

The background of the entire cover is a detailed historical map of Hertfordshire from 1851. The map is rendered in a monochromatic reddish-pink color. It shows the county's boundaries, major towns like Hertford, St Albans, and Hemel Hempstead, and a dense network of roads and railways. The River Great Ouse is prominent, flowing through the center of the county. Various smaller towns and villages are labeled throughout the landscape.

Population, Economy and Family Structure in Hertfordshire in 1851 Nigel Goose,1996 This title is part of a series based on the work of the University of Hertfordshire Historical Resources Project which with the help of local historians and genealogists has computerized the records for the 167 298 individuals recorded as living in Hertfordshire in the 1851 Census

The Cambridge Economic History of Modern Britain: Volume 1, Industrialisation, 1700-1870 Roderick Floud,Jane Humphries,Paul Johnson,2014-10-09 A new edition of the leading textbook on the economic history of Britain since industrialization Combining the expertise of more than thirty leading historians and economists Volume 1 tracks Britain s economic history in the period ranging from 1700 to 1870 from industrialisation to global trade and empire Each chapter provides a clear guide to the major controversies in the field and students are shown how to connect historical evidence with economic theory and apply quantitative methods New approaches are proposed to classic issues such as the causes and consequences of industrialisation the role of institutions and the state and the transition from an organic to an inorganic economy as well as introducing new issues such as globalisation convergence and divergence the role of science technology and invention and the growth of consumerism Throughout the volume British experience is set within an international context and its performance benchmarked against its global competitors

From Hellgill to Bridge End Margaret E. Shepherd,2003 This is a comparative study of the effects of local regional and national changes of nine parishes in the Upper Eden Valley in north Westmorland during the Victorian years The analysis of 65 000 records from these sources has given a rare if not unique insight into a series of rural parishes

Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Aging in Nineteenth-Century Culture Anne-Julia Zwierlein,Katharina Boehm,Anna Farkas,2013-08-15 This essay collection develops new perspectives on constructions of old age in literary legal scientific and periodical cultures of the nineteenth century Rigorously interdisciplinary the book places leading researchers of old age in nineteenth century literature in dialogue with experts from the fields of cultural legal and social history It revisits the origins of many modern debates about aging in the nineteenth century a period that saw the emergence of cultural and scientific frameworks for the understanding of old age that continue to be influential today The contributors provide fresh readings of canonical texts by Charles Dickens Elizabeth Gaskell Anthony Trollope Thomas Hardy Henry James and others The volume builds momentum in the burgeoning field of aging studies It argues that the study of old age in the nineteenth century has entered a new and distinctly interdisciplinary phase that is characterized by a set of research interests that are currently shared across a range of disciplines and that explore conceptions of old age in the nineteenth century by privileging respectively questions of agency of place of gender and sexuality and of narrative and aesthetic form

The Cambridge Economic History of Modern Britain Roderick Floud,Jane Humphries,Paul Johnson,2014-10-09 A new edition of the leading textbook on the economic history of Britain since industrialization Combining the expertise of more than thirty leading historians and economists Volume 1 tracks Britain

s economic history in the period ranging from 1700 to 1870 from industrialisation to global trade and empire Each chapter provides a clear guide to the major controversies in the field and students are shown how to connect historical evidence with economic theory and apply quantitative methods New approaches are proposed to classic issues such as the causes and consequences of industrialisation the role of institutions and the state and the transition from an organic to an inorganic economy as well as introducing new issues such as globalisation convergence and divergence the role of science technology and invention and the growth of consumerism Throughout the volume British experience is set within an international context and its performance benchmarked against its global competitors St Albans, 1650-1700 J. T. Smith, John Thomas Smith, M. A. North, 2003 This study of St Albans covers the period from the Commonwealth to the accession of Anne which embraces religious and political changes of great interest in the life of a town of strongly dissenting opinion Childhood and Child Labour in Industrial England Katrina Honeyman, 2016-05-23 The purpose of this collection is to bring together representative examples of the most recent work that is taking an understanding of children and childhood in new directions The two key overarching themes are diversity social economic geographical and cultural and agency the need to see children in industrial England as participants even protagonists in the process of historical change not simply as passive recipients or victims Contributors address such crucial subjects as the varied experience of work poverty and apprenticeship institutional care the political voice of children child sexual abuse and children and education This volume therefore includes some of the best innovative work on the history of children and childhood currently being written by both younger and established scholars Hertfordshire Archaeology, 2004 Gender Inequalities, Households and the Production of Well-Being in Modern Europe Tindara Addabbo, Marie-Pierre Arrizabalaga, Alastair Owens, 2016-04-22 Feminist scholars have long pointed out the relevance of the unpaid work that goes on within European households in sustaining the well being of the continent's populations However care work and domestic labour continue to be largely unremunerated and unequally distributed by gender This unique volume of interdisciplinary essays casts new light on the roles that households play in securing the well being of individuals and families uncovering the processes of bargaining and accommodation and conflict and compromise that underpin them Contributors put gender at the centre of their analyses demonstrating the uneven experiences of men and women as both providers and receivers of welfare in European households in both the past and the present As European states grapple with changing family forms a growing population of dependent people increased participation of women in labour markets and a profound shift in the nature and organisation of work this book makes a timely contribution to our understanding of the critical role played by households in mediating processes of economic and social change It offers new challenges to scholars researchers and policy makers eager to address gender inequalities and enhance well being This book is the second of four volumes being published as part of Ashgate's Gender and Well Being series that arise from a programme of international symposia funded by the European Science Foundation under the auspices of COST European Cooperation in
