thinking reflected a progressive interwar liberalism that found its clearest expression in the 1940 Rowell Sirois report on federal provincial relations The report proposed a redistribution of responsibilities and resources that would allow poorer provinces greater autonomy and reduce overlapping jurisdictions in the federal system Ottawa abandoned Rowell Sirois in the postwar period and Macdonald fell out of step with the national Liberal party that he had once seemed destined to lead Within Nova Scotia however his ardent defence of provincial powers and his commitment to building a modern infrastructure enabled him to win election after election and transform the face and identity of his province

Foord Street Peter Thompson, 2020-02-06 According to its licence plates tourist brochures and commercials Nova Scotia is Canada's Ocean Playground an idyllic vacation spot brimming with traditional cultural experiences Yet this picturesque and welcoming ad friendly facade overlooks the province's history of industrial development the impact of resource extraction on its landscape and the effects of its painful and still unfinished period of deindustrialization Recounting Nova Scotia's struggle to come to terms with its extractive and industrial past Nights below Foord Street focuses on the spaces ignored by the province's annual Doers and Dreamers tourist guide Drawing on literary texts by Lynn Coady Leo McKay Sarah Mian and Jonathan Campbell popular television shows such as Trailer Park Boys and films including Blackbird Cottonland and Poor Boy's Game Peter Thompson examines the ways in which contemporary authors filmmakers and artists explore the lingering consequences of the boom and bust cycles of mining and manufacturing As he demonstrates these narratives depict a legacy of environmental exploitation pollution intermittent disasters and labour violence left behind by the industrial era all of which contrast starkly with the romantic and nostalgic portrait of Nova Scotia's industrial heritage promoted in museums monuments and tourist sites As Donald Trump and other populist politicians appeal to working class nostalgia and international attention converges on environmental racism in northern Nova Scotia Nights below Foord Street intervenes into debates over the cultural and social effects of the post industrial economy Northern Sandlots Colin D.

Howell, 1995-01-01 Northern Sandlots is the story of the rise and fall of regional baseball on the northeast coast of North America Colin Howell writes about the social and economic influence of baseball on community life in the Maritimes and New England during the past century from its earliest spread from cities and towns into the countryside to the advent of television and the withering of local semi pro leagues after the Second World War The history of sport is an important feature of the new social history Howell discusses how baseball has been deeply implicated in debates about class and gender race and ethnicity regionalism and nationalism work and play and the commercialization of leisure Baseball's often overlooked connection to medical and religious discourse is also explored Howell begins with the game's earliest days when it was being molded by progressive reformers to meet what they considered to be the needs of an emerging industrial society He then turns to the interwar years when baseball in the Maritimes became strictly amateur revealing an emerging sense of community solidarity and regional identity The game flourished at the community level after the Second World War before it eventually succumbed to the new commodified and nationally marketed sporting culture that accompanied the development of the modern consumer society Finally Howell shows that fundamental changes in the nature of capitalism after the war and in the economic and social reality of small towns and cities hastened the death of a century long tradition of competitive community level baseball Howell has written an informative and insightful social history that examines the transformation of Maritime community life from the 1860s to the late twentieth century Lucy Maud Montgomery Mary Henley

Rubio,2011-02-18 Mary Henley Rubio has spent over two decades researching Montgomery s life and has put together a comprehensive and penetrating picture of this Canadian literary icon all set in rich social context Extensive interviews with people who knew Montgomery her son maids friends relatives all now deceased are only part of the material gathered in a journey to understand Montgomery that took Rubio to Poland and the highlands of Scotland From Montgomery s apparently idyllic childhood in Prince Edward Island to her passion filled adolescence and young adulthood to her legal fights as world famous author to her shattering experiences with motherhood and as wife to a deeply troubled man this fascinating intimate narrative of her life will engage and delight Setting in the East David Creelman,2003-03-03 He shows that realism arrived comparatively late to the Maritime provinces and argues that the emergence of a realist style corresponded with a dramatic period of economic and cultural disruption during which the Eastern provinces were transformed from one Canada s most developed prosperous and promising regions into one characterized by chronic underemployment and underdevelopment The region is thus torn between its memory of an earlier more traditional social order and its present experience as a modern industrial society These tensions are embedded in the Maritime character and have affected not only the lives of its people but the imaginations and texts of its writers The stories of Thomas Raddall Hugh MacLennan Charles Bruce Ernest Buckler Alden Nowlan Alistair MacLeod Donna Smyth Budge Wilson and David Adams Richards have been deeply influenced by the cultural shifts they have observed In the last two decades a host of new literary voices has emerged and Creelman also explores the works of such writers as Ann Marie MacDonald Lynn Coady Nancy Bauer Deborah Joy Corey Carol Bruneau Alan Wilson Leo McKay and Sheldon Currie He shows that these Maritime artists share a common regional identity that shapes their narratives as they find their own paths through the tensions which envelop them Coast to development of hockey across Canada in both rural and urban settings to ask how ideas about hockey have changed Conceptually broad the essays explore identity formation by investigating what hockey meant to Canadians from the nineteenth century to the Second World War as well as the role of government entrepreneurs and voluntary associations in supporting and promoting the game Coast to Coast is an intriguing look at the development of a national sport a must read for hockey fans and historians alike Unreal Country Glenn Willmott, 2002 Willmott English Queen's U Canada has undertaken a study of modern English language Canadian novels breaking them down into unifying components to allow their consideration as a distinct literary genre Among the authors whose novels are discussed are Bertram Brooker Sinclair Ross Frederick Philip Grove Martha Ostenso Ethel Wilson Thomas Raddall Ernest Buckler and Alice Jones Themes include the nation as youth post colonialism post modernism imperialist ideology and economic class distinctions Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR In the Interval of the Wave Mary McDonald-Rissanen, 2013-12-01 Taking its title from a poem by Prince Edward Island poet Anne Compton In the Interval of the Wave is a close study of diaries written by Prince Edward Island women in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Women from both rural and urban regions of the Island recorded their lives in a genre that allowed them to play with the conventions of the language they knew For busy farm wives their quotidian language syntax and choice of topic appear simple whereas for the urban elite like Margaret Gray Lord and Wanda Wyatt the erudition of their diaries suggests a more leisured existence Mary McDonald Rissanen argues that the initial reception of the text its physical appearance handwriting gaps and flood of words provides interesting insights for understanding the circumstances of Prince Edward Island women from times past Intertextual readings of the diaries alongside other cultural artifacts such as paintings histories folk stories and songs embellish the idiosyncratic diary discourse Diaries enabled women to write their voices create a subjective identity and redefine their place in the world In the Interval of the Wave exposes lives lived and recorded in a special moment and place never far from the rhythm of the sea
