The Impact of Mining Lifecycles in Mongolia and Kyrgyzstan Troy Sternberg, Kemel Toktomushev, Byambabaatar Ichinkhorloo, 2021-09-26 This volume investigates how mining affects societies and communities in Mongolia and Kyrgyzstan As ex Soviet states Mongolia and Kyrgyzstan share history culture and transitions to democracy Most importantly both are mineral rich countries on China's frontier and epicentres of resource extraction This volume examines challenges communities in these countries encounter on the long journey through resource exploration extraction and mine closure The book is organised into three related sections that travel from mine licensing and instigation to early anticipation of benefit through the realisation of social and environmental impacts to finite issues such as jobs monitoring dispute resolution and reclamation Most originally each chapter will include a final section entitled Notes from the field that presents the voice of in country researchers and stakeholders These sections will provide local contextual knowledge on the chapter's theme by practitioners from Mongolia and Central Asia The volume thereby offers a distinctively grounded perspective on the tensions and benefits of mining in this dynamic region Using Mongolia and Kyrgyzstan as case studies the volume reflects on the evolving challenges communities and societies encounter with resource extraction worldwide The book will be of great interest to students and scholars of mining and natural resource extraction corporate social responsibility and sustainable development

Culture and Customs of Mongolia Timothy May, 2008-11-30 The Gobi Desert cold mountainous regions and harsh climate of Mongolia leave it with one of the lowest population densities in the world Nonetheless Mongolians are proud of their long heritage and carry even today their customs of the past In this all inclusive study of contemporary Mongolian life readers will learn about nomadic lifestyles still practiced today Other topics covered include Buddhism and other religions literature arts cuisine dress family life festivals and leisure activities social customs and lifestyle May also includes an overview of Chinggis Khan the father of the Mongol Empire and his legacy in Mongolian culture today Ideal for high school and undergraduate students this volume is an essential addition to library shelves

A History of Land Use in Mongolia Elizabeth Endicott, 2012-11-12 An illustrated

history of the pastoral nomadic way of life in Mongolia this book examines the many challenges that Mongolian herders continue to face in the struggle over natural resources in the post socialist free market era Modern Mongolia Morris Rossabi, 2005-04-25 A comprehensive history of post Communist Mongolia Soviet Orientalism and the Creation of Central Asian Nations Alfrid K. Bustanov, 2014-11-20 Orientalism the idea that the standpoint of Western writers on the East greatly affected what they wrote about the East the Other applied also in Russia and the Soviet Union where the study of the many exotic peoples incorporated into the Russian Empire often in quite late imperial times became a major academic industry where as in the West the standpoint of writers greatly affected what they wrote Russian Soviet orientalism had a particularly important impact in Central Asia where in early Soviet times new republics later states were created often based on the distorted perceptions of scholars in St Petersburg and Moscow and often cutting across previously existing political and cultural boundaries The book explores how the Soviet orientalism academic industry influenced the creation of Central Asian nations It discusses the content of oriental sources and discourses considers the differences between scholars working in St Petersburg and Moscow and those working more locally in Central Asia providing a rich picture of academic politics and shows how academic cultural classification cemented political boundaries often in unhelpful ways From Conflict to Autonomy in the Caucasus Arsène Saparov, 2014-08-27 This book is the first historical work to study the creation of ethnic autonomies in the Caucasus in the 1920s the transitional period from Russian Empire to Soviet Union Seventy years later these ethnic autonomies were to become the loci of violent ethno political conflicts which have consistently been blamed on the policies of the Bolsheviks and Stalin According to this view the Soviet leadership deliberately set up ethnic autonomies within the republics thereby giving Moscow unprecedented leverage against each republic From Conflict to Autonomy in the Caucasus questions this assumption by examining three case studies Abkhazia South Ossetia and Nagorno Karabakh are placed within the larger socio political context of transformations taking place in this borderland region during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It examines demographic social and economic consequences of the Russian colonization and resulting replacement of traditional societies and identities with modern ones Based on original Russian language sources and archival materials the book brings together two periods that are usually studied separately the period of the Russian Civil War 1917-20 and the early Soviet period in order to understand the roots of the Bolshevik decision making policy when granting autonomies It argues that rather than being the product of blatant political manipulation this was an attempt at conflict resolution The institution of political autonomy however became a powerful tool for national mobilization during the Soviet era Contributing both to the general understanding of the early Soviet nationality policy and to our understanding of the conflicts that have engulfed the Caucasus region since the 1990s this book will be of interest to scholars of Central Asian studies Russian Soviet history ethnic conflict security studies and International Relations

