Place And Persistence In The Lives Of Newfoundland Women:

Rural Women's Health Beverly D. Leipert,Belinda Leach,Wilfreda E. Thurston,2012-01-01 The well being of rural communities affects the well being of those who reside in towns and cities because of rural urban connections through food drinking water infectious disease extreme environmental events recreation and for many retirement residence In rural areas themselves women play a critical role in the health of their families and communities yet women s health is often marginalized or ignored There have been limited studies to date about rural women and health in Canada Filling an important gap in scholarship this collection identifies priority issues that must be addressed to ensure these women s well being and offers innovative theoretical and methodological ideas for improvement Rural Women s Health integrates perspectives from rural practitioners residents and scholars in a variety of fields including nursing sociology anthropology and geography to tackle issues relevant to diverse settings across the country As such it presents a national perspective on the nature of women s health while respecting internal and regional diversity as well as viewpoints from international scholarship

Fishing Places, Fishing People Dianne Newell,Rosemary E. Ommer,Rosemary Ommer,1999-01-01 Using case studies drawn from across Canada the papers demonstrate that there are many shared issues in the various small scale fisheries of this country and locate small scale fisheries in their historical context as well as in that of global concerns

Feminisms and Ruralities Barbara Pini,Berit Brandth,Jo Little,2014-12-18 Feminist concern with difference has rarely extended to rurality even if it is now widely recognized that experiences of inequality depend on intersections of several identities in each individual life This lack of concern may reflect the urban background of the majority of feminist academics or at least their urban positionality once in the academy It may equivalently be that feminists have been influenced by stereotypes of rural women as traditional and reactionary and thus seen them as unlikely exponents of gender equality and an unfruitful focus for scholarly energies Perhaps the problem is a broader one that is reflective of the much documented but still apparent unwillingness of many feminists to recognize and address difference in any of its manifestations Regardless even with the recent interest in intersectionality which has necessarily renewed and reenergized debates in feminism about diversity and inclusion the question of how women are differently positioned because of their non metropolitan location has remained largely overlooked

Creating This Place Linda Cullum,Marilyn Porter,2014-04-01 The twentieth century witnessed both the formation of Newfoundland as a self conscious national entity and the construction of distinct and self aware middle and upper classes in its capital city This interdisciplinary collection examines the key roles played by women in the creation of this state and society and the essential influence that gender ethnicity and religion played in class relations Shifting class relations were formed in the salient political events of the first half of the twentieth century in Newfoundland the First World War the suffrage movement the Great Depression the Second World War and finally Newfoundland s contested entry into the Canadian Confederation Creating This Place shows how upper middle and working class worlds were established in the everyday work of women as well as the ways in which the complex social boundaries of the period were constructed Individual chapters explore issues such as women s work in religious and voluntary institutions their struggle for voice suffrage and political change work of domestic servants and the construction of proper women and mothers through denominational education Creating This Place adopts an innovative perspective on Newfoundland and Labrador that focuses on the often overlooked lives of urban women Contributors include Sonja Boon Memorial University Linda Cullum Memorial University Margot Duley University of Illinois at Springfield Vicki Hallett Memorial University Jonathan Luedee doctoral candidate University of British Columbia Bonnie Morgan doctoral candidate University of New Brunswick Marilyn Porter emerita Memorial University Karen Stanbridge Memorial University Helen Woodrow Educational Planning and Design Associates and Harrish Press Publications Social Transformation in Rural Canada John Parkins, Maureen Reed, 2012-10-20

The rapidly changing nature of life in Canadian rural communities is more than a simple response to economic conditions People living in rural places are part of a new social agenda characterized by transformation of livelihoods landscapes and social relations inviting us to reconsider the meanings of community culture and citizenship This volume presents the work of researchers from a variety of fields who explore social transformation in rural settlements across the country The essays collectively generate a nuanced portrait of how local forms of action adaptation identity and imagination are reshaping aboriginal and non aboriginal communities of rural Canada Place and Persistence in the Lives of Newfoundland

