Japan's Cultural Policy Toward China, 1918-1931 See Heng Teow,2020-03-23 Most existing scholarship on Japan's cultural policy toward modern China reflects the paradigm of cultural imperialism In contrast this study demonstrates that Japan while motivated by pragmatic interests international cultural rivalries ethnocentrism moralism and idealism was mindful of Chinese opinion and sought the cooperation of the Chinese government Japanese policy stressed cultural communication and inclusiveness rather than cultural domination and exclusiveness and was part of Japan's search for an East Asian cultural order led by Japan China however was not a passive recipient and actively sought to redirect this policy to serve its national interests and aspirations The author argues that it is time to move away from the framework of cultural imperialism toward one that recognizes the importance of cultural autonomy internationalism and transculturation

2008 Robert Bothwell, Jean Daudelin, Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, 2009 This year's edition of Canada Among Nations offers a critical overview of a number of landmarks in the last hundred years of Canadian foreign policy. The editors take a critical look at the now almost mainstream declinist thesis and at the continued relevance of Canada's relationships with its principal allies: the United Kingdom, France, and the United States. Contributors discuss a broad range of themes including the weight of a changing identity in the evolution of the country's foreign policy; the fate of Canadian diplomacy as a profession; the often complicated relationship between foreign and trade policies; the impact of immigration and refugee procedures on foreign policy; and the evolving understanding of development and defence as components of Canada's foreign policy.
