Pathochemical Markers in Major Psychoses H. Beckmann, P. Riederer, 2012-12-06 This volume contains the proceedings of the symposium Pathochemical Markers in Major Psychoses held in Vienna in July 1983 The development of biological markers in psychiatric diseases particularly in the field of neurochemistry has made substantial progress during recent years although the multiple mechanisms of mental illness are still not fully understood The greatest contribution has come through the development of new therapeutic agents that not only provide invaluable help for psychiatric patients but also serve as chemical tools for the investigation of the biological mechanisms underlying the disease The catecholamine and serotonin hypotheses for major psychoses have been of particular heuristic value and have stimulated important research However the scope of our scientific endeavours has to be broadened to include other putative biological causes of psychoses e.g. pathomorphological changes aberrations in the metabolism of other amino acids and lipids or the formation of endogenous toxins This book presents new selected studies of the pathochemical bases of schizophrenia and affective psychoses Although several topics were inevitably not included in this symposium we nevertheless hope that it represents an integration of basic pathomorphological research with current clinical findings in the area of pathochemical markers in psychiatry October 1984 HELMUT BECKMANN PETER RIEDERER Contents Neuromorphological Background of Pathochemical Studies in Major Psychoses K. Kennedy, 1994 Towards New Therapies for Parkinson's Disease David Finkelstein, 2011-11-02 Parkinson's disease PD is characterised clinically by various non motor and progressive motor symptoms pathologically by loss of dopamine producing cells and intraneuronal cytoplasmic inclusions composed primarily of synuclein By the time a patient first presents with symptoms of Parkinson's disease at the clinic a significant proportion of the cells in the substantia nigra have already been destroyed This degeneration progresses despite the current therapies until the cell loss is so great that the quality of normal life is compromised The dopamine precursor levodopa is the most valuable drug currently available for the treatment of PD However for most PD patients the optimal clinical benefit from levodopa decreases around five to six years of treatment The aim of the chapters of this book is to work towards an understanding in the mechanisms of degeneration and to develop disease modifying therapies Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1983 Pharmacogenetics of Drug