Women Marilyn Porter, 1993 Newfoundland is a little known island which lies in the cold Labrador current off the Atlantic coast of Canada While its proximity to the valuable Grand Banks fisheries made it one of the earliest parts of North America to be settled by Europeans Newfoundlanders this text argues have endured centuries of poverty and exploitation It contends that the brief burst of prosperity that followed their entry into the Canadian federation has now foundered in the present economic recession and the collapse of the fishery and that life in Newfoundland has returned to what it has always been a struggle for survival in a harsh environment Their Lives and Times Carmelita McGrath, Barbara Neis, Marilyn

Porter, 1995 Their Lives and Times brings together in one place a lively mix of perspectives including previously published work and new research literary and scholarly work It will be equally at home in an academic setting or on the bookshelf of any reader interested in the diversity of women s experiences and the ways in which these experiences have been explored in new research and literature Revisiting Divisions of Labour Graham Crow, Jaimie Ellis, 2017-03-23 Revisiting divisions of labour is a reflection on the making of a modern sociological classic text and its enduring influence on the discipline and beyond Ray Pahl s 1984 book is distinctive in the sustained impact it has had on how sociologists think about research and report on the changing nature of work and domestic life In this timely revisiting of a landmark project excerpts from the original are interspersed with contributions from leading researchers reflecting on the book and its effects in the ensuing three decades The book will be of interest to researchers students and lecturers in sociology and related disciplines

Community Studies Graham Crow, 2020-12-10 First published Open Access under a Creative Commons license as What are Community Studies this title is now also available as part of the Bloomsbury Research Methods series In the age of globalization and the changing welfare state community relations are now more important than ever This book gives an overview of the community studies field with particular focus on the research methods used and how they have evolved in recent years Defining the key terms in the field it outlines the history of the methods used in community studies and uses examples and case studies to illuminate the theory This book captures the organization of modern community life and shows how current researchers are working with broader and more imaginative definitions of community Responding to criticisms of the field Graham Crow challenges our traditional notions of communities and how they are analysed Graham Crow's text will be a vital resource to researchers in the field

Canada's Rural Majority R.W. Sandwell, 2016-04-06 Before the Second World War Canada was a rural country Unlike most industrializing countries Canada's rural population grew throughout the century after 1871 even if it declined as a proportion of the total population Rural Canadians also differed in their lives from rural populations elsewhere In a country dominated by a harsh northern climate a short growing season isolated households and communities and poor land they typically relied on three ever shifting pillars of support the sale of cash crops subsistence from the local environment and wage work off the farm Canada's Rural Majority is an engaging and accessible history of this distinctive experience including not only Canada's farmers but also the hunters gardeners fishers miners loggers and cannery workers who lived and worked in rural Canada Focusing on the household the environment and the community Canada's Rural Majority is a compelling classroom resource and an invaluable overview of this understudied aspect of Canadian history

The Infinite Bonds of Family Cynthia R. Comacchio, 1999-01-01 With this book Cynthia Comacchio presents the first historical overview of domestic life in Canada showing how families have both changed and remained the same through transitions brought about by urbanization industrialization and war

Women at Work, 1860-1939 Valerie G. Hall, 2013 A major contribution to women's history labour history and economic and social history This book examines three different groups of women in coal mining communities in inshore fishing communities and in agricultural labour It demonstrates how the work these groups undertook was fundamental in shaping their experiences as women in different ways and shows that women's experiences varied within class as well as between classes The book illustrates how mining women despite being restricted to domestic roles created through meticulous housekeeping a power base in their homes and rendered their husbands dependent on them while a minority took so active a role in politics that they were said to be the backbone of the Labour Party how fisher women engaging in a household economy reminiscent of pre modern times exercised great influence on financial decision making through their roles in baiting lines and selling fish and how some single female agricultural labourers exercised considerable autonomy whereas those who were tied in a family economy had little independence Overall the book makes a very significant contribution to women's history to labour history and to economic and social history This is a tremendously useful and relevant book for historians of women as well as social and labor historians Professor Joan Scott Institute of Advanced Studies Princeton University VALERIE HALL is Professor Emerita of History at William Peace University North Carolina

