Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafah, 2006-02-20 No Time for Tears Lora Wood Hughes, 1985-01-01 In her later years while World War II was raging Lora Wood Hughes wrote about her busy and interesting life as a nurse The reissue of No Time for Tears long out of print restores her voice to human memory During a career that took her to Hawaii Montana Washington and Canada she never stopped caring for people and some of them would have tried anyone's patience Among her cases described in lively detail here are a stingy dowager and a measles ridden prostitute who causes her to be quarantined in a house of ill fame The crazy patterns of her rich and humane life continued into World War II when instead of resting in her home on Puget Sound she supervised a Red Cross hospital unit Finding Space Ann Belford

Ulanov, 2001-01-01 In Finding Space Ann Belford Ulanov argues that depth psychology in general and the work of D W Winnicott in particular offer vital new ways in which to apprehend religious life especially Christian religious life Her inspiration is rooted in Winnicott's influence on her work as an analyst and how his ideas have enriched her own Christian faith and religious understanding In addition Ulanov feels Winnicott's focus on the intensity of aliveness is an antidote to the plight of contemporary religion that it can be passionless or rote and thereby irrelevant to so many people She expands Winnicott's concept of transitional space between self and other to apply to the space between the human and divine She explores the importance of the illusionist element of God images in creative approaches to the divine Other topics include the paradox transitional reality holds with subjective and objective notions Christians have of God the inclusion of the body specifically sexuality and aggression and the struggle for integration within the self in the search for relationship with God and the importance of the feminine In an especially helpful appendix Ulanov includes Winnicott's thoughts on matters pertinent to religious life and thought examines reoccurring narrative structures in popular media that perpetuate the extreme value placed upon young gay male bodies while devaluing health aging and longevity Alienated from the future outside of limited and exclusionary systems of marriage and procreation the gay male is narrated within a circular tragedy that draws upon cultural mythologies of older gay male predation the absence of gay intergenerational mentorship and the gay male as sacrificial victim Using a Burkean framework Goltz makes a theoretical rhetorical and cultural investigation of how the increased visibility of positive gay representation in dominant media shapes contemporary meanings of gay aging heteronormative future homonormative future and queer potential
