Portrait Of A Dead Lady:

Reading Dante Gabriel Rossetti Brian Donnelly, 2016-03-03 A revolutionary figure throughout his career Dante Gabriel Rossetti's work provides a distinctly revolutionary lens through which the Victorian period can be viewed. Suggesting that Rossetti's work should be approached through his poetry, Brian Donnelly argues that it is both inscribed by and inscribes the development of verbal as well as visual culture in the Victorian era. In his discussions of modernity, aestheticism, and material culture, he identifies Rossetti as a central figure who helped define the terms through which we approach the cultural productions of this period. Donnelly begins by articulating a method for reading Rossetti's poetry that highlights the intertextual relations within and between the poetry and paintings. His interpretations of such poems as The Mary's Girlhood, Sonnets the sonnet sequence, The House of Life, and The Orchard Pit in relationship to paintings such as The Girlhood of Mary Virgin and Ecce Ancilla Domini shed light on Victorian ideals of femininity, on consumer culture, and on the role of gender hierarchies in Victorian culture. Situating Rossetti's poetry as the key to all of his work, Donnelly also makes a case for its centrality in its representation of the dominant discourses of the late Victorian period: faith, sex, consumption, death, and the nature of representation itself.

The Reality of the Unreal Judit Borbély, 2005 In the nineteenth century, the great cities underwent the most conspicuous transformation. The beauties and the dark side of urban existence soon came to be one of the central issues in contemporary literature and art. In The Reality of the Unreal, the works of four great English writers of the time are analyzed with the focus on their representation of the city. Through the concrete image of London and Paris around the turn of the century, as well as through the metaphorical role of the city as a concept, this book, a new volume in the Philosophiae Doctores series, provides differing views about the age as seen by H. G. Wells, George Gissing, Joseph Conrad, and Henry James. The book's analysis arrives at the complex image of civilization at the end of the nineteenth century.

The Urban Fantastic in Nineteenth-Century European Literature Patricia García, 2022-01-17 The Urban Fantastic in Nineteenth-Century European Literature explores transnational perspectives of modern city life in Europe by engaging with the fantastic tropes and metaphors used by writers of short fiction. Focusing on the literary city and literary representations of urban experience throughout the nineteenth century, the works discussed incorporate supernatural occurrences in a European city, and the supernatural of these stories stems from and belongs to the city. The argument is structured around three primary themes: Architectures, Encounters, and Rhythms. These make reference to three axes of city life: material space, human encounters, and movement. This thematic approach highlights cultural continuities and thus supports the use of the label of urban fantastic within and across the European