Transdisciplinarity for Small-Scale Fisheries

Governance Ratana Chuenpagdee, Svein Jentoft, 2018-10-15 The importance of small scale fisheries for sustainable livelihoods and communities food security and poverty eradication is indisputable With the endorsement of the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small Scale Fisheries FAO member states recognize that governments civil society organizations and research communities all have a role to play in helping small scale fisheries achieve these goals This book argues that policies targeting small scale fisheries need to be based on a solid and holistic knowledge foundation and support the building of governance capacity at local national and global levels The book provides rich illustrations from around the world of why such knowledge production needs to be transdisciplinary drawing from multiple disciplinary perspectives and the knowledge that small scale fisheries actors have in order to identify problems and explore innovative solutions Transdisciplinarity for Small Scale Fisheries Governance Analysis and Practice edited by Ratana Chuenpagdee and Svein Jentoft successfully demonstrates how small scale fisheries are important and what social and political conditions are conducive to their wellbeing The volume contributes tremendously to building capacity of fisheries communities and policy makers to make the ideals of small scale fisheries a reality It establishes the ecological social and economic sense behind small scale fisheries A milestone reference for all those who believe in small scale fisheries and are keen to defend them with quality evidence Sebastian Mathew Executive Director International Collective in Support of Fishworkers ICSF The Small Scale Fisheries Guidelines guiding principles call for holistic and integrated approaches for their implementation This book will help a new generation of scientists policy makers and small scale fisheries actors make the fundamental connections between different disciplines in science traditional knowledge and policy to guide a collective process towards sustainable small scale fisheries The book contains an inspiring collection of practical cases from around the world complemented by deep dives into dimensions of small scale fisheries like food security stewardship climate change and gender which all call for transdisciplinary approaches Nicole Franz Fisheries and Aquaculture Department Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO Rome Italy

What are Community Studies? Graham Crow, 2018-01-11 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com In the age of globalization and the changing welfare state community relations are now more important than ever What are Community Studies gives an overview of the community studies field with particular focus on the research methods used and how they have evolved in recent years Defining the key terms in the field it outlines the history of the methods used in community studies and uses examples and case studies to illuminate the theory This book captures the organization of modern community life and shows how current researchers are working with broader and more imaginative definitions of community

Responding to criticisms of the field What are Community Studies challenges our traditional notions of communities and how they are analysed Graham Crow s text will be a vital resource to researchers in the field      Despite this Loss Elizabeth Yeoman,Ursula Anne Kelly,2010 This collection includes a variety of forms art photography personal narrative translation and cross disciplinary scholarly essay to discuss many levels and kinds of loss cultural assimilation and change environmental devastation language loss personal and collective losses community tragedies and a loss of continuity and sense of home and place The book as a whole considers the impact of these losses and their relationship to culture memory and identity As part of this consideration Despite This Loss celebrates and supports new and established lines of inquiry into the structures of feeling that constitute place and belonging The collection includes work by a new generation of cultural workers whose claims to and dreams for this place hold promise and provide a vibrant and provocative array of perspectives on cultural loss

Cahiers de la Femme ,2002      Pakistan Journal of Women's Studies ,2006      Narratives at Work Linda Kathleen Cullum,2003 This book is both an account of a specific labour process and its workers and a study of how the working class women and men of Job Brothers recounted stories of their work and domestic lives and thus fashioned shifting identities as gendered classed and racialized subjects In addition the author analyzes her subjects with a relexivity that seeks to understand her influence on those she has studied as well as their influence on her      Atlantic Canada Margaret Conrad,James Hiller,2001 Having long combined a profound sense of place pride and optimism with a fatalistic resignation today the people of Atlantic Canada are increasingly coming to share a determination to overcome their position as poor cousins within the Canadian federation Atlantic Canada tells the story of the region from its geological origins through its settlers Aboriginal and European to their descendants lives on a series of margins first of the French and British empires then of Confederation now of the global free market      History of the Canadian Peoples: Beginnings to 1867 Margaret Conrad,Alvin Finkel,2006
