Last Stand at Zandvoorde, 1914 Mike McBride, 2016-11-30 Being the son of the Duke of Westminster whose family traces its lineage back to 1066 Lord Hugh Grosvenor was destined to become a cavalry officer in the prestigious 1st Regiment of Life Guards Using unpublished letters home and contemporary accounts Noble Sacrifice describes Lord Hughes embarkation for France and the early mounted encounters which halted the enemy onslaught against the contemptible little army These led to the stalemate of trench warfare and found Lord Hugh and his Squadron holding out at Zandvoorde during the First Battle of Ypres 1914 and being annihilated by superior numbers of enemy forces in some of the most desperate fighting of the First World War Due to the advances in military hardware the war for Lord Hugh and his comrades marked a turning point in cavalry tactics As well as being a dramatic account of Lord Hugh Grosvenors last stand Noble Sacrifice is a very personal story of courage and self sacrifice This heroic yet tragic story has a mysterious twist The bodies of Lord Hugh and his 100 soldiers were never found it was as if they had never existed

The Great War Hunt Tooley, 2015-11-29 We have often heard about the brutal world of the trenches the willingness of brave young soldiers and the apparent indifference of the generals but reevaluations of the Great War in previous decades have shown us much more complexity and in many cases some surprising reconstructions of very standard narratives of the war The traditional isolation of the battle front from the home front which historians have tended to observe has given us an incomplete understanding of both fronts In this study of Word War I Hunt Tooley crosses the boundaries of national histories to examine the various connections between the 400 mile long Western Front and the home fronts of the United Kingdom France Germany Canada Australia and the United States Tooley draws on recent research and the wealth of primary souce material available to provide a broad synthesis of a complex event and to create a more holistic view of the war as men stayed in touch with those at home as governments responded to events on the battlefield and as writers poets and artists brought the cultural impulses of Europe to the deadly world of the Western Front In his clearly written wide ranging study Tooley argues that the seeds of much of the 20th century may have been planted well before the First World War but as many social critics politicians soldiers women s movement leaders and others predicted the cultivation of these seeds in war would have a powerful and formative effect on the social political and cultural processes which shaped the 20th century

Cultural Heritage of the Great War in Britain Dr Ross J Wilson, 2013-10-28 As the hundredth anniversary approaches it is timely to reflect not only upon the Great War itself and on the memorials which were erected to ensure it did not slip from national consciousness but also to reflect upon its rich and substantial cultural legacy This book examines the heritage of the Great War in contemporary Britain It addresses how the war maintains a place and value within British society through the usage of phrases references metaphors and imagery within popular media heritage and political discourse Whilst the representation of the war within historiography literature art television and film has been examined by scholars seeking to understand the origins of the popular memory of the conflict these analyses have neglected how and why wider popular debate draws upon a war fought nearly a century ago to express ideas about identity place and politics By examining the history usage and meanings of references to the Great War within local and national newspapers historical societies political publications and manifestos the heritage sector popular expressions blogs and internet chat rooms an analysis of the discourses which structure the remembrance of the war can be created The book acknowledges the diversity within Britain as different regional and national identities draw upon the war as a means of expression Whilst utilising the substantial field of heritage studies this book puts forward a new methodology for assessing cultural heritage and creates an original perspective on the place of the Great War across contemporary British society

A Haven in Hell Paul Chapman, Ted Smith, 2000-09-12 Talbot House Poperinghe was opened in November 1915 as a Soldiers Club a haven from hell by two Chaplains of the 6th Division Philip Tubby Clayton and Neville Talbot The house was dedicated to the memory of Gilbert Talbot Neville's brother who had been killed in the afternoon counter attack set up to re take the positions lost in the early morning Liquid Fire attack of the same day at Hooge on 30 July 1915 For the following three years except for a short period in 1918 the doors of Talbot House never closed and it became a home from home for the officers and men of the British and Imperial armies of the time Today Talbot House is a living museum offering a friendly greeting and a cup of tea to visitors on their arrival a house rule established by Tubby Clayton in 1915 Bringing to the reader the history of the house and its contents the book brings to life the multitude of events that took place in and around it as well as telling the little known stories of Clayton's frequent trips to the front line to minister to the men in the trenches around Ypres

Poets & Pals of Picardy Mary Ellen Freeman, 1990-12-31 This book following a weekend on the Somme with Mary Freeman as she visits the old front line and back areas is about the soldiers who wrote poetry and those with whom they lived fought and in many cases died It takes the reader to the places where they saw action and to the cemeteries and memorials where those who did not survive rest or are commemorated Her uncanny knowledge of the battlefields and her deep understanding of poetry brings to life the men who shared hardship and horror together men who experience comradeship forged in conditions that are beyond comprehension today men with normal desires and aspirations who happened to be wearing uniform and some who chose to express themselves through the medium of poetry

