Hearing Voices Sarah Finley, 2019-02 Hearing Voices takes a fresh look at sound in the poetry and prose of colonial Latin American poet and nun Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz 1648-1695 A voracious autodidact Sor Juana engaged with early modern music culture in a way that resonates deeply in her writing Despite the privileging of harmony within Sor Juana's work however links between the poet's musical inheritance and subjects such as acoustics cognition writing and visual art have remained unexplored These lacunae have marginalized nonmusical aurality and contributed to the persistence of both ocularcentrism and a corresponding visual dominance in scholarship on Sor Juana and indeed in early modern cultural production in general As in many areas of her work Sor Juana's engagement with acoustical themes restructures gendered discourses and transposes them to a feminine key Hearing Voices focuses on these aural conceits in highlighting the importance of sound and in most cases its relationship with gender in Sor Juana's work and early modern culture Sarah Finley explores attitudes toward women's voices and music making intersections of music rhetoric and painting aurality in Baroque visual art sound and ritual and the connections between optics and acoustics Finley demonstrates how Sor Juana's striking aurality challenges ocularcentric interpretations and problematizes paradigms that pin vision to logos writing and other empirical models that traditionally favor men's voices Sound becomes a vehicle for women's agency and responds to anxiety about the female voice particularly in early modern convent culture

Visualizing Sensuous Suffering and Affective Pain in Early Modern Europe and the Spanish Americas

,2018-01-03 Visualizing Sensuous Suffering and Affective Pain in Early Modern Europe and the Spanish Americas is a transnational collection of studies on visual treatments of the phenomena of suffering and pain in early modern culture. Ranging geographically from Italy, Spain and the Low Countries to Chile, Mexico and the Philippines and chronologically from the fourteenth to the eighteenth centuries, these studies variously consider pain and suffering as somatic, emotional and psychological experiences. From examination of bodies shown victimized by brutal public torture to the sublimation of physical suffering conveyed through the incised lines of Counter Reformation engravings, the authors consider depictions of pain and suffering as conduits to the divine or as guides to social behaviour; indeed often the two functions overlap.

Sacralidad y transgresión en la literatura y el arte María Antonieta Gómez Goyeneche, 2024-08-09 El libro "Sacralidad y transgresión en la literatura y el arte" de Tomás Carrasquilla Díaz y Dora Arango explora comparativamente los mecanismos artísticos de la sacralidad y de la transgresión y los condicionamientos históricos sociales en la literatura y la pintura esenciales para comprender la interrelación y complejidad de las manifestaciones estéticas nacionales. Toda vez que en el contexto colombiano la crítica literaria y la crítica del arte poseen desarrollos diferentes y hasta desiguales en términos evolutivos sin llegar a establecer un diálogo significativo entre dichos saberes y prácticas culturales. En los autores seleccionados Tomás Carrasquilla y Dora Arango llama la atención su profunda religiosidad que sin embargo no les impidió en ciertas obras tener una visión crítica de este tema tan ligado en el país en su poca apariencia en ambos con una actitud humorística y a veces hasta jocosamente paródica frente a los contrasentidos de la vida de los feligreses así como de los miembros de la institución eclesiástica.

Los autores estudian

los usos de las imágenes en la época las lenguas doctrinales que legitimaron su apropiación y el influjo de los patrones artísticos tanto locales como europeos En esta obra se ha puesto en contexto histórico y tecnológico buena parte de la colección de arte de una de las rdenes religiosas determinantes para la configuración espiritual social y cultural de la sociedad colonial Death and Dying in Colonial Spanish America Martina Will de Chaparro,Miruna Achim,2011-12-01 When the Spanish colonized the Americas they brought many cultural beliefs and practices with them not the least of which involved death and dying The essays in this volume explore the resulting intersections of cultures through recent scholarship related to death and dying in colonial Spanish America between the sixteenth and eighteenth centuries The authors address such important questions as What were the relationships between the worlds of the living and the dead How were these relationships sustained not just through religious dogma and rituals but also through everyday practices How was unnatural death defined within different population strata How did demographic and cultural changes affect mourning The variety of sources uncovered in the authors original archival research suggests the wide diversity of topics and approaches they employ Nahua annals Spanish chronicles Inquisition case records documents on land disputes sermons images and death registers Geographically the range of research focuses on the viceroyalties of New Spain Peru and New Granada The resulting records both documentary and archaeological offer us a variety of vantage points from which to view each of these cultural groups as they came into contact with others Much less tied to modern national boundaries or old imperial ones the many facets of the new historical research exploring the topic of death demonstrate that no attitudes or practices can be considered either Western or universal
