Transgressing Race Jione Havea, Y. T. Vinayaraj, 2023-08-22 Transgressing is an appropriate response to race as a crime against humanity No one chooses their race at birth yet many suffer because of their race And while many people choose to change citizenship their accents and faces can give them away as outsiders Racism thrives on the categorization of people according to their race Like the Black and White dichotomy other racial and ethnic discriminations such as casteism antisemitism Zionism xenophobia and Islamophobia undergird and promote segregation all around the world Dismantling racism requires challenging racialized oppressions and segregations in sacred texts and contexts in beloved traditions and hallowed theologies This book offers such biblical and theological discourses in order to transgress the discriminative segregations of racism in connection with other forms of exploitative systems or systems The book engages with racialized biblical texts and religious theologies with acts of racial discrimination in connection with slavery and colonialism with agonies of people in diaspora struggles of postcolonial minoritized people courage of indigenous people to subvert and with the race insensitive practices of theological and religious education The contributors are located in Africa Asia North America Europe and Oceania No Family Is an Island Ilana Gershon, 2012-05-08 Government bureaucracies across the globe have become increasingly attuned in recent years to cultural diversity within their populations Using culture as a category to process people and dispense services however can create its own problems and unintended consequences In No Family Is an Island a comparative ethnography of Samoan migrants living in the United States and New Zealand Ilana Gershon investigates how and when the categories cultural and acultural become relevant for Samoans as they encounter cultural differences in churches ritual exchanges welfare offices and community based organizations In both New Zealand and the United States Samoan migrants are minor minorities in an ethnic constellation dominated by other minority groups As a result they often find themselves in contexts where the challenge is not to establish the terms of the debate but to rewrite them To navigate complicated and often unyielding bureaucracies they must become skilled in what Gershon calls reflexive engagement with the multiple social orders they inhabit Those who are successful are able to parlay their own cultural expertise their Samoanness into an ability to subtly alter the institutions with which they interact in their everyday lives Just as the cultural is sometimes constrained by the forces exerted by acultural institutions so too can migrant culture reshape the bureaucracies of their new countries Theoretically sophisticated yet highly readable No Family Is an Island contributes significantly to our understanding of the modern immigrant experience of making homes abroad
