progressively modified and used to address an ever widening range of developmental questions In recent years a convergence of new or improved cell culture biochemical electrophysiological and immunological methods has occurred and been brought to bear on neurobiological questions This volume is intended not to be comprehensive but rather to highlight some of the latest findings with a review of previous important work as well in which combinations of these methods are used

Kelly,Robert A. Kyle,Norman Latov,2012-12-06 Plasma cell dyscrasias are common causes of peripheral neuropathy Peripheral neuropathy may be the first manifestation of multiple myeloma amyloidosis or monoclonal gammopathy of undetermined significance MGUS Peripheral neuropathy occurs in more than one half of patients with osteosclerotic myeloma The hematologic disorders are such an important association with peripheral polyneuropathy that for the last decade we have obtained a metastatic bone survey and immunoelectrophoresis of serum and a 24 hour urine specimen on all patients older than 40 years with undiagnosed peripheral neuropathy This textbook on polyneuropathies and plasma cell dyscrasia is welcome because the subject is of considerable medical importance and because the authors are expert in these disorders Kelly s studies have shown that a systematic search for monoclonal proteins in plasma and urine among patients with neuropathy of unknown cause increases diagnostic yield Latov s studies have focused on the role of myelin associated glycoproteins MAG in the induction of neuropathy Kyle director of the Special Protein Laboratory at Mayo Clinic brings a broad clinical and laboratory perspective and experience The timing of the textbook is just right because there is much new information which needs to be summarized News ,1993 Neurobiology of Sensory Systems R. Naresh Singh,Nicholas J. Strausfeld,2013-11-11 The traveller to India is urged to visit that country s western shore with the Arabian Sea where about 300 miles to the south of Bombay an exceedingly lovely coast reaches the peak of its harmony at the erstwhile Portuguese enclave of Goa The ambience of this alluring province is an exquisite balance of palm trees and rice fields aged colonial homes many still elegant and brightly painted slowly being swallowed up by the exuberant tropical vegetation incredible blossoms colorful and courteous people and deeper inland some splendid examples of 17th and 18th century Portuguese ecclesiastical architecture A feast for the eyes by day and in the evening enough fresh fish and other good food to satisfy the most demanding gourmet This was the paradisiacal setting for the first International Conference on the Neural Organization of Sensory Systems ICONOSS for short sponsored jointly by the International Brain Research Organization IBRO the Tata Institute for Fundamental Research at Bombay the Department of Atomic Energy of the Government of India and the Department of Science and Technology of the Government of India About 100 participants were pleasantly confined at Fort Aguada a resort cunningly built amongst the ruins of an old Portuguese fort The conference program achieved an international flavor
