic and social life and of reorganization in the world of ideas and norms