Pillars of Fire Ian Passingham, 2012-02-29 Gentleman we may not make history tomorrow but we shall certainly change the geography So said General Plumer the day before 600 tons of explosives were detonated under the German position on Messines Ridge The explosion was heard by Lloyd George in Downing Street and as far away as Dublin Until 1918 Messines was the only clear cut Allied victory on the Western Front coming at a time when Britain and her allies needed it most boosting Allied morale and shattering that of the Germans Precisely orchestrated Messines was the first true all arms modern battle which brought together artillery engineers infantry tanks aircraft and administrative units from a commonwealth of nations to defeat the common enemy So why is its name not as familiar as the Somme Passchendaele or Verdun This book examines the battle for the Messines Wytschaete Ridge from the British ANZAC and German perspectives Illustrated with archive photographs and maps it is a major contribution to our understanding of one of the seminal battles of the First World War

Landscapes of the Western Front Ross Wilson, 2013-06-17 This book examines the British soldiers on the Western Front and how they responded to the war landscape they encountered behind the lines and at the front Using a multidisciplinary perspective this study investigates the relationship between soldiers and the spaces and materials of the warzone analyzing how soldiers constructed a sense of place in the hostile unpredictable environment Drawing upon recent developments within First World War Studies and the anthropological examination of the fields of conflict an ethnohistorical perspective of the soldiers is built which details the various ways soldiers responded to the physical and material world of the Western Front This study is also grounded in the wider debates on how the First World War is remembered within Britain and offers an alternative perspective on the individuals who fought in the world's first global conflagration nearly a century ago

Cultural Heritage of the Great War in Britain Ross J. Wilson, 2016-04-22 As the hundredth anniversary approaches it is timely to reflect not only upon the Great War itself and on the memorials which were erected to ensure it did not slip from national consciousness but also to reflect upon its rich and substantial cultural legacy This book examines the heritage of the Great War in contemporary Britain It addresses how the war maintains a place and value within British society through the usage of phrases references metaphors and imagery within popular media heritage and political discourse Whilst the representation of the war within historiography literature art television and film has been examined by scholars seeking to understand the origins of the popular memory of the conflict these analyses have neglected how and why wider popular debate draws upon a war fought nearly a century ago to express ideas about identity place and politics By examining the history usage and meanings of references to the Great War within local and national newspapers historical societies political publications and manifestos the heritage sector popular expressions blogs and internet chat rooms an analysis of the discourses which structure the remembrance of the war can be created The book acknowledges the diversity within Britain as different regional and national identities draw upon the war as a means of expression Whilst utilising the substantial field of heritage studies this book puts forward a new methodology for assessing cultural heritage and creates an original perspective on the place of the Great War across contemporary British society

Salient Points Two Tony Spagnoly, Ted Smith, 1990-12-31 Another group of stories in the Salient Points series A collection of stories of men their units and the actions they took part in during the conflict of 1914-1918 together with stories of other points of interest along the old Western Front Each story is supported with photographs and maps showing the area of the action as it was then and is today The content features titles are The Black Watch Lord Worsley at Zandvoorde The 1st Battalion Royal Welch Fusiliers at Zandvoorde The Worcesters and the Welsh at Gheluvelt in 1914 The Youngest Soldier Major Lanoe Hawker at Abeele

Aerodrome 16th Battalion The Canadian Scottish at Kichener Wood Pond Farm Fray Bentos at Hill 35 The Liverpool Irish at Schuler Galleries The O'Donnell Twins New Zealand at the village of Messines Reconciliation at Broodseinde Living on the Western Front Chris Ward, 2013-04-11 Living on the Western Front provides a highly original history of the settler experience in British Expeditionary Force land during the First World War. Using an unusual representational form that involves the stitching together of over a hundred extracts from primary sources which can then in turn be read either chronologically or thematically, Chris Ward brilliantly depicts a sense of settlers' lives in Great War Belgium, Northern France and Germany. Simultaneously an annal and an anthology of stories, this book tells us about landscapes, sounds, smells, food, journeys, memory and morale in the way that the British settlers actually lived and experienced them. The book also challenges popular conceptions of what history writing can or should be. It drags us away from the reassuringly commanding authorial voice of the conventional historical narrative towards an approach that brings a degree of uncertainty and encourages us to experiment with History and its relationship with the past in an exciting and rewarding way.

Geology and Warfare Edward P. F. Rose, C. Paul Nathanail, 2000. Records lessons learnt from military experience in World War I and II. It also contains perspectives from America which show how in warfare military geologists, irrespective of nationality, have pursued tactical and strategic terrain analysis, fortifications and tunnelling and resource acquisition, defence installations and field constructions and logistics. It shows how in peace time military geologists train for wartime operations and may be involved in peace keeping and nation building deployments.
