Sahara and Sudan Gustav Nachtigal, 1974 Slaves and Slavery in Africa John Ralph Willis, 1986 An Engraved Landscape: Rock carvings in the Wadi al-Ajal, Libya Tertia Barnett, 2023-02-23 An Engraved Landscape is a contextual analysis of a substantial new corpus of engravings from the Wadi al Ajal situated in the Central Saharan region of south west Libya The wadi is renowned as the heartland of the Garamantian civilization which emerged from local mobile Pastoral communities in the 1st millennium BC and dominated trans Saharan trade and politics for over a thousand years Extensive archaeological and palaeoenvironmental investigations in recent years have provided detailed insight into the later prehistory and protohistory of the wadi and surrounding areas However prior to the fieldwork detailed in this work only a handful of carvings had been recorded in the wadi This work is based on systematic survey conducted between 2004 and 2009 which recorded around 2 500 previously unknown or unpublished engraved and inscribed rock surfaces All forms of engraving whether figurative or surface markings were viewed as significant residues of human interaction with the rock surface and were recorded The resulting database provides an opportunity to analyze the engravings in relation to their changing physical and cultural contexts and the discussion offers a fresh interpretation of Saharan rock art based on this substantial new evidence An Engraved Landscape also captures in detail a unique heritage resource that is currently inaccessible and threatened This record of the fragile engravings provides an important source of information for researchers and students A Labyrinth of Kingdoms: 10,000 Miles through Islamic Africa Steve Kemper, 2012-06-25 Kemper s majestic account of Barth s journey restores the reputation of an explorer who was as passionate about science as he was about rigorous travel It s an enthralling adventure captivantly told Ziauddin Sardar Times London In 1840 Heinrich Barth joined a small British expedition into unexplored regions of Islamic North and Central Africa One by one his companions died but he carried on alone eventually reaching the fabled city of gold Timbuktu His five and a half year 10 000 mile trek ranks among the greatest journeys in the annals of exploration and his discoveries are considered indispensable by modern scholars of Africa In this historical adventure the first book about Barth in English Kemper goes a long way toward rescuing this fascinating figure from obscurity Sahara Marq De Villiers, Sheila Hirtle, 2003 A rich and fascinating biography of the world s largest desert its history peoples traditions climate creatures its tastes sights and sounds

Encyclopaedia Britannica Volume 1, 1900 Britain and the Regency of Tripoli Sara M. ElGaddari, 2022-12-15 By the early 1820s British policy in the Eastern Mediterranean was at a crossroads Historically shaped by the rivalry with France the course of Britain s future role in the region was increasingly affected by concern about the future of the Ottoman Empire and fears over Russia s ambitions in the Balkans and the Middle East The Regency of Tripoli was at this time establishing a new era in foreign and commercial relations with Europe and the United States Among the most important of these relationships was that with Britain Using the National Archive records of correspondence of the British consuls and diplomats from 1795 to 1832 and within the context of the wider Eastern Question this book reconstructs the the Anglo Tripolitanian relationship and argues that the Regency played a vital role in Britain s imperial strategy during and after the Napoleonic Wars Including the perspective of Tripolitanian notables and British diplomats it contends that the activities of British consuls in Tripoli and the networks they fostered around themselves reshaped the nature and extent of British imperial activity in the region