Muslim-Christian Relations in Central Asia Christian van Gorder, 2008-06-05 This book explores issues of cultural tension that affect Muslim and Christian interaction within the Central Asian context It looks at the ways that Christians have interacted with Central Asian Muslims in the past and discusses what might need to be done to improve Muslim Christian relations in the region in the present and future Since the time that Nestorian Christian missionaries traveled eastward from Asia Minor along the Silk Road and Islamic cultures came to the region in the 7th century Christians and Muslims have shared a unique relationship in a fascinating cultural milieu Under the reigns of various conquerors Czars Soviets and modern nationalist strong men the ever changing political and economic situation of these former Soviet Republics has dramatically affected the ways that Muslims and Christians have practiced their faith Today as Muslims and Christians work to stabilize their interactions they face new challenges because of the activities of Protestant Christian and Islamist missionaries who are flooding into Central Asia as never before The book corrects common misunderstandings of Central Asia as a cultural backwater and is a valuable introduction to Muslim and Christian interactions in one of the most quickly changing regions of the globe It will appeal to readers interested in Muslim Christian interaction and for researchers in the field of World Religions Central Asian Studies and Intercultural Studies Kazakhstan - Ethnicity, Language and Power

Bhavna Dave, 2007-09-13 Kazakhstan is emerging as the most dynamic economic and political actor in Central Asia It is the second largest country of the former Soviet Union after the Russian Federation and has rich natural resources particularly oil which is being exploited through massive US investment Kazakhstan has an impressive record of economic growth under the leadership of President Nursultan Nazarbaev and has ambitions to project itself as a modern wealthy civic state with a developed market economy At the same time Kazakhstan is one of the most ethnically diverse countries in the region with very substantial non Kazakh and non Muslim minorities Its political regime has used elements of political clientelism and neo traditional practices to bolster its rule Drawing from extensive ethnographic research interviews and archival materials this book traces the development of national identity and statehood in Kazakhstan focusing in particular on the attempts to build a national state It argues that Russification and Sovietization were not simply top down processes that they provide considerable scope for local initiatives and that Soviet ethnically based affirmative action policies have had a lasting impact on ethnic lite formation and the rise of a distinct brand of national consciousness Islamic Education in the Soviet Union and Its Successor States Michael Kemper, Raoul Motika, 2009-09-11 This book provides a comparative history of Islamic education in the Soviet Union and the post Soviet countries Case studies on Ukraine Azerbaijan Kazakhstan Uzbekistan and Tajikistan and on two regions of the Russian Federation Tatarstan and Daghestan highlight the importance which Muslim communities in all parts of the Soviet Union attached to their formal and informal institutions of Islamic instruction New light is shed on the continuity of pre revolutionary educational traditions including Jadidist ethics and teaching methods throughout the New Economic Policy period 1921 1928 on Muslim efforts to maintain their religious schools under Stalinist repression and on the complete institutional breakdown of the Islamic educational sector by the late

1930s A second focus of the book is on the remarkable boom of Islamic education in the post Soviet republics after 1991 Contrary to general assumptions on the overwhelming influence of foreign missionary activities on this revival this study stresses the primary role of the Soviet Islamic institutions which were developed during and after the Second World War and of the persisting regional and even international networks of Islamic teachers and muftis Throughout the book special attention is paid to the specific regional traditions of Islamic learning and to the teachers affiliations with Islamic legal schools and Sufi brotherhoods The book thus testifies to the astounding dynamics of Islamic education under rapidly changing and oftentimes extremely harsh political conditions

