Differentiated Learning Kathy Paterson, 2005 Recognising that students bring different backgrounds and cultures to the classroom this text offers a process approach to teaching with multiple student options and varying levels of complexity It shows teachers of various ages how to create dynamic opportunities for language literacy and learning A Place called Nunavut Kim van Dam, 2008-12-31 In 1999 Nunavut Territory was created in the Canadian Arctic The area is about 50 times as large as the Netherlands and is inhabited by a population of 30 000 85% of the population is Inuit the indigenous people in this area The central questions in this research project are what place or regional identities are being ascribed to Nunavut by different groups of people from within and from outside the region and how do these identities work In the process of the formation of the region the territorial Government of Nunavut is an important actor in producing a regional identity that is based on the cultural identity of the Inuit the Inuit Homeland This official regional identity creates a symbolic unity that is important in linking people to the region and through which the land the history and the people are united in a new territorial membership However there is no reason to assume that there is only one regional identity for Nunavut Different individuals or groups of people from within and from outside the region such as the people who live in one of the 25 communities and those who work for the multinational mining corporations or as tourist operators are also involved in the production and reproduction of identities for Nunavut They represent Nunavut for example as a place to live a resource region a wilderness or as a sustainable place Nunavut Government also links these alternative identities to the area because as a government they are not only interested in protecting Inuit culture but also aim to modernize the economy in order to enhance prosperity and well being As such the place identities are hybrid and identities that before were produced only by external actors are now also being produced by internal actors and vice versa CANALS AND DAMS Donna Latham, 2014-01-07 Canals and Dams Investigate Feats of Engineering invites children ages 9 and up to explore the innovation and physical science behind the amazing waterways and barriers our world depends on Trivia and fun facts illustrate engineering ingenuity and achievements from ancient aqueducts to the Suez Canal and the Hoover Dam Readers will discover that engineers and builders alike put their lives on the line to advance civilization experiencing triumphs and tragedies in building big Through dazzling success and heartbreaking failure they developed increasingly sophisticated tools and building methods Activities and projects encourage children to explore the engineering process and to try try again through trial and error They ll engage in hands on explorations of buoyancy Newton s third law of motion and forces that push and pull structures They ll create a paper cup zip line build an arch and simulate a tsunami while experimenting with gravity hydroponics and velocity In Canals and Dams Investigate Feats of Engineering children will gain an appreciation for
