Port To Port:

Port State Jurisdiction and the Regulation of International Merchant Shipping Bevan Marten, 2013-08-31 This book examines the concept of port state jurisdiction in the context of international maritime law. In particular, the book focuses on situations where port states have used their jurisdiction over visiting foreign flagged vessels to apply unilateral domestic law as compared with the internationally agreed standards enforced by regional port state control organisations. To illustrate the legal issues involved, three recent pieces of legislation are analysed in detail: the United States Cruise Vessel Security and Safety Act 2010, the EU's liability insurance directive of 2009, and Australia's Fair Work Act 2009. Key issues include the legality of port states' attempts to regulate aspects of a vessel's structure or equipment or even certain activities that may take place before a vessel's arrival in port. The author argues that examples of unilateral measures being imposed by way of port state jurisdiction are growing and that, without active protests from flag states, this concept will continue to expand in scope. As international law currently presents very few restrictions on the actions of ambitious port states, such developments may have a significant impact on the future of international maritime regulation. Port Economics Wayne K.

Talley, 2017-12-15 Port Economics is the study of the economic decisions and their consequences of the users and providers of port services. A port works as an engine for economic development. This book provides a detailed discussion of port freight service users such as freight water and land carriers that have their ships and vehicles serviced and their cargoes unloaded by ports, as well as passenger services such as ferry carriers which are serviced by ferry passenger ports. This text continues to enhance our understanding of port economics by exploring the economic theories, supply and demand curves, and the actual and opportunity costs relating to the carriers, shippers, and passengers who use ports. This new edition has been updated throughout. This includes an expanded discussion of container, break bulk, dry bulk, liquid bulk, and neo bulk ports. An introduction of port service chains, hinterland transport chains, maritime transport chains, and port multi-service congestion. A discussion of seaborne trade, dry ports, port centrality and connectivity, and free trade zones. This updated and comprehensive introduction to port economics will be of benefit to students and researchers in their study of port economics and management. It is also of great importance to professionals who manage and operate ports, as well as freight and passenger carriers.

Regulation and Finance in the Port Industry Claudio Ferrari, Hercules Haralambides, Sergio Prete, Alessio Tei, 2022-01-28 This book addresses the latest organizational, regulatory, and governance issues of main port systems, linking them to the financial aspects that are currently in use regarding investments in the port industry. A general review of port management and operations is complemented by analysis of country-specific systems and a look at how ports could develop in the future. This book aims to examine how different port organizational and regulatory contexts affect port investment practices and related financial tools. The book is of use to researchers and practitioners interested in maritime economics and transportation studies. The 1931 International Code of Signals Great Britain. Systems And Technologies For Network Society: Proceedings Of The Ipsj International Symposium Yahiko Kambayashi, Yoshifumi Masunaga, Makoto Takizawa, Yuichiro Anzai, 1997-09-09 This volume contains technical papers and panel position papers selected from the proceedings of the International Symposium on Information Systems and Technologies for Network Society held together with the IPSJ information processing society of Japan National Convention in September 1997. Papers were submitted from all over the world especially from Japan, Korea and China. Since these countries are believed to form one of the major computer manufacturing centers in the world, a panel on Computer Science Education for the 21st Century was set up. A special session on the Japanese project on Software Engineering invited representative researchers from the project which is supported by the Ministry of Education, Japan. Code of Federal Regulations, 1971 Special edition of the Federal Register containing a codification of documents of general applicability and future effect with ancillaries. Federal Register, 1957 Data Communications and their Performance Serge Fdida, Raif O. Onvural, 2013-06-29 This is the sixth conference in the series which started in 1981 in Paris followed by conferences held in Zurich 1984, Rio de Janeiro 1987, Barcelona 1991 and Raleigh 1993. The main objective of this IFIP conference series is to provide a platform for the exchange of recent and original contributions in communications systems in the areas of performance analysis, architectures and applications. There are many exciting trends and developments in the communications industry, several of which are related to advances in Asynchronous Transfer Mode, ATM, multimedia services and high speed protocols. It is commonly believed in the communications industry that ATM represents the next generation of networking. Yet there are a number of issues that have been worked on in various standards bodies, government and industry research and development labs and universities towards enabling high speed networks in general and ATM networks in particular. Reflecting these trends, the technical program of the Sixth IFIP WG 6.3 Conference on Performance of Computer Networks consists of papers addressing a wide range of technical challenges and proposing various state-of-the-art solutions to a subset of them. The program includes 25 papers selected by the program committee out of 57 papers submitted. The Hacker's Handbook Susan Young, Dave Aitel, 2003-11-24 This handbook reveals those aspects of hacking least understood by network administrators. It analyzes subjects through a hacking security dichotomy that details hacking maneuvers and defenses in the same context. Chapters are organized around specific components and tasks, providing theoretical background that prepares network defenders for the always-changing tools and techniques of intruders. Part I introduces programming, protocol and attack concepts. Part II addresses subject areas: protocols, services, technologies, etc. that may be vulnerable. Part III details consolidation activities that hackers may use following penetration. Principles of Verilog PLI Swapnajt Mittra, 2012-12-06 Principles of Verilog PLI is a how-to-do text on Verilog Programming Language Interface. The primary focus of the book is on how to use PLI for problem solving. Both PLI 1.0 and PLI 2.0 are covered. Particular emphasis has been put on adopting a generic step-by-step approach to create a fully functional PLI code. Numerous examples were carefully selected so that a variety of problems can be solved through their use. A separate chapter on Bus Functional Model (BFM) one of the most widely used commercial applications of PLI is included. Principles of Verilog PLI is written for the professional engineer who uses Verilog for ASIC design and verification. Principles of Verilog PLI will be also of interest to students who are learning Verilog.