Everyday Islam in Post-Soviet Central Asia

Maria Elisabeth Louw, 2007-05-09 Providing a wealth of empirical research on the everyday practise of Islam in post Soviet Central Asia this book gives a detailed account of how Islam is understood and practised among ordinary Muslims in the region focusing in particular on Uzbekistan It shows how individuals negotiate understandings of Islam as an important marker for identity grounding for morality and as a tool for everyday problem solving in the economically harsh socially insecure and politically tense atmosphere of present day Uzbekistan Presenting a detailed case study of the city of Bukhara that focuses upon the local forms of Sufism and saint veneration the book shows how Islam facilitates the pursuit of more modest goals of agency and belonging as opposed to the utopian illusions of fundamentalist Muslim doctrines

Soviet Nation-Building in Central Asia Grigol Ubiria, 2015-09-16 The demise of the Soviet Union in 1991 resulted in new state led nation building projects in Central Asia The emergence of independent republics spawned a renewed Western scholarly interest in the region s nationality issues Presenting a detailed study this book examines the state led nation building projects in the Soviet republics of Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan Exploring the degree forms and ways of the Soviet state involvement in creating Kazakh and Uzbek nations this book places the discussion within the theoretical literature on nationalism The author argues that both Kazakh and Uzbek nations are artificial constructs of Moscow based Soviet policy makers of the 1920s and 1930s This book challenges existing arguments in current scholarship by bringing some new and alternative insights into the role of indigenous Central Asian and Soviet officials in these nation building projects It goes on to critically examine post Soviet official Kazakh and Uzbek historiographies according to which Kazakh and Uzbek peoples had developed national collective identities and loyalties long before the Soviet era This book will be a useful contribution to Central Asian History and Politics as well as studies of Nationalism and Soviet Politics

Growing Up in the North Caucasus Irina Molodikova, Alan

Watt, 2014-01-03 Investigating changes in upbringing in the North Caucasus a region notorious for violent conflict this book explores the lives of the generation born after the dissolution of the USSR who grew up under conditions of turmoil and rapid social change It avoids the traditional presentation of the North Caucasus as a locus of violence and instead presents the life of people in the region through the lens of the young generation growing up there Using focus groups with teachers and students of different ethnic groups as well as surveys and essays written by children the book suggests that while the legacy of conflict plays a role in many children's lives it is by no means the only factor in their upbringing. It explores how conflict has influenced upbringing and goes on to consider factors such as the revival of religion, the impact of social and economic upheaval and the shifting balance between school and parents. As well as revealing the dynamic influences on children's upbringing in the region, the book presents recommendations on how to address some of the challenges that arise. The role of government in education is also evaluated and prospects for the future are considered. The book is useful for students and scholars of Education, Sociology and Central Asian Studies.

Post-Conflict Tajikistan John Heathershaw, 2009-05-07

Post-Soviet post-conflict Tajikistan is an under-studied and poorly understood case in conflict studies literature. Since 2000 this Central Asian state has seen major political violence end, countrywide order emerge and the peace agreement between the parties of the 1990s civil war hold. Superficially Tajikistan appears to be a case of successful international intervention for liberal peacebuilding, yet the Tajik peace is characterised by authoritarian governance. Via discourse analysis and extensive fieldwork including participant observation with international organizations, the author examines how peacebuilding is understood and practised. The book challenges received wisdom that peacebuilding is a process of democratisation or institutionalisation, showing how interventions have inadvertently served to facilitate an increasingly authoritarian peace and fostered popular accommodation and avoidance strategies. Chapters investigate assistance to political parties and elections, the security sector and community development and illustrate how transformative aims are thwarted whilst success is simulated for an audience of international donors. At the same time, the book charts the emergence of a legitimate order with properties of authority, sovereignty and livelihoods. Providing a challenge to the theoretical literature on peacebuilding and concentrating on an under-studied Central Asian state, this book will be of interest to academics working on Peace Studies, International Relations and Central Asian Studies.

