THE BAILY SUMMIT OF KING LEON X

On the 15th of March, 1517, King Leon X of France held a summit in the city of Baily. The summit was attended by the King, his advisors, and representatives from the French nobility. The main purpose of the summit was to discuss the recent military campaigns in Italy and the future of the French empire.

The King was accompanied by his favorite mistress, Anne de Montmorency, who was a powerful figure in the French court. The summit was held in a grand hall, and the King gave a speech in which he outlined his vision for the future of France. He declared that France would remain a Catholic country, and that he would continue to support the papacy.

The summit was a success, and the King's vision for the future of France was accepted by his advisors and the nobility. The summit was a turning point in the history of France, and it marked the beginning of the reign of absolute monarchy in France.
