John Bew,1820 A Stranger's Journey David Mura,2018-08-01

Long recognized as a master teacher at writing programs like VONA the Loft and the Stonecoast MFA with A Stranger's Journey David Mura has written a book on creative writing that addresses our increasingly diverse American literature Mura argues for a more inclusive and expansive definition of craft particularly in relationship to race even as he elucidates timeless rules of narrative construction in fiction and memoir His essays offer technique focused readings of writers such as James Baldwin ZZ Packer Maxine Hong Kingston Mary Karr and Garrett Hongo while making compelling connections to Mura's own life and work as a Japanese American writer In A Stranger's Journey Mura poses two central questions The first involves identity How is writing an exploration of who one is and one's place in the world Mura examines how the myriad identities in our changing contemporary canon have led to new challenges regarding both craft and pedagogy Here like Toni Morrison's Playing in the Dark or Jeff Chang's Who We Be A Stranger's Journey breaks new ground in our understanding of the relationship between the issues of race literature and culture The book's second central question involves structure How does one tell a story Mura provides clear insightful narrative tools that any writer may use taking in techniques from fiction screenplays playwriting and myth Through this process Mura candidly explores the newly evolved aesthetic principles of memoir and how questions of identity occupy a central place in contemporary memoir The Camera and the Press Marcy J. Dinius,2012-03-15

Before most Americans ever saw an actual daguerreotype they encountered this visual form through written descriptions published and rapidly reprinted in newspapers throughout the land In The Camera and the Press Marcy

J Dinius examines how the first written and published responses to the daguerreotype set the terms for how we now understand the representational accuracy and objectivity associated with the photograph as well as the democratization of portraiture that photography enabled Dinius's archival research ranges from essays in popular nineteenth century periodicals to daguerreotypes of Americans Liberians slaves and even fictional characters Examples of these portraits are among the dozens of illustrations featured in the book The Camera and the Press presents new dimensions of Nathaniel Hawthorne's The House of the Seven Gables Herman Melville's Pierre Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin and Frederick Douglass's The Heroic Slave Dinius shows how these authors strategically incorporated aspects of daguerreian representation to advance their aesthetic political and social agendas By recognizing print and visual culture as one Dinius redefines such terms as art objectivity sympathy representation race and nationalism and their interrelations in nineteenth century America

The Stranger's Guide and Historical & Biographical Hand-book to Oxford, from the Earliest Ages to the Present Time, 1899

Lynd Ward's Wordless Novels, 1929-1937 Grant F. Scott, 2022-05-30 This book offers the first multidisciplinary analysis of the wordless novels of American woodcut artist and illustrator Lynd Ward 1905-1985 who has been enormously influential in the development of the contemporary graphic novel The study examines his six pictorial novels each part of an evolving experiment in a new form of visual narrative that offers a keen intervention in the cultural and sexual politics of the 1930s The novels form a discrete group much like Beethoven's piano sonatas or Keats's great odes in which Ward evolves a unique modernist style cinematic expressionist futurist realist documentary and grapples with significant cultural and political ideas in a moment when the American experiment and capitalism itself hung in the balance In testing the limits of a new narrative form Ward's novels require a versatile critical framework as sensitive to German Expressionism and Weimar cinema as to labor politics and the new energies of proletarian homosexuality