Ethno-Nationalism, Islam and the State in the Caucasus Moshe Gammer, 2007-10-22

With the region of the Caucasus with its ongoing and even deteriorating crisis and instability and its strategic and economic importance increasingly at the front of the world's attention, this volume presents and discusses some of the complexities and problems arising in the region, such as Islamic terrorists and al-Qaida. Scholars from different disciplines who specialise in the Caucasus analyze key topics such as discussions of grass-root perceptions, the influence of informal power structures on ethnic conflicts in the Caucasus, Russian policies towards Islam and their destabilising influence, the influence of Islamic revival on the legal and social situations, nationalism and the revival of pre and sub-national identities, shifts in identity as reflected in demography, reasons for the Chechen victory in the first Chechen war, the involvement of Islamic volunteers in Chechnya. With the situation in Chechnya likely to spread across the entire North Caucasus, this cutting-edge work will be of great value in the near future and will interest political scientists and regional experts of Russia, Central Asia, Caucasus, Middle East and Turkey, as well as NGOs, government agencies and think tanks.

Turkmenistan's Foreign Policy Luca Anceschi, 2008-07-25

Turkmenistan, an independent nation since 1991, is a strategically important Central Asian

state This book covers the most significant period of the establishment of the Turkmen political regime At the core of this book is the Doctrine of Positive Neutrality which from 1995 onwards constituted the theoretical backbone for the foreign policy of post Soviet Turkmenistan The author analyses the reason and aim of the concept its significance for and impact on the country s domestic and foreign relations its practical implementation and its transformation into a tool of strengthening of absolute personal authority Furthermore he establishes whether Positive Neutrality has to be seen as a domestic oriented foreign policy which has been used by the Turkmen regime to reinforce its internal position This is the first book length and thorough analysis of Turkmenistan s foreign policy It furthers our understanding of Turkmenistan and provides an informed background for the study of its foreign policy It fills a void in the current literature and it will constitute an essential reference for most scholars and researcher focusing on contemporary Central Asia Russian foreign policy Foreign Policy International Relations and Comparative Politics Conflict Transformation in Central Asia Christine Bichsel,2009-01-13 This book provides the first systematic analysis of peace building in Central Asia for inter ethnic conflicts over water and land in the Ferghana Valley based on concrete in depth and on site investigation The core analysis centres on peace building projects in Kyrgyzstan Uzbekistan and Tajikistan by three international aid agencies an international NGO a bilateral governmental donor and a multilateral agency and the shared approach which the donors developed and used for conflict transformation Using ethnographic case material the author critically examines both the theoretical assumptions guiding this approach and its empirical outcomes when put into practice Building on existing work in conflict transformation and the ethnography of international assistance in Central Asia the book sheds light on Western attempts to transform the post socialist societies of Central Asia and provides fresh empirical data on and insights into irrigation practices social institutions and state and identity formation in the Ferghana Valley The book provides a novel and innovative approach to the study of development assistance and peace building It will be of interest to researchers in the field of Central Asian Studies post Soviet Studies Development and Peace and Conflict Studies Party System Formation in Kazakhstan Rico Isaacs,2011-03-21 Since the collapse of the Soviet Union Central Asian states have developed liberal constitutional formal institutions However at the same time political phenomena in Central Asia are shaped by informal political behaviour and relations This relationship is now a critical issue affecting democratization and regime consolidation processes in former Soviet Central Asia and this book provides an account of the interactive and dynamic relationship between informal and formal politics through the case of party system formation in Kazakhstan Based on extensive interviews with political actors and a wide range of historical and contemporary documentary sources the book utilises and develops neopatrimonialism as an analytical concept for studying post Soviet authoritarian consolidation and failed democratisation It illustrates how personalism of political office patronage and patron client networks and factional elite conflict have influenced and shaped the institutional constraints affecting party development the type of emerging parties and parties relationship with society

The case of Kazakhstan however also demonstrates how in the former Soviet space political parties emerge as central to the legitimization of informal political behavior the structuring of factional competition and the consolidation of authoritarianism The book represents an important contribution to the study of Central Asian Politics The Military and the State in Central Asia Erica Marat, 2009-10-16 The military played a pivotal role in the political development state functions foreign policy and the daily lives of the people in the Central Asian states from the early twentieth century until the present This book is the first major in depth study of the military institutions in Central Asian states It examines their hidden story the different stages of their development from the early twentieth century until the present and the influence they had on the state and society It effectively combines history sociology of the military and political science and provides deeper insights into how recently formed states function By concentrating extensively on the military this book is an important and a timely contribution to a wide range of disciplines including Central Asian studies and post colonial state and nation building studies