Ports and Terminals Han Ligteringen, 2022-01-31 By nature port planning is a multidisciplinary activity. It involves expertise in the field of transport economics, shipping, nautical matters, safety and logistics. But also knowledge of waves and currents, sediment transport and coastal morphology, dredging and land reclamation and design of breakwaters and quays. Hence port planning is teamwork. But within this team the port planner plays a central role in developing the concepts and obtaining the required expertise at the right time. Most port planners are civil engineers with hydraulic engineering training and experience. The first part of this book, Chapter 1 through 6, is aimed at providing the basic elements to perform this planning process. In Chapter 7 the detailed planning of container terminals is treated, including the logistic process. Further attention is paid to design aspects typical for such terminals. The objective is to provide the basis for an all-round port engineer, somebody who can participate in the design of any given type of port or terminal. Chapters 8-14 present the planning aspects of other types of terminals.

Port Infrastructure Finance Hilde Meersman, Eddy Van de Voorde, Thierry Vanelander, 2014-06-20 This book provides an expert analysis of alternative investment routes and the investment strategies available to the major port players and is a much needed guide to expanding the investor base for private debt funding of projects from loan providers to bond investors. Port infrastructure investments are vitally important to all ports throughout the world. Without these investments the competitive position of ports and of the dependent logistics sector will deteriorate. National, regional governments and the local port authorities are no longer a guaranteed source of sufficient financial input to meet the continuous port infrastructure investment needs of major ports. It is therefore increasingly crucial for ports to broaden their strategies and secure alternative streams of investment. This book provides expert insight into areas of port infrastructure finance across the main regions of Europe, Asia, Africa and the USA. Topics include how to estimate future demand by way of forecasting, Public Private Partnerships, corporatisation, the pricing mechanisms for syndicated loans, European port privatisation, finance strategies for ports in Asia, the USA and Africa, and a discussion of the investment strategies available to the major port players. Port Infrastructure Finance is an invaluable book for all parties involved in the port and maritime business as well as investment companies, banks and other financial institutions involved in infrastructure investment.
