

The background of the entire page is a photograph of a savanna landscape at sunset. A large, dark acacia tree stands in the middle ground, its branches silhouetted against the bright orange and yellow sky. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a strong glow. The foreground is a dry, reddish-brown field with some sparse green grass. In the distance, there are rolling hills or mountains under the hazy sky.

Walking with the Son Christopher Robinson, 2014-02-11 Each day a friendship is made We have the choice what kind of friendship that is going to be The friendship to be cherished above all friendships or yes even greater still than family friends the friendship of the Master Jesus Christ Himself What greater gift than this the one who made it all laying down His life but even still we seem to grumble and complain How can this be when there is a hand reaching out calling asking for a friendship Still we continue on seemingly without a care just watching hoping for better Why I often wonder when all around us is evidence of better still We seem to say evidence of what My mind cannot understand We are promised no limits We look at this in unbelief and say no limits How how can this be But all the while still pleading almost begging as you will crying out is the never ending Who is it What is it Can this be for real Have I gone crazy No my mind must be playing tricks on me No this is for real We have the power to choose Stop we say I can't take it I must be going crazy Then we question is this for real

Could this be real Do I even have the power to choose Every day a friendship is made unique one of a kind but known is more special than the gift given from God a relationship with Him To have to hold to cherish the beauty of a friendship The Christian's Only Comfort in Life and Death Theodorus VanderGroe,2016-12-15 The Christian s Only Comfort is the sermonic exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism by Theodore VanderGroe 1705 1784 a prominent divine of the Dutch Further Reformation VanderGroe s exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism could be considered his magnum opus and in some ways it was esteemed as highly by the godly in the Netherlands as The Christian s Reasonable Service of Wilhelmus Brakel In this able exposition of the Heidelberg Catechism we find the unmistakable characteristics of the Dutch Further Reformation it is steeped in Scripture it is very pastoral and it promotes a robust comprehensive form of Reformed piety
