Following on from the previous publication Is Landscape which examined the plural and promiscuous identities of the landscape idea, this companion volume reflects upon the diverse and multiple meanings of landscape as a discipline, profession and medium. This book is intended for academics, researchers and students in landscape architecture and cognate disciplines. Chapters address various overlooked aspects of landscape that develop, disturb and diversify received understandings of the field. Framed as an inquiry into the relationship of landscape to the forms of human subjectivity, the book features contributions from leading voices who challenge the contemporary understandings of the field in relation to capital and class, race and gender, power and politics and more. Canadian Books in Print 2002 Edited by Butler Marian, Marian Butler, 2002-02. Containing more than 48000 titles of which approximately 4000 have a 2001 imprint, the author and title index is extensively cross referenced. Landscape in Children's Literature Jane Carroll,2012-08-06 This book provides a new critical methodology for the study of landscapes in children s literature Treating landscape as the integration of unchanging and irreducible physical elements or topoi Carroll identifies and analyses four kinds of space sacred spaces green spaces roadways and lapsed spaces that are the component elements of the physical environments of canonical British children s fantasy Using Susan Cooper s The Dark Is Rising Sequence as the test case for this methodology the book traces the development of the physical features and symbolic functions of landscape topoi from their earliest inception in medieval vernacular texts through to contemporary children s literature The identification and analysis of landscape topoi synthesizes recent theories about interstitial space together with earlier morphological and topoanalytical studies enabling the study of fictional landscapes in terms of their physical characteristics as well as in terms of their relationship with contemporary texts and historical precedents Ultimately by providing topoanalytical studies of other children s texts Carroll proposes topoanalysis as a rich critical method for the study and understanding of children s literature and indicates how the findings of this approach may be expanded upon In offering both transferable methodologies and detailed case studies this book outlines a new approach to literary landscapes as geographical places within socio historical contexts
