

The image is a composite. The background is a scenic view of Portofino, Italy, showing a blue bay, green hills, and a small town with colorful buildings. In the foreground, a man's face is superimposed, shouting with his mouth wide open and hands near his face. The overall tone is vibrant and energetic.

"Not since Huck Finn has American literature been graced with a character as irresistible as Calvin Dort Becker."

Evangelicals and the Arts in Fiction John Weaver,2013-04-06 This book is an exploration of how the relationship of evangelicals to the arts has been portrayed in fiction for the last century The author argues that evangelicals are consistently seen as enemies of the arts by non evangelical writers The artist typically represented by a literal artist occasionally by a scientist or reluctant messiah typically has to fight for liberation from such cliched character types as the failed evangelical artist the rube or the hypocritical pastor Rather than resist the cliché of anti art evangelicalism the book contends that evangelicals should embrace it this stereotype is only hurtful so long as one assumes that the arts represent a positive force in human society This work built off the scholarship of John Carey does not make that assumption Surveying the current pro artistic views of most evangelicals the author advances the argument that evangelicals need to return to their anti art roots By doing so they would align themselves with the most radical artistic elements of modernism rather than with the classicists that the movement currently seems to prefer and provide space for themselves to critique how secular artistic stereotypes of evangelicals have economically and artistically marginalized the evangelicals community

Recovering Classic Evangelicalism Gregory Alan Thornbury, 2013-03-31 Once upon a time evangelicalism was a countercultural upstart movement Positioned in between mainline denominational liberalism and reactionary fundamentalism evangelicals saw themselves as evangelists to all of culture Billy Graham was reaching the masses with his Crusades Francis Schaeffer was reaching artists and university students at L Abri Larry Norman was recording Jesus music on secular record labels and touring with Janis Joplin and the Doors and Carl F H Henry was reaching the intellectuals through Christianity Today It was the dawn of classic evangelicalism Surveying the current evangelical landscape however one gets the feeling that we're backpedaling quickly We are more theologically diffuse culturally gun shy and fragmented than ever before What has happened And how do we find our way back Using the life and work of Carl F H Henry as a key to evangelicalism's past and a cipher for its future this book provides crucial insights for a renewed vision of the church's place in modern society and charts a refreshing course toward unity under the banner of classic evangelicalism
